Court Will Make Kopechne Records Public Wednesday

BOSTON (AP)—The office of the chief justice of the Massachusetts Supreme Court said today he plans to make public Wednesday the transcript and judge's report on the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne.

The statement by a spokesman in the office of Chief Justice G. Joseph Tauro came after Tauro ordered and received custody of all the inquest documents.

Miss Kopechne died last July 18 in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car which had gone off a bridge into a tidal pond on Chappaquiddick Island.

Sen. Kennedy, who did not report the accident until about 10 hours after it occurred, said he was driving the girl to the ferry and lost his way.

Kennedy later pleaded guilty to a charge of leaving the scene of an accident and was sentenced to a suspended term of two months in jail.

The inquest, by ruling of the state's highest court, was held in secret last January and the documents impounded until all possibility of criminal action had passed.

The papers were scheduled to be made public April 15, but release was held up by litigation filed by Sidney R. Lipman, Boston court stenographer, who took the notes and typed the transcript of testimony at the inquest last January.

Lipman claimed to have sole right to reproduce the document and had offered to sell copies to news media for about $800 each. Keating offered to distribute copies at cost--$75.

Lipman's case is pending before the First U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, and the documents have remained impounded.

Judge Wilfred J. Paquet of Superior Court ordered the papers impounded and said he could not lift the order until the federal court suit by Lipman was decided.

Lake Ranch Land Reportedly Sold For Seven Times Value

Portions of the Lake Ranch in the heart of Point Reyes National Seashore are being sold for prices four to seven times the market value set by the Marin County assessor.

Attorney Lawrence Kuechler, representing ranch owner A. W. Sweet of Coos Bay, Ore., acknowledged that about 260 acres have already been sold and there are prospective buyers for another 160 acres.

All of the buyers so far have been "acquaintances of Mr. Sweet," said Kuechler. One of the purchasers is Donald H. Sweet, a brother.

"We have offered the parcels for sale for any purpose the buyer wants," said Kuechler. "There are no restrictions on it."

Phillip Stewart, chief of the National Park Service's division of land acquisition, said today his office is "looking into" the sales.

He said that the sale of the land now at high prices does not mean the government will have to pay similar prices when it moves to acquire the land for the seashore.

The division's appraisers, as well as the juries in land condemnation proceedings, are instructed to ignore any sales "suspect of being rigged," he told the Independent-Journal by telephone from Washington, D.C.

"We're not accusing Mr. Sweet of rigging sales," Stewart said, adding that the sales "probably were made trying to establish a higher market value for the rest of his land."

Stewart said that when funds are appropriated by Congress for purchase of the land by the government, his office will try to negotiate a deal with Sweet. "Failing that, we'll file a condemnation suit," he said.

Kuechler declared that $2,000 to $3,500 per acre is the market value of the property.

When asked whether the sales were an attempt to jack up the prices, Kuechler replied: "Absolutely not. Any large parcel of 2,500 acres, is sold in one large lump does not bring nearly the same price that 2,500 lots of an acre apiece would bring."

If anything, said Kuechler, the prices are depressed. "Our opinion is, and we can tell this by people who have evidenced interest in buying, that the threat of conemnation has depressed the value. I know of several people who wanted to buy at our prices but who hesitated because of the threat of condemnation."

A. W. Sweet said the ranch is being sold at prices below similar property south of San Francisco and north of Marin. "The fact that the seashore is there has prevented sale at higher prices," said Sweet. "Even north of Santa Rosa, the sales are much higher than that."

Two of the purchasers have been identified as operators of an Oregon logging firm, Mrs. M. T. Harrington of Bandon, Ore., whose husband has purchased 41.7 acres for $80,000 told the I-J by telephone that she did not realize the purchase price was so much above the appraised value of the land.

When asked if the purchasers intended to log the land,

Shipbuilders Halt Maine Foundry Work

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Production is at a halt today at the Bath Iron Works, Bath, Maine, due to a shipbuilders strike. A strike against the Butte, Mont., public schools has been called and in New York negotiators remained at odds in contract talks between printers and four daily newspapers and between broadcast engineers and NBC.

Some 2,000 shipbuilders walked off the job in Bath when their contract expired at midnight Sunday. Two months of talks, aided in the final week by federal mediators, failed to bring a settlement.

The union rejected a proposal for a two-week extension which management said it needed to await Navy decision on the company's bid for a $3-billion destroyer contract.

Operating engineers in Butte said they would strike this morning, creating the second major school strike in Butte in three weeks. A teachers' union spokesman said the 450 instructors in the system would honor the picket lines.

Last week the engineers rejected a school board offer of a five per cent wage raise, a $5 addition to health insurance contributions, and a four-hour cut in the current 40-hour work week.

A union spokesman said the offer does not keep pace with increased living costs, but would not disclose the engineers' demands.

The National Association of Broadcast Employes and Technicians rejected Sunday the latest contract offer from NBC, a $55 weekly wage increase over three years. The contract expired March 31. The union said it hoped to resume talks with the network. Current top scale is $260.

Talks between printers' unions and the four daily New York papers were scheduled to resume today.

Wildcat walkouts in the trucking industry continued in Los Angeles, St. Louis, Cleveland and Akron, Ohio, despite a tentative national Teamsters Union settlement calling for $1.10 an hour wage increase in a three-year contract.

In Chicago Sunday, several thousand striking truck drivers reaffirmed their demands for a $1.65 an hour pay hike already approved by some 2,000 employers in the Chicago area.

In Los Angeles, negoiations between striking teachers and school officials were ordered resumed today for the first time since the walkout began April 13.

FACT BULLETIN #5 (The Strike)

Case of the "Fired" Union Officer

In his circular to Marin residents the president of S.F. Typographical Union #21 states that John DeMartini, a union officer, was fired by the I-J "for being absent on union business." When an outright falsehood is perpetrated upon the public it is time to call it that and expose it. What are the facts? First, the I-J has never discharged anyone for union activities. Second, when absent, a printer is required to report the fact and "cover" his job with a replacement. This is a precedent of long standing, known to everyone in the trade. And also a requirement of the printer's union. (It must be presumed that a union officer knows his own union's rules). Mr. DeMartini was not discharged for being away on union business. He was discharged solely for failing to report his absence and failing to send a replacement as required. Management waited until 3 p.m. of the work day — the end of the shift — but still received no notification whatsoever. Only then was this employee terminated . . . because of a clear violation by him. Marin residents may wish to carefully consider these facts in the light of the union president's statement.

Soviets Launch 8-In-1 Cosmos

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today announced the launching of eight unmanned satellites on a single carrier rocket — the largest experiment reported in the Cosmos program.

An official announcement gave no clue to the purpose of the complex space shot.

The spacecraft, numbered Cosmos 336 through Cosmos 343, were launched Saturday and were "equipped with scientific apparatus designated for space research" the announcement said.

"The equipment aboard the satellites is functioning normally," it added.

There was no indication whether further information would be released on the experiment. Normally launchings in the Cosmos program are announced only in the most general terms, and no details of their work is revealed.

The Soviet shot came just one day after Communist China put up its first satellite, but there was no indication that the new Soviet shot was intended to interfere with the Chinese experiment.

Strong Hint Of Prince's Power Play

Ousted Cambodian Chief Calls For U.S. Defeat

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the deposed leader of Cambodia, appeared today to be starting moves toward a comeback.

Asian dispatches reported he had returned to Indochinese soil from exile in Peking for a conference of leaders of North Vietnam, the Pathet Lao of Laos and the Viet Cong to issue a call for the defeat of the United States and the governments of Cambodia, South Vietnam and Laos.

The conference on the Vietnamese-Laotian-Chinese border is expected to be followed by the establishment of a provisional government by Sihanouk in northeast Cambodian territory controlled by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese, according to Western diplomats in Vientiane, the Laotian capital.

ASIAN MEETING

Diplomatic efforts aimed at neutraiizing Cambodia's involvement in the Indochina conflict, meanwhile, moved forward, with Indonesian Foreign Minister Adam Malik declaring today that an Asian meeting will be held despite Hanoi's refusal to attend.

Malik, who wants a conference early next month, said in Jakarta: "We will go ahead with the meeting because we are seeking peace. The aim of the meeting is to maintain Cabodia's neutrality."

Meanwhile in Washington, the Senate's No. 2 Republican leader, Michigan's Robert P. Griffin, has called for limited U. S. arms shipments to the beleaguered Cambodian government as a way to help shorten the war in Vietnam.

ANOTHER CONFLICT

However, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said shipments of arms to help the poorly-equipped Cambodian army fight Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops would only result in America getting "sucked in" another Vietnam-style conflict.

Both senators made their remarks Sunday, the day after Secretary of State William P. Rogers urged other nations to consider action against North Vietnam for violating internation accords by escalating the level of fighting in Cambodia. Rogers said the Cambodian fighting is not a civil war but the result of a foreign invasion.

"There are 40,000 aggressors in Cambodia and they're the same people we're fighting in South Vietnam," Griffin said. Shipments of small arms to Cambodia, he said would help that nation's small army defend themselves against the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces.

WORLD CRISIS

Australian Foreign Minister William McMahon said in Canberra that Communist command attacks in Cambodia had produced a crisis concerning the whole world. McMahon added that his government felt that conference discussion should be limited to the independence and neutralizationof Cambodia, nonintervention and the reactivation of the International Control Commission.

U.S. Aim: A Neutral Cambodia

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The White House said today the United States has "an overriding interest" in preserving the Cambodian neutrality because of the effects a Communist takeover would have on the U.S. war effort in South Vietnam.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said: "The president is deeply concerned about the course of events in Cambodia and is closely following developments."

He said Nixon wanted to preserve the territorial integrity of Cambodia and viewed with concern violations of Cambodian territory by North Vietnamese troops in "blatant disregard" of the 1954 Geneva Accords.

Nixon is considering a request from Gen. Lon Nol, premier of the embattled Cambodian regime, for arms beyond a shipment of captured Soviet type weapons turned over to the Phnom Penh governments's forces.

Ziegler could give no indication of when a decision would be made by Nixon.

He called off for a third time today a scheduled meeting of the National Security Council, but Zielger said the session was not intended to deal with the Cambodian situation. He instead set a session with his economic advisers.

Ziegler said Nixon met both Sunday and today with top diplomatic and defense advisers to assess implications of North Vietnam's actions in Cambodia. The United States says there are 40,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops in Camobdia.

Ziegler said the President

Israelis, Cairo Argue Over Raids

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Egyptian commandos made two raids across the Suez Canal Sunday, but as usual Egypt and Israel disputed the results.

Cairo said 200 troops made the first attack before dawn, and it was the largest Egyptian raid across the canal in nearly five months. Egypt claimed the raiders stormed El Shat and took the Israeli defenders "by complete surprise," overrunning their positions, killing or wounding 35 troops, and destroying four antiaircraft guns, two tanks, two halftracks, two trucks and two bulldozers. Cairo reported three Egyptian soldiers killed.

Israel said there were no Israeli casualties, five Egyptians were killed, and the Egyptian report was "a fable out of 'A Thousand and One Nights.'"

Later Sunday, Cairo reported, more Egyptian commandos crossed the canal, attacked two Israeli patrols and destroyed three halftracks and two tanks. A spokesman said one Egyptian and the members of an Israeli tank crew were killed.

Israel said the Egyptians ambushed a motorized patrol north of El Qantara. It claimed that its soldiers rushed the attackers, drove them back to the canal, and sank a boat carrying eight soldiers. Tel Aviv said five Israelis and nine Egyptians were wounded but that all the commandoes escaped to the Egyptian side of the canal.

Peking Beats Drums On Satellite Launch

TOKYO (AP) —Communist China said today that its first earth satellite has "greatly strengthened the militancy of the Chinese people and the revolutionary people of the world."

It said Peking's first achievement in outer space also had "deflated the arrogance of imperialism, modern revisionism and all reaction"—meaning the United States, the Soviet Union and others who don't agree with Red China's leaders.

North Vietnam, North Korea and Albania hailed Friday's launching in much the same language. The Soviet Union and its Communist allies remained silent.

The Japanese government expressed hope that the 381-pound space package would not be used for military purposes. But the conviction grew both here and in the West that the satellite was sending back information which would advance Peking's program to develop intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Radio Peking said the satellite was orbiting the earth normally. It reported that it could be seen with the naked eye today—weather permitting—from Peking; Shanghai; Taipei, the capital of Nationalist China; Urumchi, in northwest China, and Lhasa, Tibet.

The New China News Agency said that all day Saturday and Sunday "thousands upon thousands of people, carrying huge portraits of our great leader Chairman Mao and singing and dancing, streamed into streets and public squares from all directions for meetings and parades."

Protect Lord

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret's 8-year-old son Lord Linley was under Scotland Yard guard today after an informer's warning that there was a plot to kidnap him.

The tip was telephoned to newspapers by an anonymous caller who said the plan was to trade the young nobleman for the liberty of two gangsters who are in prison.

Linley shares a dormitory with four boys at Ashdown House, a school outside London. A school official confirmed that detectives were investigating a kidnap plot.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Rock Festival

POYNETTE, Wis. (AP) — Some of the girls and boys stripped naked and waded in a creek. A vacant farm house burned down. More than 150 persons were treated for minor injuries or misuse of drugs. But, said Sheriff Vernon Golz, "For the most part they've been very good."

Weekend attendance at the Poynette rock music festival was estimated at 20,000 Saturday and more than 20,000 Sunday. The crowd paid up to $12 a head for the camping, picnics, sunbathing and amplified music by about 40 rock groups.

Golz said the fire which burned the empty house apparently broke out accidentally in a festival patron's parked car. He added that there were fewer arrests than expected — "we took only about 15 into custody."

Golz said cooperation between patrons, festival sponsors and law enforcement patrols was excellent, partly because police stayed in the background as much as possible.

Sen. Scott's Vow

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott says he'll never again promise his vote to President Nixon for a nominee to the U. S. Supreme Court.

He said he voted for Judge G. Harrold Carswell because he had given his word to the President. "But I'll never give it again," the Pennslyvanian said Sunday.

Scott told the annual Black Political Forum dinner that he was reserving his attitude toward Nixon's latest nominee, Judge Harry A. Blackmun of Minnesota — "I'm going to see that FBI report on Blackmun if any senator sees it."

Scott told the audience of 1,200, some of whom jeered and heckled, that "without Hugh Scott in the Senate I don't know who will hold the line against the Southern strategy."

Lindy At Fair

TOKYO (SP) — Charles A. Lindbergh and his son Jon flew in Sunday night for a visit to Expo '70, which has on exhibition the single-engined seaplane "Sirius" which the elder Lindbergh and his wife flew to Japan in 1931.

Lindbergh, 67, and Jon, 37, were met at Haneda International Airport by Mrs. Lindbergh, who had arrived by air from Honolulu several hours earlier.

Portugal Bows

PORTUGAL (AP) — The Portuguese government has decided, under British prodding to recall its consul-general in Salisbury.

The departure of Joao de Freitas Cruz, consul-general in Salisbury since 1964, will leave South Africa the only nation with full official representation in the Rhodesian capital.

But there was no indication that De Freitas' recall, prompted by British pressure after the Rhodesian government declared the territory a republic, would significantly alter the aid Portugal has given Rhodesia's ruling white minority. Portugal has facilitated the supply of oil and other items to Salisbury via Mozambique, the Portuguese colony between Rhodesia and the Indian Ocean.

Victim Freed

GUATEMALA (AP) — Kidnapers Sunday freed a rich Guatemalan businessman for whom they had demanded $250,000 ransom, an army spokesman disclosed.

The family of the kidnap victim, Rudy Weissenburg Martinez, had refused to talk to newsmen. But they were seen visiting banks in the town of Coatepeque, where Weissenburg was released, and were assumed to have gathered the ransom money.

Weissenburg, owner of coffee plantations, a textile plant and an exporting firm, was grabbed Thursday by men believed to be leftist revolutionaries.

Coatepeque is about 30 miles from the Mexican border.

Suffers Stroke

ATHENS (AP) — Deputy Premier Dimitrios Patilis suffered a stroke Sunday night and is in serious condition, the premier's office announced.

The 58-year-old retired general was a member of the military junta that seized power three years ago and was named second deputy premier for his part in thwarting King Constantine's counter-coup in December 1967.

Team Reports Sexual Hangup Cures

NEW YORK (UPI) — The sex study team of Masters and Johnson reported Sunday a high degree of success in curing sexual inadequacy in humans — specifically impotence in males and frigidity in women.

Dr. William H. Masters and Mrs. Virginia E. Johnson described the treatment in a new medical textbook, "Human Sexual Inadequacy" (Little, Brown and Co., $12.50). They said there was an urgent need for establishment of sex therapy training centers like theirs throughout the country because crippling sexual problems were widespread and destructive both of marriages and the overall social fabric.

The scientists based their new report on treatment of 448 men and 342 women during the past 11 years at their Reproductive Biology Research Foundation in St. Louis, Mo.

At the end of two weeks of "rapid therapy," they said, 80 per cent of the patients had overcome their problem — erecting failure or climactic prematurity among the males and nonorgasmic response or painful coitus among females.

Followups after five years, during which there was little if any additional treatment, revealed low "reversion rates" of zero to 11.1 per cent, depending on the type of sexual inadequacy.

This was in sharp contrast to results of psychoanalysis and related forms of psychotherapy generally prescribed, which take months, sometimes years, and have not achieved a high rate of success.

Masters and Mrs Johnson based their treatment on the findings reported in 1966 in their first book, "Human Sexual Response," which has sold more than 300,000 copies, detailed physiological measurements and other body data taken from couples engaged in sexual acts in their laboratory. Subjects for the two-week treatment were required to be "referred by an authority," such as a physician, psychologist, social worker or clergyman. Because a basic Masters-Johnson concept is that an inadequate sexual partner inevitably involves an adequate one in disturbing emotions, couples were treated as a "marital unit" with the healthy partner acting as a directed therapist.

The scientists also considered basic that each couple be treated by a male and female therapist because a woman can best interpret a female's sexuality and a man a male's sexuality.

On the first day the two therapists establish their subjects' "sexual value systems" through highly involved techniques of "history-taking." On day two there are exhaustive medical examinations to rule out organic and metabolic causes of sexual inadequacies.

On day three the "education" aimed at abolishing taboos and ignorance begins with a "round-table" discussion between the "marital" unit and therapists about flaws in their sexual value system.

Exercises in "sensate focus" are prescribed for the night.

Carried out in the nude and with ointments and perfume, they center on touch and feel and are only minimally sexual. Their purpose is to begin conditioning the "marital unit" into mutual responsibility for each other's pleasures and away from the "fear of failure" in sexual performance which causes failure.

On day four, they report to the therapists and, after discussion, modifications and additions to the exercises are prescribed for Night 4.

On day five the therapists begin prescribing entirely sexual exercises aimed at the specific inadequacies involved and this routine continues, with increasing specificity and intensity, except for every fourth day which is declared a holiday from physical sexual expression."

Masters and Johnson reported on 510 "marital units." They said in 287 of them only one of the partners — 171 husbands and 116 wives — was sexually inadequate.

Of the 448 inadequate males treated, 54 were unmarried, the scientists said. Thirteen provided their own "replacement partners" for therapy while the therapists supplied "partner surrogates" for the other 41.

Conceding that this ignored "the mores of society," the scientists offered the urgent therapeutic need of the patients as their justification.

Masters and Johnson said three of the women were motivated by "unresolved sexual tensions" of their own but most of the others had altruistic motivations.

Masters, 54, married and father of two, is professor of clinical obstetrics and gynecology at Washington University School of Medicine. Mrs. Johnson, 45, divorced and mother of two, was a candidate for a doctorate in the behaviorist school of psychology and Master's research assistant at the university, before becoming fulltime assistant director of the foundation at its establishment in 1964.

The Dominican Republic's capital, Santo Domingo, is the oldest European city in the Western Hemisphere. It was established in 1496 and its university, first in the Americas, was founded in 1538.

Snow Clogs Up Interstate 80

TRUCKEE (AP) — Interstate 80 was open today after a spring snow storm and accidents blocked traffic over the Sierra for 3½ hours Sunday.

More than 2,000 cars were backed up between 3:40 p.m. and 7 p.m. after winds gusting up to 80 m.p.h. and drifting snow caused many minor accidents.

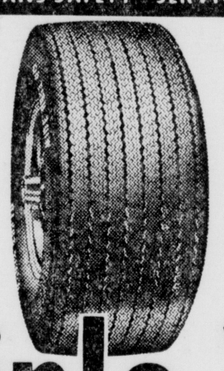

Several semitrucks and trailers skidded and jacknifed across the main artery between Reno and San Francisco, delaying weekend skiers from returning home.

Chains were still required, and heavy snow showers were predicted today.

About 6 to 8 inches fell Sunday in the Truckee area, and 4 to 6 inches more was expected, with the snow level starting at 3,000 feet.

The Weather Bureau said driving problems should not be from snow depth but from poor visibility.

Queen Of Strippers, Gypsy Rose Lee, Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gypsy Rose Lee, the queen of burlesque who once said "bare flesh bores men," is dead of cancer at 56.

Miss Lee died Sunday at the University of California medical center, where she had been treated earlier this year. A spokesman said she was readmitted Sunday, but declined to give details.

A vaudeville performer from childhood and a tripper in her teens, she became a sensation in the Ziegfeld Follies of 1937, where she nightly tossed her garter belt into the orchestra pit.

GYPSY ROSE LEE
Dead of cancer

TEASE

Her stripping was more tease than strip, she said—"I never try to stir up the animal in 'em. Did you ever hold a piece of candy or a toy in front of a baby—just out of his reach? Notice how he laughs. That's your strip audience." She maintained the bare leg was less seductive than legs covered by black silk stockings.

She was born Rose Louise Hovick in Seattle, Wash., Jan. 9, 1914. At 3 she attended dancing school with her sister June, who took the name Havoc for stage and screen.

In recent years she had been busy in movies and television. In the late 60s she had a nationally syndicated television talk show.

The first of her several novels was "The G-string Murder Mystery," in which a stripper is strangled with her own G-string.

Gypsy was first married in 1937 in a water-taxi off Santa Monica, to Robert Mizzy, a dental-supply manufacturer. She had a son Eric by her second marriage, in 1942 to actor-producer Alexander Kirkland.

DIVORCE

Her third marriage, to artist Julia de Diego, ended in divorce in 1955. Gypsy declared, "No more husbands for me."

She explained: "I've nothing against men, but a woman like me, who's been in show business since she was 5, a breadwinner for 43 years, it's very difficult to put a husband and a home first in my scheme of things."

In 1965 Miss Lee had some glamorous pin-up photos made. She sent a set to son Eric, serving in Europe with the U.S. Army. He wrote her:

"Dear Mom: I pasted your new photos in my locker, but my commanding officer made me take them all down. . .I kept telling him, 'But, sir, these are pictures of my mother.' It did no good. I keep the pictures in my trunk."

Said Gypsy: "I could kiss that officer. I've never had such a compliment. And I'm old enough now to really appreciate it."

The facilities will speed service and save about $50 million a year, he said. Blount made the comments in a copyrighted interview with U. S. News & World report.

Film Veteran Anita Louise Dies At 55

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Anita Louise, an actress for 50 years and a noted partygiver in a town of partygivers, has died at 55.

She had a pre-Oscars party for 300 April 4 at her Holmby Hills house. Friends said she had complained of migraine headaches during the past week but hadn't seemed ill.

A doctor ordered sedation for a headache Saturday shortly before she died of a stroke, a family spokesman said.

In recent years Miss Louise, who retained a stately bearing and blonde good looks, had appeared on episodes of the "Mannix" and "Mod Squad" television series. She was a regular in the "My Friend Flicka" series of the 1950s.

She was born in New York and, as Anita Louise Fremault, became a professional model when she was 4. At 5 she made her first movie, "Sixth Commandment." She had leading roles by the age of 13.

Her 70-odd films included "Madame DuBarry," "The Firebird," "I Give My Love," "Midsummer Night's Dream," "Anthony Adverse," "The Story of Louis Pasteur," "Judge Priest" and "Marie Antoinette."

She was married for 20 years to Buddy Adler, production chief at 20th Century Fox Studios. Two years after his death in 1960 she married Henry Berger, a businessman.

Berger and two children, Melanie, 23, and Tony, 20, survive.

The funeral will be Tuesday at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale.

Tony Curtis Fined $120 On Marijuana

UXBRIDGE, England (AP) - American movie star Tony Curtis, who quit smoking tobaco several years ago, was fined $120 today for bringing marijuana into England.

The 44-year-old actor arrived at the Uxbridge Magistrate's Court in a maroon Bentley limousine, but his lawyer asked for time to raise the fine.

"You must not think that because Mr. Curtis is a leading international film star that he has plenty of money available," the lawyer told the court. "He like any other member of his profession has enormous taxes to pay which can create financial problems for him."

GIVEN A WEEK

The three magistrates gave Curtis a week to raise the money.

The fine was half the one levied by a British court in February against another movie headliner, Italian director Michelangelo Antonioni, on the same charge. The maximum penalty is 10 years in jail or a $2,400 fine, but British judges are usually lenient in marijuana cases.

A police source said Curtis had less than an ounce of marijuana on him. Antonioni had nine ounces.

Dressed in a neat gray business suit and yellow shirt, Curtis looked subdued as he pleaded guilty to the charge. His lawyer asked the magistrates to take into consideration "the tremendous strains and pressures" to which a star of Curtis' caliber was subjected. He also told the court the actor was a man of previous unimpeachable character.

BRIEF HEARING

Curtis was searched and arrested when he arrived with his wife at London Airport Sunday from New York to make a TV adventure series with Roger Moore, star of "The Saint." Curtis recently signed a $12 million contract for the program.

Jackie In U.S.

BOSTON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis says she and her children will divide the summer between Europe and the Kennedy compound at Hyannis Port on Cape Cod.

Mrs. Onassis arrived at Logan International Airport Sunday night to attend a meeting today of the John F. Kennedy Library Foundation.

She said she planned to fly to New York to meet her children after the library meeting and remain there with them until the school term ends in June.

Police Seek Clues In Capitol Explosion

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Police dogs sniffed the corridors of Louisiana's skyscraper Capitol today in search of clues to a bomber who blasted the marble Senate chamber into rubble with dynamite.

No one was injured.

Gov. John McKeithen called the Sunday night blast the work of a madman or a revolutionary.

Initial police searches of the building, its park-like grounds and interviews in neighboring homes turned up nothing.

Estimates of damage ranged from $50,000 by McKeithen to $500,000 by Senate Secretary William Roberts.

"It's just impossible to comprehend how anyone would want to damage a building like this," McKeithen said.

Police agreed that dynamite was the explosive agent. Fire Chief Edgar Lejeune ruled out failure of mechanical or electrical equipment. No fire was associated with the 9:36 p.m. explosion, he said.

Damage to the two-story chamber was general, but the main force was spent in the alcove occupied by the lieutenant governor and the Senate staff when the Senate is in session.

The blast demolished voting machines and data processing equipment. Gaping holes were blown in the thick marble-over-masonry wall in spots, and the marble was stripped off in other places.

The administration recently created a police force to guard the Captiol and its grounds.

McKeithen said the bombing would not delay the start May 11 of the 60-day legislative session.

If the Senate chamber is not repaired, senators could gather someplace else, he said.

The 34-story capitol was built while Huey Long was governor. It is open to tourists during the day and guides reported a heavy flow Sunday.

At 4 p.m., the building is locked and only persons with specific business are admitted after signing a register.

Radio Havana Says Exile Force Slain

MIAMI (AP) — Radio Havana said today that Cuba had destroyed a 13-man invasion force with every man killed or captured 10 days after the guerrillas landed.

The broadcast by Fidel Castro's official voice did not say how many of the guerrillas were killed and how many were still alive ,but reported: "Not one escaped and all the arms, the bullets and the equipment were seized."

None of the officials of Alpha 66, a militantly anti-Castro exile group in Miami which said last week it had landed a guerrilla force in Cuba, was available for comment.

Castro first announced April 19 that an invsaion force had landed on his island. In a communique over his own signature — an unusual move — the bearded prime minister said the landing party was composed of mercenaries who came to Cuba from the United States and were armed with guns of the "Yankee Army."

Alpha 66 countered that the guerrillas were Cuban peasants who had gone home to fight to liberate their homeland from communism.

The guerrillas put ashore April 17, Radio Havana said near Baracoa in Oriente Province on the eastern end of Cuba. Communist radio broadcasts, monitored in Miami, since then reported a seris of battles that trimmed the invasion force to only four men.

Only 25 million persons live in Siberia, a region larger than the Unied States and Mexico combined.

Major Port Of Trinidad Calm Again

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP) — Cricket players in pressed whites were in the city's parks. Sidewalk vendors sold green coconuts filled with sweet milk to strollers made thirsty by the warm sun. Men played darts and hoisted cold pints of beer in pubs during the "five o'clock swill."

Port of Spain was calm Sunday after a week of trouble.

A mutiny in the 720-man Trinidad-Tobago army collapsed Saturday. The rebel soldiers, holed up since Tuesday in the army's main base at Tetron Bay, handed over their arms.

The mutiny ended after negotiations between the rebels and the government of Prime Minister Eric Williams. Col. Jeffrey Serrette, a former commander of the army, was reappointed, and a special commission was established to investigate the circumstances of the mutiny.

The rebels released about 30 hostages they had held on the base since Tuesday.

The mutineers, who reportedly numbered around 50 officers and men, said they rebelled over leadership at the top. Col. Stanley Johnson, the army commander, resigned Friday while the negotiations were going on.

The soldiers attended a Requiem Mass on the base Sunday for the four persons killed since the crisis began last Tuesday with a Black Power riot through Port of Spain.

plomatic and political aid to Cambodia will be more effective than military aid in putting pressure on the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops to quit Cambodia territory.

In Phnom Penh, a South Vietnamese official announced Cambodia agreement to let South Vietnam extended assistance to Vietnamese nationals who want to return to Vietnam. A South Vietnamese repatriation mission will arrive in Phnom Penh shortly, the announcement said.

In the ground war, North Vietnamese troops have surrounded a mountaintop outpost north of the Plain of Jars in Laos, informed sources said Monday. They said the enemy was slowly drawing closer to the Bouam Long outpost, 40 miles north of the plain.

The garrison of several hundred Meo tribesmen and their families have been under siege for several weeks, receiving supplies by Air America parachute drops. The tribesmen are the backbone of the Laotian government forces.

There is no evidence, however, of a new North Vietnamese offensive against Sam Thong and Long Cheng bases, southeast of the enemy-held Plain of Jars.

The U. S. Command in Saigon reported the loss of a four-engine gunship over southern Laos — the first AC130 gunship shot down in the war. The AC130 is the gunship version of the C130 cargo plane used to haul troops and war materiels.

A U. S. Army helicopter also was lost near the besieged Dak Seang Special Forces camp, seven miles from the Laotian border in South Vietnam. Ten Americans were killed, four are missing and one was rescued.

U. S. headquarters also said 17 enemy rocket and mortar attacks occurred in the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. Monday. Two Americans were killed and 14 wounded.

In ground action, four men from the 25th Infantry Division were killed and 12 wounded when North Vietnamese sappers blasted their way into an American artillery base 45 miles northwest of Saigon. The 10 to 15 enemy troops fired rocket grenades and hurled dynamite bombs as they entered the base under cover of a mortar barrage. One of the enemy sappers was reported killed.

South Vietnamese headquarters said one Vietnamese was killed and 51 wounded by three times bombs in Qui Nhon City, 263 miles northeast of Saigon. The bombs went off within minutes of each other in a theater, a beverage shop and a guard post.

Girl's Marijuana Case Referred

The case of Mary Kathryn Curtis, 19, of Fairfax, has been referred to probation officers to determine whether it will be accepted by Marin Juvenile Court. She is accused of possessing and cultivating marijuana at her home Monday.

The case of her brother, George Francis Curtis, 22, was continued to Friday for entry of plea in municipal court. He is accused of the same felony offenses.

Miss Curtis is to return to court May 8.

Fairfax Fireman Hurt In Wreck

A Fairfax fireman was injured Saturday when his motorcycle collided with an auto driven by Julia Hobson, 61, of Rail-Road Flat, Calaveras County, at the intersection of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Oak Manor Drive, Fairfax, police reported today.

Herbert A. Lando, 23, was treated at Marin General Hospital for painful knees and elbows.

Mrs. Hobson was cited by police for failing to yield the right-of-way to Lando when she turned left onto Drake from Oak Manor Drive.

she said, "I really don't know."

Kuechler acknowledged that the buyers know the ranch is in the Seashore area. "But there is no assurance that the government will ever take it," added Kuechler. "The Sweets have been trying to dispose of it to the government since 1962, but until today, the government has not evidenced any concrete interest in its purchase."

Earlier this month, President Richard M. Nixon signed into law congressional authorization to spend another $38.3 million for land acquisition at the national seashore.

The original $19 million authorized has been expended and of the 54,000 acres originally designated for the seashore, almost 31,000 still remain in private ownership.

Nixon said he will ask for a $7.5 million appropriation to begin the additional acquisition this fiscal year.

Documents in the county recorder's office show the parcels are selling for $2,000 to $3,590 per acre, whereas the county assessor's market value appraisal for 1969-70 fiscal year averaged $470 per acre for the entire 2,467 acres of the Lake Ranch.

The Lake Ranch is within the county's agricultural preserve area, but it is not under contract as such and therefore not restricted to agricultural use.

Shoplifters Flee After Hitting Guard

A security guard at Macy's in San Rafael reported to San Rafael police she was struck and scratched Friday by two women shoplifters she tried to stop outside the store.

The guard, Chris Hatton, told police the women, aged 33 to 35 and well dressed, fled with $235 worth of merchandise in a white Mustang driven by an unidentified man who picked the pair up at the corner of Lootens Place and Fourth Avenue.

One of the women was observed by the guard in the store's dressing room at 4 p.m. wearing bloomers with a pocket, a type of garment usually worn by shoplifters, police said. The guard reported seeing the other woman place store articles in a paper sack.

When she tried to stop the women near Lootens Place, one of the women struck her in the mouth and the other scratched her arm, she told police.

Sausalito Store Hit By Burglars

Three men driving a white Mustang entered Gemini, a Sausalito clothing store at 14 Princess Street, about 7 a.m. today and escaped with much of the store's leather goods, including jackets and vests, according to Gemini co-owner Jean Sorf, who was unable to estimate the extent of loss.

Witnesses to the burglary said the men, all young, threw a rock through the store's glass Dutch door to gain entrance. Police were summoned and, in their hurry to flee, the men dropped many items into the street, witnesses said.

A Sausalito man, who was not identified, followed the car and obtained its license number, which was turned over to Sausalito police, who had no information available.

feels that the United States "has an overriding interest in how a possible Communist takeover of Cambodia would affect our troops in Vietnam and the Vietnamization program."

The White House statement followed one Friday by Ziegler characterizing the Communist force in Cambodia as a "foreign invasion."

Ziegler had no response when asked by reporters if the United States would support a return to power of Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the Cambodian leader who was ousted last month while he was on a visit to the Soviet Union.

Ziegler acknowledged that the United States had been in communication with several other governments which Cambodia also has asked for military assistance.

Ziegler said that among those participating in conferences with Nixon on Cambodia were Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's national security adviser.

The oval-shaped orbit of the Chinese satellite has a high point of 1,480 miles, a low of 273 miles and an angle to the equator of 68.5 degrees.

Some previous Cosmos launchings have carried two, three and five satellites on one rocket, but this was the first to carry eight. A total of 15 unmanned Cosmos satellites have been launched by the Russians this month — also a record.

The largest previous multiple launchings, with five satellites each, were made in July and September 1965. Altogether there were three such launchings, two of them in September. Dual and triple launchings had taken place during the preceding year.

There was no indication why multiple launching had been revived after a nearly five-year lapse. The purpose of the earlier multiple shots was never specified.

Kentfield Fire Team Is Fourth

The Kentfield Fire Department pumper-hookup team placed fourth among eight teams during the annual Rural Fire Association conference at San Diego Saturday.

Their time was 1:42, just 24 seconds off their best practice time and 34 seconds off the state record for laying out 450 feet of hose and getting the pumper started.

It was the first Marin County team to participate in the annual event and Kentfield's second try against statewide competition.

Members of the team were Robert Mariani, Robert Bettencourt, William Morris, William Zahn, and William Partridge.

Prison Ordered For Burglary

Morlin Smith, 22, of Marin City, who has a long criminal record, has been sentenced to state prison for a term of one to 15 years for second degree burglary.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court sent Smith to prison on the recommendation of probation department and officials at the State Medical Facility at Vacaville.

Smith had been convicted by a jury of burglarizing a Larkspur residence on Sept. 30. A co-defendant, Donald Ray Turner, 20, also of Marin City, was ordered to jail for 10 months, and another Marin City youth, Kenny Ray White, 18, was committed to the California Youth Authority.

MOVE THAT JUNK

A caravan loaded with garden cuttings and other debris slowly moves down Novato's Rowland Boulevard on the way to the county dump. More than 360 cubic yards of debris were collected over the weekend in the spring cleanup campaign conducted at Rowland and South Novato Boulevard. Next Saturday will be the last day in the campaign, according to committee chairman Gordon L. Lee. Free passes to the dump will be given to persons having a truckload of debris, Lee said, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. at the same location. (Independent-Journal photo by Jim Kean)

Court Will Hear Abortion Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to hear arguments on the constitutionality of the District of Columbia's abortion law.

The Justice Department had appealed to the high court when the law was nullified by a federal judge here. The review could seal the fate of abortion laws across the land.

The local law had prohibited abortions except when "necessary for the preservation of the mother's health."

The hearing will be held next fall.

Last November, U.S. Dist. Judge Gerhard A. Gesell said the law was invalid because the word "health" was not defined. That is, he reasoned, physicians could not know what they could do legally and what they were forbidden to do.

The Justice Department, in appealing, said the ruling freed all licensed physicians in the capital to perform abortions on pregnant women for any reason.

Thirty-six states have abortion laws but they are not all alike.

Several states are in the process of liberalizing their laws or have already done so.

In granting a hearing, the high court left itself room to decide afterward that it has no jurisdiction over abortion laws. It did this by postponing consideration of the question of jurisdiction until after the case is heard.

In other actions today, the court:

—Noted that Justice William O. Douglas, who is the target of an impeachment move in the House, had removed himself from two obscenity cases and a libel dispute, giving no reason for his action.

—Upheld an Oklahoma Indian's will that failed to name his illegitimate daughter in disposing of his $34,865 estate. The will had been voided by the Interior Department but the court reinstated it.

—Agreed to decide whether the three million federal workers may be required to swear that they would not strike.

Thriving Tiburon Marijuana Plot Found; Boy Held

A 14-year-old Tiburon youth with a green thumb was booked into juvenile hall Friday on suspicion of farming what one deputy sheriff called the biggest marijuana garden he had ever seen.

Kurt Allsman of 4071 Paradise Drive was arrested by deputy sheriff John Goff as the youth was busily tending his 300-plant patch located on a hill above his house.

Goff said it was the most "beautiful patch I've ever seen — also the biggest." Goff added that it took two sheriff's cars to haul away the weeds.

"We had been watching the patch for two days, after one of my informants tipped me to its location," Goff said. "He had fertilizer up there and was watering the plants from gallon cans."

Goff said the youth also had 15 marijuana cigarettes and a suspected packet of the weed in his possession.

Robert Mercer Taliaferro Hunter of Virginia, at 30, was the youngest man to become speaker of the House of Representatives.

Explorers Seek Waste Paper To Preserve Trees

In an effort to save trees from the lumberman's ax, a group of San Rafael Explorers is collecting newspapers to be reprocessed for reuse.

The drive, which will end May 15, is being conducted by the 18 members of Explorer Post 57, a group sponsored by the San Rafael Kiwanis Club.

Stephen F. Gifford said, "a ton of reprocessed newspaper saves 17 trees from being cut down."

Marin residents may bring old newspapers tied in 25-pound packets to the following locations during business hours: United Markets at Third Street and Grand Avenue, San Rafael, and 100 Redhill Road, San Anselmo; Ray's Office Machinery, 1209 Third Street; Poehlmann Pharmacy, 1430 Fourth Street, and San Rafael Animal Hospital, 419 Irwin Street, all in San Rafael, and Servi-Soft, 40 Paul Drive, Northgate Industrial Center.

Soldiers Attack Piles Of Garbage

PARIS (UPI) — Army troops called in by the government during the weekend cleared away the worst of the piles of garbage left in a garbage collectors' strike.

"We are making progress in our talks with the garbagemen," a city official said. "Even if they don't go back to work right away the army will take care of it."

High Court Refuses To Halt Alioto Suit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court refused today to block a jury trial in the $12.5 million libel suit brought by San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto against Look magazine.

The U.S. 9th Circuit Court of Appeals on March 20 denied the petition of Cowles Communications, Inc., for a summary judgement in its favor. Cowles then appealed to the Supreme Court.

The trial began last Monday.

The magazine of Sept. 23, 1969 published an article that purported to detail links between Alioto and the Mafia. The mayor said the dispatch was false, scandalous, and defamatory libel, and that the publishers knew it.

Look, he contended, was under pressure from its bankers to improve its circulation, advertising income, and profits, and chose a reckless policy of sensationalism to accomplish this.

The magazine argued that the lower court's refusal to grant a summary judgement has had an adverse effect on the constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech and the press. Fear of the enormous expense involved in prolonged litigation could make publications hesitant to comment on the activities and associations of a public official, it said.

The Supreme Court has held that a public official cannot collect damages for statements made about his official conduct unless he can show malice. Look argued that the lower courts disregarded the principles established in that decision.

Where Inflation's Rampant: State Government Spending

If you want to know where inflation really has run rampant, the answer is in a table of figures published by the California Taxpayers Association in the April issue of Cal-Tax News.

The budget for the biennium 1937-39 was just over $439 million. The actual spending for the two years was $528 million.

The last budget on the table is that for the single fiscal year of 1966, totaling $3.67 billion.

But Gov. Ronald Reagan's proposed budget for fiscal 1971 is almost twice that much. It calls for $6.48 billion.

OF COURSE, the population has grown tremendously in the same period. It was just under seven million in the 1940 census, and now is over 20 million. That means it has about tripled in 30 years. The budget for the 1939-41 biennium was $468 million, or $234 million a year. The $6.48 billion budget proposed for fiscal 1971 is about 30 times that.

In other words, the rate of increase in state government spending is about 10 times the rate of increase in population.

ONE THING has not changed over the years, though: The state usually spends more than is contained in the budget the governor approves.

Generally, it works like this: The legislature chops a few millions out of the budget submitted by the governor. Sometimes the legislature puts in some other money and the governor, in turn, cuts some of it out.

But then occurs what the California Taxpayers Association lists as "legislative and miscellaneous changes." These customarily raise the actual money authorized well above what the governor's budget was in the first place. And even though not all of it is spent, the state's spending in most cases exceeds the approved budget by many millions of dollars.

THIS TAKES PLACE largely because of a habit of legislators of introducing bills calling for new bureaus, new studies, etc., etc., which are not included in the budget.

Sometimes the bills call for a definite appropriation from a definite fund — but there may not be money for all the things that fund is to finance. Sometimes they call for a definite amount without specifying the source. Sometimes they just call for an unspecified appropriation.

Those in the last category usually wind up waiting at least a year to be funded. But many in the first two categories are passed and funded in blithe disregard of the budget. And once having been set up, they rarely go away, so the next year's budget must reflect them.

It's a charming habit of the legislature. And it helps explain why the costs of state government go up 10 times faster than the population.

The Monarchs' Secret

For years scientists have observed that Monarch butterflies are avoided by some birds as if they were poison. Numerous theories have been evolved to explain why. Two favorites were that monarchs tasted bitter (disproved by a fellow who tried one and said no, they taste like dry toast) or that the black and orange pattern of the monarch's wing was in some unexplained way repulsive to the birds.

Recent research has shown that monarchs store deadly amounts of heart poisons in their body tissues. These poisons are found in the milkweed sap or latex on which the monarch feeds during its caterpillar stage. These are carried in its tissues through the pupal stage to the adult and are strong enough to produce violent vomiting in crows and other bird predators. Once poisoned, the monarchs' bright colors and distinct scent remind these birds that monarch-eating is folly.

Birds avoid monarchs as though they were poison simply because they are.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Public Utilities Commission Revamped By Proposition 3

This is the third of a series of stories on the eight propi- of stories on the eight propositions to be voted on June 2, at the primary elections. Others will follow.)

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Proposition 3 is another of the proposed revisions of the state constitution, being submitted this year in a piecemeal fashion after the complete package was defeated by the electorate.

Proposition 3 deals primarily with the state Public Utilities Commission, the constitutional body responsible for regulating railroads and other forms of trasnportation, gas and electricity suppliers, water companies.

THE CONSTITUTION fixes membership on the commission at five, appointed by the governor and subject to approval by the state Senate.

The proposed revision would confer on the legislature the right to set the number of commissioners and to fix districts from which the appointments are made. In other words, if this authority is granted, there would be no prospect of one section of the state dominating the decisions of the commission.

Also, the new wording of the proposition gives the state legislature the power to confer on the commission any jurisdiction, legislative, executive and judicial power which is germane to the regulation of public utilities.

Arguments in favor of passage of Proposition 3 are presented by Assemblyman Robert E. Badham, R-Newport Beach, and Sen. George E. Danielson, D-Los Angeles. They point out also that it deletes the provisions of the constitution governing corporate organizations, because they are more effectively covered by statute.

ASSEMBLYMAN John J. Miller, D-Berkeley, gives the argument against the proposition. He says the change would "delete present grants of authority to the Public Utilities Commission to regulate rates of transportation companies, and delete powers of the commission to examine books and records of the companies they regulate."

Because there is now provision in the statutes, that in the constitution prohibiting transportation companies from granting free passes or ticket discounts to public officeholders and providing forfeiture of office for acceptance of such passes, would be deleted from the constitution under the new proposal.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Reader Proposes A List Of 'Dos'

As a fervent opponent of those who advocate "don't" for real or imaginary ills of the world, I am for a positive "do." The subject I am now concerned with is one that is near and dear to the heart of the Independent-Journal. Namely, the present strike.

Do use your paper to advise your readers of the present laws, and their ultimate effect on free enterprise. Become an old-fashioned pioneer type newspaper with a cause.

Do stress and not understate the lawlessness and destruction by the members of the union who are causing bodily injuries and property damages. All of this combined with the illegal practice of the use of the secondary boycott.

Do use your circulation for the advocation of new laws to protect pricate enterprise (yours and ours) against the now biased ones for the unions. The little knowledge I have on this subject pertains to the necessity of applying to the court for relief by the use of an injunction. This can mean attorney fees and a wait of several months. Relief is needed now (as of yesterday). When a union agreement is signed, employees should have the right to strike if their gripe is legitimate. But on the other side of the coin, the union must be held responsible both legally and financially for its members.

Do use the above mentioned ideas and you will find there are many free advocating people that will applaud your stand.

Column Misleading About Insurance

Your issue of April 13, contained an article under the heading "Smart Shopper", the contents of which prompts me to criticize your allowing it to be printed. This is the type of article which grossly misleads the American public of the reasons for, and the uses of, life insurance.

Granted there is the rare and unusual case, as in every business, of the life insurance agent who intentionally misleads or pressures a person into buying life insurance. It is also this rare and unusual agent who attempts to make a comparison of life insurance with other uses and forms of the consumer dollar, such as any type or form of "investment."

However, the average life insurance agent knows and never attempts to make comparisons as such, that life insurance is the best means of "making money". . .

Mr. Arthur E. Rowse, the author of the article, is apparently woefully uninformed on life insurance. . .If he wanted to compare life insurance as an investment, where could a man find a better "investment" than life insurance if he makes one monthly premium payment of say $25, dies that night, and the next day his estate is richer by $100,000?. . .

Richardson Bay Plan A Precedent

The editorial "An Astonishing Criticism of Richardson Bay Plan" in the 20 April issue of the I-J misses the heart of the matter and could mislead the majority of your readers.

The important point is that the county plan would permit the filing of a part of San Francisco Bay by 40 per cent. The people of the Bay Area in their support of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission and the San Francisco Bay Plan have clearly indicated their opposition to the filling of any part of the bay except for certain specified purposes and where no alternative is available. The county plan includes more purposes than are specified and overlooks available alternatives. As you say, it needs modification.

An approval of the plan now before the commission would create a precedent having an erosive effect on the overall bay plan, and that is a result to be shunned.

Board Members Entitled To Credit

School board members at any time deserve the thanks of their fellow citizens for the energy and time they devote to public service. Special credit is due, I think, to members of the Reed Union District board who have had to conduct their business in a crossfire of hostile reaction to inherited problems.

The three new members, especially, have been subjected to repeated abuse from an irresponsible few who use the strategy of personal attack in place of cogent argument concerning educational issues. Gordon Wright, for daring to ask pertinent questions and for facing the facts implied in the answers, has come under particularly vicious attack, verging on attempted character assassination. Yet he continues to meet his responsibility with the courage, integrity and intelligence for which he was elected.

Contrary to the sinister image which some try to project, all of our board members are approachable and responsive to rational expressions of opinion. It is not necessary to agree with them on every count to recognize and appreciate the public service they perform as they attempt a difficult job in difficult times.

Track Meet Pickets Found Objectionable

I am a member of the Redwood High School track team. I would like to ask the pickets who are picketing our home meets to please discontinue doing it. I dislike having a clean long hair cutting down the principles of the coaching staff. I for one would like to see the pickets drop their signs and take pen in hand and write or even talk to Mr. Robert Torrey or his replacement about student rights.

Having flag wavers and pickets at our meets are accomplishing nothing. Please stop degrading yourselves and the good members of my team.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A Wall Street sage points out that when a 3-year-old becomes uncontrollable, and destroys things, it's called a temper tantrum. But when an 18-year-old rebel does it, it's called "justified demonstration against the establishment."

Francis Golden tells about a conscientious doctor who tiptoed carefully through the children's ward of a hospital late one night, fearful of awakening any of his ailing young patients. On the bed of the lad nearest the wall on the far side of the ward he spotted an opened box of chocolates and impulsively helped himself to a couple.

The next afternoon the doctor had occasion to revisit the children's ward. No sooner had he appeared, than the voice of the youngster in that farthest bed rang through the room. "There he is, Mom!" cried the boy. "There's the doctor who swiped my candy!"

Nixon Sounds Too Confident In Report On Vietnam War

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — One thing President Nixon said in his Vietnam report took us aback.

It's not that things are going badly in Vietnam either for the United States or for the South Vietnamese. They are going quite well.

Our concern arises from the President's contributing to an exaggerated optimism that we are going to win the war and that a "just peace" is virtually certain.

These things may be true. They may be forthcoming. But since they cannot yet be proved to be true, it seems at best imprudent for Mr. Nixon to affirm them publicly. At worst such advance assurances of good things which may not come could begin to erode the President's credibility which to date is deservedly high.

HERE'S WHAT President Nixon said:

"The decision I have announced tonight (to withdraw 150,000 more U. S. troops in the next 12 months) means that we finally have in sight the just peace we are seeking. We can now say with confidence that pacification is succeeding. We can now say with confidence that the South Vietnamese can develop the capability for their own defense, and we can now say with confidence that all American combat forces can and will be withdrawn."

We welcome the confident tone of the President's address. But we shudder at what seems to us to be overconfident forecasts.

WE ARE NOT suggesting that there is no good basis for such optimism. There is a considerable basis for it. The findings of Mr. Nixon's own intelligence sources are supported by independent reports.

One of the most impressive is from the Institute of Strategic Studies in London, which the Washington Post recently reported as finding that "the North Vietnamese suffered such extensive losses that they have been obliged to abandon plans for victory through assault on the cities and to resign themselves to a policy of 'protracted war.' "

The institute report also said:

"The enormous losses incurred by the North Vietnamese units during their major offensives . . . destroyed the elite of North Vietnam's army. That army showed little sign of recovery during 1969."

Another independent judgment supporting the President's view comes from a just-completed fact-finding mission to Southeast Asia undertaken privately by representatives of the U. S. Citizens Committee for Peace with Freedom in Vietnam, whose organizing chairman is former Sen. Paul Douglas. They found that Vietnamization is going well, that pacification is making notable hearway, and that the morale of the South Vietnamese forces is high.

We cite this evidence to show that the President has a substantial basis for confidence.

BUT CAN ANYONE say with certainty that even these welcome developments mean that we finally have a "just peace in sight"? Or that the South Vietnamese can certainly defend themselves successfully after U. S. combat troops are withdrawn?

There is yet no conclusive evidence that "peace" is in sight, let alone a "just peace."

Is there any tangible evidence yet that Hanoi intends to negotiate any settlement, let alone a settlement we would consider "just"?

THE WITHDRAWAL of all U. S. combat troops could mean "peace" for the United States but it would not assure peace for South Vietnam if Hanoi remains committed to protracted war.

We believe President Nixon is handling Vietnam with skill and care and wisdom.

We also believe that there are still great uncertainties ahead and that the nation will be better prepared to support the President — as he deserves to be supported — by keeping these uncertainties in mind. Presidential confidence is good. Overconfident forecasts are not.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Drastic Pruning Foreseen For Foreign Aid Budget

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — There are strong indications that President Nixon's $2.2 billion foreign aid budget is headed for drastic pruning.

The House appropriations subcommittee considering this legislation is in the process of slashing it by as much as $1 billion — which would constitute a new record low. That's the avowed intent of Rep. Otto Passman, D-La., chairman, and he usually has his way.

For the current budget, the House and Senate finally agreed on $1.815 billion after months of wrangling. The House had voted $1.6 billion; the Senate slightly more than $2 billion. Outgoing President Johnson had asked for $2.7 billion.

THIS YEAR President Nixon, in the hope of placating steadily mounting congressional opposition to large-scale foreign aid spending, proposed a $2.2 billion budget. But from the backstage trend in Passman's subcommittee it would appear President Nixon's expectations aren't panning out.

The widespread clamor for economy, balancing the budget and the highly uncertain congressional elections are combining to make foreign aid spending more unpopular than ever — and it has been consistently losing public support for a long time.

PRINCIPAL BASE of Passman's drive to hack $1 billion from the foreign aid budget are three arguments:

1. That the actual overall total for "new requests for foreign assistance" for the fiscal year starting July 1 is a stupendous $12.133 billion — and not merely $2.2 billion. The latter is only one item in a long list of proposed foreign aid expenditures scattered through the President's full budget.

2. Approximately $20 billion "in accumulated unexpended funds voted by Congress in prior years" is piled up in the various government agencies engaged in foreign aid spending.

3. Some 50 per cent of the $375 billion national debt represents money borrowed by the Treasury to be dispersed abroad in grants and loans. Overall cost of foreign aid from 1946 through fiscal 1970 is in excess of $190 billion — including the interest on the borrowed funds.

MORE THAN $24 million in U.S. foreign aid has been given a foreign country whose ships have carried cargoes to North Vietnam and Cuba — despite explicit legal prohibition against that.

The country is Somalia, on the east coast of Africa, with a population of about 2.7 million.

In 1969 Somalia received $2.5 mission in U.S. aid. This year it is getting $2.5 million. And it is earmarked for another $2 million in the fiscal year starting July 1.

That's the charge of Sen. Harry Byrd Jr., D-Va. — and it's admitted by the State Department.

That Political Sign Ordinance Looks Like Exercise In Futility

Pity the poor guy who has to enforce the county's new ordinance on political advertising.

The wording appears simple and straightforward enough: You are allowed "one sign not exceeding 12 square feet located by an individual on his own residence or place of business." The signs may be "displayed not more than 45 days before or more than 10 days after, the conclusion of the political campaign . . ."

The aim was simply to prevent huge signs from littering the hillsides and roadsides of the county.

BUT TRY ENFORCING the letter of the law, and you've got quite a slippery problem.

Suppose you find signs marring the pastoral hillside of a dairy ranch. You remind the owner the sign must be "on his residence or place of business," not out on the beautiful hillside.

The farmer calls for time to consult his lawyer, and in due time you are politely informed that the dairyman considers his entire hillside his "place of business."

YOU DECIDE to pick on another violator — the one with gaudy signs cluttering his front lawn. You inform the owner his signs must be "on his residence," not in front of or to the side of his residence.

Next time you return for a re-check, you find the man has pitched a tent on the front lawn, and has political signs plastered all over the tent. "That's my summer residence," he crows happily.

He's a clever customer all right, but you're determined to get the last laugh. So you lodge a protest with the county counsel, charging the homeowner with erecting a summer residence without a permit.

By the time you get all papers filed and send a cameraman to get evidence of the tent, you find the tent gone, and a treehouse built in the large oak out front. The tree house is plastered with political signs. Would a tree house be considered a residence?

All in all it's a losing battle. By the time you've located the responsible person, filed complaints in triplicate, got a dozen legal interpretations, and then got a court order to remove the sign, the election is long since over.

IT'S EVEN difficult to enforce that 45-day limitation on display of signs. Assume that 55 days before an election a candidate begins posting his signs. You order him to stop and read him the law: "Not more than 45 days before the conclusion of the political campaign."

"Well," says the candidate. "I'm starting early and will conclude my campaign in 45 days, 10 days before election day."

Forcing sign removal after an election is just plain impossible. You can't charge the candidate for every sign left standing. He can disclaim any responsibility for putting them up, and you can't prosecute him. If you could, then enemies of each candidate would have field day, putting up an opponent's sign 11 days after an election.

SO WHEN it comes to political signs, we'll probably have to accept them as temporary blights on the natural landscape. The only thing that has any change of regulation is the size restriction.

And all of this applies only in unincorporated areas. Each city has its own restrictions or non-restrictions on political signs.

Of course, there is the state law covering signs along highways.

We Meet Our Armageddon -And It's In The Nursery

As a doomsday prophet I'm a flop. Even at the crest of the nuclear war scare a few years ago, I couldn't rouse myself sufficiently to join the ranks of professional mourners who were gloomily forecasting the imminent destruction of this old, abused, misused and sadly unappreciated planet of ours and its passengers.

I tried. I tried but could never believe we would go the way of the brontosaurus and the saber-tooth tiger. I think our tenacity for survival compares favorably with that of the ant, the bacterium and the cockroach.

HISTORY DOESN'T have too much to tell us, but one bit of intelligence gleaned from its turbulent tale is that man seems to have a remarkable ability to survive in a hostile environment—even the awesome ones of his own making.

Any creature that can wriggle its way past such natural hazards as ice ages, earthquakes, floods and pestilence and still continue to multiply while snapping madly at its own sides should not be taken lightly.

Perhaps one reason I couldn't get too wrought up over the prospect of a possible nuclear holocaust is that I didn't rate it the primary problem of our times nor as frightening as the one that out-horrors all the other real and imagined devastations — people. More precisely, the people-plosion.

I'M A PEOPLE lover—little people. I've been guilty of surreptitiously bouncing babies on my knee when their mothers weren't looking. I admit my guilt, but I'd like to explain. You see, I feel for the little buggers. Knowing what they have to face, I wouldn't be in their diapers for the world—such as it is. So despite my penchant for tickling toddlers, I must say it like it is. We must begin limiting the kiddie crop.

Sounds simple, doesn't it? Well it isn't. Limiting births is as tangled a problem as to wade through as a tropical mangrove swamp. Any such suggestion sends shock waves into political and religious camps enough to make most people, politicians in particular, take up soft shoe dancing.

An Einsteinian intelligence isn't essential to recognize the problem, but it takes a high sense of responsibility to grapple with it. One of the paradoxes is that those intelligent enough to conduct their own affairs responsibly are overwhelmed by the barnyard breeders who most need birth control. This may be what moved one sage to say that civilizations breed from the bottom and die from the top.

I CONTEND that population growth has reached such proportions that it is the great central issue of this century. Whether we cope with it or not will determine if there's a future for man; how we cope with it will determine the course of that future.

The man who planted the first grain seeds had no concept of the monumental impact his simple act would have on mankind. Nor did the inventor of the compass realize the effect his rude instrument would have on the course of history. We, however, have a distinct advantage. We can, consciously and with keen awareness, approach the problem of birth control with full recognition that our decisions will change the world. And depending on the wisdom and courage applied, these decisions will dictate whether man will direct himself toward enlightenment and emancipation, or toward a maggot breeding bin which will reduce the toddlers of today, and those of the future, to slavish bits of pressing humanity stripped of freedom, dignity and humanness.

Comes now the Armageddon of the Nursery, and the truism of the philosophic Pogo rings out, "We have met the enemy and they is us!"

Narcotics Hearing Set For Hub Youth

Novato Planners Due Tract Map, Bank Permit

A tentative map of Rancho Village Unit 10 of 37 lots on 12 acres will be considered by the Novato Planning Commission at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

Crown Development Co. has submitted plans for the subdivision adjacent to Rancho School north of Arthur Street.

Eugene D. McGillicuddy applied for a use permit to construct a Bank of America branch at the northwest corner of Grant Avenue and Sixth Street. Although the property is in the commercial zone, the city is requiring use permits in the region until completion of the downtown study in July.

Other items to go before the commission include a use permit for Harry Simon to relocate Harry's Billiard Parlor from 1062 Machin Avenue to 850 Grant Avenue; an application for a variance by Richard E. Oliver for an attached patio cover within 13 feet of the rear property line where 25 feet is required, and a sign variance for David Young for a free standing sign for Young Brothers mobile home sales on Highway 101 north of Olive Avenue.

JACK OF HEARTS

West led the jack of hearts, covered by the queen, king and ace. South then tried a finesse with the jack of clubs, losing to the queen.

Back came the eight of hearts, covered by the nine and won by the ten. West looked doubtfully at his 6-3 of hearts and switched to the queen of spades.

This was better than leading the treee of hearts but was still a fatal move. South won with the king of spades and led the ten of clubs. West, still fearful of the hearts, took the ace of clubs and got out safely with a club.

CAUGHT IN END PLAY

Declarer took dummy's clubs, discarding a diamond from his hadn. West likewise discarded a diamond since it was clearly dangerous to part with a spade or a heart. Reading the position, South took the top diamonds, cashed the seven of hearts and put West in with the six of hearts.

Poor West, reduced to the J-5 of spades had to yield a trick to dummy's ten of spades. That was game and rubber for South.

TANGLED MESS

West got himself into this complicated mess because he didn't know that a three is higher than a deuce. eWst should have returned the six of hearts after winning the third trick with the ten of hearts. South would win with the seven, but then West's last heart would be th ethree, and South's last heart would be the deuce.

On taking the ace of clubs, West would cash his three of hearts and get out safely. With four tricks in, the defenders could sit back and wait for a spad eor a diamond to defeat the contract.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, April 27, the 117th day of 1970 with 248 to follow.

The moon is between its full stage and last quarter. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1850 the steamship "Atlantic" became the first American ship to challenge the British Trans-Atlantic passenger service.

In 1906 U.S. Steel Corp. began the construction of Gary, Ind.

In 1968 Vice-President Hubert Humphrey entered the Presidential race.

A thought for the day: British novelist William Thackeray said, "Mother is the name for God in the lips and hearts of little children."

New System Of Lost Dog Data

A new lost animal information system has been started by the Marin County Humane Society in Novato.

Each day a tape recording will be made describing stray animals picked up the previous 24 hours. A person calling a special number of the humane society after 5 p.m. any day will be connected to the recording.

The society may pick up more than one dog fitting the same description, so a visit to the animal shelter should be made for positive identification. The telephone number may by obtained by calling the society.

Cut down on expenses without cutting down on style.

The Toyota Corona Sedan. A beautiful hunk of car. At a beautiful price. Everything says style. Wall-to-wall nylon carpeting. Reclining bucket seats. Optional automatic transmission and air-conditioning. With great performance—0-to-60 in 16 seconds. A top speed of over 90 mph. All this with a minimum of maintenance. And the Corona is a miser on gas. So you can be extravagant on other things.

Bus System Costs Will Be Studied

If the Golden Gate Bridge District sets up a bus transit system between Marin and San Francisco, how much should Marin County's total contribution be in meeting the projected operating deficit.

This question will be discussed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors at its regular meeting tomorrow, starting at 9 a.m.

Supervisors will also appoint a successor to County Planning Commissioner Michael Praszker, who resigned last week because of pressure of his business.

Other items on the agenda include:

STINSON AMBULANCE — Stinson Beach Fire Protection District wants county financial aid in maintaining ambulance service because most of the patients are nonresident transients.

LIBRARY — Architect Neill Smith and Associates will present preliminary plans for the new Corte Madera library.

USE OF FAIRGROUNDS — County Administrator Alan Bruce will recommend setting a fee schedule for use of Civic Center grounds by local nonprofit organizations, and for some way to resolve conflicts in dates.

McNEARS BEACH — Pierre W. Joske, director of county parks and recreation, will report that a minimum of $16,700 is needed to open McNears Beach by June 15.

I-J STRIKE — The Rev. John J. O'Connor of Catholic Social Service of Marin will repeat his request for a fact-finding committee to study the issues in the San Francisco Typographical Union No. 21's strike against the San Rafael Independent-Journal.

AVIATION — A report from the aviation commission on possible joint use of Hamilton Air Force Base.

SYNANON — Acting Planning Director Werner Von Dundell will present a brief history of Synanon, located on Tomales Bay, its present status and future plans. A report was requested by Supervisor Louis H. Baar.

TIDAL WATERWAYS — The proposed tidal waterways ordinance to control filling and building on shorelines will get another public hearing.

PUC Slates Bekins Hearings

The California Public Utilities Commission will hold public hearings beginning May 12 in Los Angeles on charges that the Bekins Moving and Storage Company has willfully failed to comply with PUC rules on underestimating practices.

The scope of the investigation includes the period May 1 through July 1, 1969, and relates to possible violations in 17 of Bekins's 18 California offices, including 11 possible violations in San Rafael.

The investigation has been instituted to determine whether or not Bekins has violated a section of the Public Utilities Code by failing to file all the monthly underestimates, where customers had to pay more for their moving than Bekins's employees had represented at the time Bekins was hired to move their goods.

The investigation will determine whether the PUC should cancel, revoke, alter, amend or suspend the operating authority held by Bekins, or whether a fine should be imposed on the company.

Teen-Agers Held In Car Burglary

Arrested were Gary W. Hayes, 17, of 121 Oak Knoll Avenue, San Anselmo and Leslie R. Jewett, 18, no known address. They were caught at 4:45 a.m. running from the driveway of Raymond Tougeron of 200 The Alameda who told police he looked out his bedroom window and saw the youths in his auto, which had been locked.

Hayes was turned over to juvenile officers and Jewett was booked into the county jail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Deputies Sponsor Visit By Circus

The Marin County Deputy Sheriff's Association will present its third annual circus June 13 and 14 at the Marin Catholic High School field.

The Rudy Brothers Circus will be complete with jungle cats, clowns, elephants, trapeze and high wire acts.

Performances will begin at 11 a.m. and 3 and 8 p.m. on June 13 and at 1:30 and 5:30 p.m. on June 14.

Portions of the proceeds will go to local charities. In the last two years, more than $17,000 has been raised for charity by the circus.

The circus show office is open at 1108 Tamalpais Avenue, San Rafael.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

He Was Quiet Before Marriage But She Thought He Would Change

DEAR HELEN:

We've been married four years. My husband isn't a bad guy, but he just won't talk. I really believe he doesn't care about anything others have to say. He was quiet before marriage, but I thought he'd change.

It's not unusual for people meeting him the first time to wonder if he's sick or angry. Those who know him don't try to get him into a conversation. They just ignore him.

Recently he has started leaving notes at my place at the table, rather than talk to me. I have tried it his way, but we could go for weeks and if I didn't break the silence it might never be broken.

When we go out to dinner, we just sit and stare unless I can think of something to say, and I soon run down with no help. He dislikes going out.

I've told him how unhappy his wordlessness makes me, and he seems surprised because he likes things this way. Could you please tell him and others that without communication, love soon leaves? — UNWILLING SILENT WIFE

DEAR USW:

"He was this way before marriage but I thought he'd change." When will you gals ever learn that the pre-nuptial man is on his best behavior. Flaws apparent in him then are almost sure to worsen after the wedding.

And this works both ways. Perhaps your husband is wondering how he can quiet you down. If you don't reach some sort of compromise (via therapy or counseling) I see little hope for your marriage. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband John and I are in our late 60s, retired, after 50 years of marriage, and we don't have one single mutual interest.

He likes to hunt and fish. I detest both, but have gone along all these years. But now time is getting short. I'd like to do a few of the things I've always yearned to do: Travel a bit, go out to dinner with friends, be sociable. We can afford these "luxuries."

Throughout our lives, I've been the buffer. When John didn't want to do something, I took the blame, until even our children said, "Poor Daddy, he'd go, but Mother doesn't want to." I wanted to build Daddy up as perfect in their eyes, but I did it at my expense.

Last week our married children wanted to take us to a showplace 120 miles away for a night out. John said "Jane doesn't want to go." I protested, but they all assumed I was just being polite, so we didn't go.

If I want to visit friends, there's always some excuse, but when we see them next, it's "Well, you know, Jane is such a homebody."

I don't drink, but sometimes I'd like to get so drunk I could say all the things I've held back through the years. It's bad enough to do nothing, but taking the blame for it, too, is too much.

I've always been one who can manage her own problems, but this is getting too much. Is there a chance for a little living before I die? — JANE

DEAR JANE:

Why don't you bust loose, announce that you're going on an extended trip (to Europe, Mexico, Japan—whatever) and if John wants to come along, fine, but if he doesn't, you're still making reservations? (I'm sure you can find a woman friend willing to go in his place.) You're healthy, young enough, and long overdue for rebellion.

Happy travelling. . .And happy speaking out when you return home. — H.

Abortions Should Be Permitted

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dr. Roger O. Egeberg, the nation's top health officer, says he favors laws permitting abortions anywhere in the United States.

Abortion legislation "is absolutely necessary if we are going to slow down population growth and deal successfully with the problems of the quality of life," Egeberg told a news conference Friday.

Egeberg, assistant secretary for health and scientific affairs in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, added: "The pill and other forms of contraception are the ideal way to get the population stabilized, but if that way fails, I think abortion should be available to women as a backstop."

Egeberg said he had not examined details of an abortion bill introduced Thursday by Sen. Robert W. Packwood, R-Ore. The measure would permit a woman to have an abortion anywhere in the United States if a licensed doctor performed the operation.

"It would be a very good thing if Packwood's bill paralleled a New York law enacted earlier this month," Egeberg said.

The New York statute will allow abortions anytime within the first six months of pregnancy.

Egeberg, a father of four, said the Nixon administration has taken no stand on the issue.

"But things change so fast, nobody can predict what will happen in three or four months," he added.

"Just look at the changes concerning abortions that have happened in recent days."

If You Win A Free Vacation Plan On Paying For The Food

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — Would you be thrilled if you won a free vacation for two for four nights and five days in your choice of "fabulous" fun spots including Miami Beach, Las Vegas or New Orleans?

Almost anyone would, of course. But let me tell you a secret. Anyone can win whatever is being awarded in some of these promotion schemes. I speak from experience. I won.

My son won, too. And so did perhaps everyone who filled out an entry blank at the contest booth in a recent auto show in this city.

But I am not thrilled, and neither was my son when we started to read between the lines of the printed letter we each received from Contest Headquarters for the "Fun, Sun, Sand and Sea Contest."

"Congratulations," it started, "We are pleased to inform you that although you have not won the grand prize of a seven-day, six-night Miami Beach or Las Vegas vacation for two, your entry in our recent vacations contest has been selected for a consolation prize: Your choice of a five-day, four-night Florida or four-day, three-night Las Vegas holiday vacation for two . . .

"Your accommodations are absolutely free in Florida anytime between April 20 and December 15 and in Las Vegas anytime between September 11 and May 31 . . . You will receive over $100 in free vacation discount certificates . . . your only obligation is to enjoy yourself."

All I needed to do, said the notice, was to pick up my vacation award the same week from a local auto dealer. I could choose from a "large choice of hotels" and I could make a reservation whenever I was ready to go within the prescribed time limits.

But wait. It's not quite that simple. "If you would like to take someone along with you on your vacation," said the letter, "there will be a charge of $3.00 per night."

Another line mentions a $15.00 registration fee "which is all you pay." According to the letter, "this covers the cost of certificate registration, reservation processing, transfer privilege, as well as continuing services to guarantee confirmed reservations."

I could see those huge surfers pounding on the clean white sand while I soak up the Florida sun as my family goes about the joys of daily living back home. Four nights plus registration fee for only $27. Where could you get a vacation for two that cheap?

But wait again. There's another line: "Since transportation is not included," it said, "you may travel any way you wish."

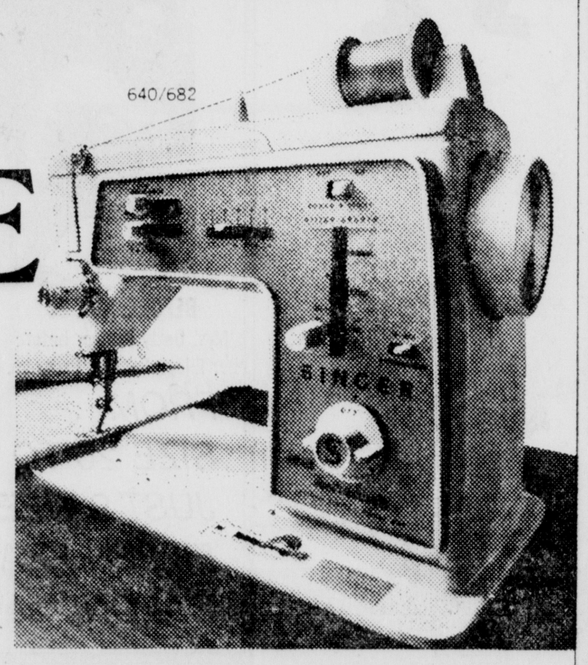

What about meals: Oh yes, meals. Well, nothing anywhere in the letter mentions this little incidental. So I called the local "contest telephone number" and asked, "No," the girl said, "meals are not included."

Those snowy white breakers were suddenly fading into the distance. My sneaking suspicions were right again. The fact is that neither I nor my 13-year-old son had won anything.

Marin Symphony Shines In Finale

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Sandor Salgo and the Marin Symphony closed the orchestra's 18th season last night in the College of Marin gymnasium with a blazing rendition of Mahler's Ninth Symphony as the brilliant finale.

Other works, each having its own attractions, were Yoshio Irino's Sinfonietta in its American premiere and the overture to Mozart's opera "L'Impresario," but it was the Mahler symphony which created most of the excitement.

The full resources of the orchestra, augmented by some nine guest instrumentalists to nearly 90 players, were tested to the limit in expression of emotions ranging from the savagely primitive to the radiantly celestial. Yet, despite the intensity of its impact, it was unfailingly lyrical—almost operatic in its soaring Wagnerian melodies, whether they were sung by the full orchestra, by chamber-like groups or by solo instruments.

Only occasionally did the tonal quality of a few instruments become shrill and piercing in impassioned climaxes.

An exceedingly long symphony requiring about an hour and 20 minutes to perform, it was almost like hearing four individual works, for each of its four movements had a distinct character, even though they had the unifying element of the unmistakable Mahler style.

Salgo made the first andante comodo—allegro risoluto movement sing, though much of its content is based on the famed "death" and "sigh" motives. A tremendous rhythmic vitality was maintained in the second movement, a fantasy of peasant Landler dances and waltzes, which led to the third movement burlesque with its raging elemental forces.

It was the final adagio that was celestial, not of the serene kind but one of radiant splendor. I have never heard the orchestra's string choirs produce a more opulent, organ-like sound.

The brasses were fortunately capable of doing justice to the typical Mahler brilliance in handling of those instruments, and the woodwinds were notable in solo and chamber-like passages.

In comparison with many contemporary works, Irino's Sinfonietta, while written in serial or 12-tone form, was not atonal and not shocking to the conservative ear. It sounded merely contemporary, not Oriental, except in its use of flute and percussion. In fact, the general treatment of woodwinds was interesting.

Like most pieces in contemporary idioms, however, its complete understanding and appreciation would depend on intellectual comprehension, in this case of such things as "metric control of mixed time signatures" and "an attempt to control logically an irregular pattern." More study would be necessary to make this clear.

The concert opened with the overture to Mozart's 'L'Impresario," a pleasing beginning, since it was good Mozart well played with some particularly fine string sound.

Deputy Corners Nude Man In Bolinas Backyard

An off-duty deputy sheriff finally cornered a nude man in a Bolinas backyard yesterday about 12:45 p.m. after the man had run up to three young girls and tried to embrace them.

Booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of being under the influence of drugs, indecent exposure and possessing marijuana was John E. Hardcastle, 25, of Elm Road, Bolinas.

Deputy James Riddell said he started chasing Hardcastle on Overlook Road after the girls, ages 13 to 15, who were walking a horse, screamed when Hardcastle tried to put his arms around them. The man ran when ordered to stop, according to Riddell, but the officer finally cornered him in a backyard. The householder lent Riddell a blanket to cover the man.

Riddell said that Hardcastle had a marijuana cigarette wedged between his fingers.

Hardcastle posted $1,000 bail and is to appear in Northwest Marin Judicial Court May 13.

Auto Burglary Hearing Set

A preliminary hearing on an auto burglary charge has been set for tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court for Gerald Arthur Beaudoin, 18, of Corte Madera.

The case of a co-defendant, Walter David Watson, 17, of San Rafael, has been continued to May 8 while it is determined whether he can be tried in juvenile court.

The youths were arrested Wednesday after a San Rafael grocery store clerk reported seeing them rifling his car.

Grad Student To Be Speaker

Gerald Labay, a graduate student at San Francisco State College, will be the featured speaker Wednesday at the meeting of the Northwestern California Archaeological Society.

Labay's topic will be "Chiles Valley, Napa County: Preliminary Report of Archaeological Investigations."

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at the Boyd Museum of Natural Science in San Rafael.

Collision Hurts Girl Passenger

A 15-year-old San Anselmo girl was injured Friday when the auto in which she was riding struck another auto on a blind curve at 281 The Alameda, San Anselmo.

Desiree Frym of 295 Stuyvesant Drive was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut left knee sustained in the 6:35 p.m. accident.

According to police, she was a passenger in an auto driven by Raymond Menjou, 23, of 805 D Street, San Rafael, which struck an auto driven by George Martinez of 45 Estates Drive, San Anselmo.

ROLF PERSINGER
Violist featured

Violist To Be Featured This Week

Rolf Persinger of Tiburon, principal violist with the San Francisco Symphony for seven years, will be featured in a Concerto for Viola and Orchestra by Roger Nixon to be performed in the orchestra's regular series this week.

The world premiere of the work, dedicated to Persinger, maestro Josef Krips and the orchestra, will take place during the 8:30 p.m. concert Wednesday at the War Memorial Opera House.

Nixon is a professor of music at San Francisco State College.

Persinger says the concerto, completed in 1969, is the only viola concerto written in America in the last 15 years.

The violist's musical activities include teaching viola and conducting at San Francisco State College and the San Francisco Conservatory of Music. He is also principal violist with the San Francisco Opera.

Also on the program is Copland's "A Lincoln Portrait" with Coretta Scott King, widow of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., as narrator, and Beethoven's Symphony No. 3 in E Flat Major.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Company' Is First Winner Of Season

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Company" came to the Alvin Theater Sunday night, and it is the most welcome musical company of the whole Broadway season. Get out the red carpet and the best silver.

"Company" is a sarcastic, iconoclastic comment on marriage and life in New York City today. It has brittle sophistication honed to a fine edge. Although the targets are pinpointed, actually it is a comment on the whole human condition as to relationship between the sexes.

And it is funny, it is tuneful, it has fantastic direction by producer Harold Prince, with Michael Bennett staging the delightful musical numbers, the players are sensational and it has a scenic setup designed by the very veteran Bors Aronson that is almost awesome.

"Company" has a libretto by first-timer George Furth. It is sharply satirical and topical. It could do with a more subtle type of wit, and things do run down a bit in the second act, but this is carping. The man has done a fine job with the most ephemeral of story lines.

Stephen Sondheim, who did the lyrics for "West Side Story" and the lyrics and music for "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," again has supplied both tunes and words, and it is his best job to date. There is a blend of songs, story and movement that is rare.

Quite briefly, the story deals with a 35-year-old bachelor and his relationship with five married couples who would like to see him married, although their own alliances are less than ideal. And he has three girls in his life. It's really that simple.

The fascinating thing is what Furth and Sondheim do in dialogue and song in dissecting the married state and the miracle — or debacle — of living in New York City.

Miss Myers and Jones, who is a sort of "straight man", but a good one, for what goes on, have one number called "Another Hundred People" that, better than a fat volume, tells you what New York is all about. It is a scalpel set to music.

A scene between Jones and Miss Browning, who is a love, is absolutely delicious in its comedy.

There isn't room for all of the credits that should be given to individual numbers and their projectors. You'll be hearing a song entitled "Side by Side by Side" quite often. Miss Stritch delivers the acidulous "The Ladies Who Lunch" with sadistic relish. "Getting Married Today" is a number that sums up all of the qualms connected with all marriages ever with fantastic accuracy.

"Company" is an all-out delight.

What other press critics said: Douglas Watt, Daily News: "Let's hear it for 'Company,' the newest and slickest thing in town. As smooth as the steel-and-glass buildings of midtown Manhattan and as jumpy as an alley cat, it is Broadway's first musical treatment of nerve ends."

Clive Barnes, New York Times: "I was antagonized by the slickness, the obviousness of Company.' But I stress that I really believe a lot of people are going to love it. Don't let me put you off. Between ourselves, I had reservations about 'West Side Story.' "

Richard Watts Jr., New York Post: "At times witty, and occasionally tuneful. But I thought it was also surprisingly uningratiating."

Session Set On Juvenile Procedures

Supervisor John F. McInnis, claiming he is dissatisfied with handling of juvenile cases, has asked Marin County judges, juvenile authorities and law enforcement officials to meet Saturday at Civid Center to reappraise judicial procedures.

In a letter distributed Friday, McInnis said the county's approach to juvenile arrests, probation, and the operation of juvenile hall and its court all need reevaluation.

The meeting, which is set for 9 a.m. in the supervisors' chambers, will also attempt to establish a countywide set of records listing violations by juvenile offenders.

Supervisors have been under fire the last month from residents of Marinwood and Santa Venetia who are dissatisfied with the lack of security at juvenile hall, and the alledged lenient policies toward juvenile crime by the courts.

Climber Dies In Yosemite Fall

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK (UPI) - A mountain climber fell 600 feet to his death while attempting to scale the Washington Column on the north side of Yosemite Valley Saturday.

Park officials said the victim, William R. Smith, 20, Columbus, Ohio, was climbing with Bill Chadwick, 23, Billings, Mont.

The two men were using ropes and other climbing equipment in an attempt to reach the top of the granite column which towers 1,900 feet above the valley floor.

Smith's body was recovered by rangers and volunteer searchers.

McInnis Office

Campaign headquarters for John F. McInnis, who is seeking reelection June 2 to the Marin County Board of Supervisors, have opened at 532 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Takes Only Five Minutes To Recover Car, Suspects

A California Highway Patrol sergeant yesterday morning recovered a stolen car in what must be record time.

Sgt. Richard V. Nutting, in his patrol car, at Dolan's Corner, Tamalpais Valley, received the report at 1:25 a.m., and five minutes later he had the car back and two suspects in custody.

The sergeant was taking the report from Richard Collins of 36 Magee Avenue, Mill Valley, who told him a car he had borrowed had been taken from the parking lot of a nearby self-service laundry.

While they were talking, one of Collins's acquaintances said "There it goes now," and Nutting gave chase.

Minutes later the car turned off Shoreline Highway onto Dolan Avenue, a deadend street, and the short chase was over.

The occupants, passenger Steven Albert Imberg, 17, and driver Jeff Al Blumenthal, 15, both of San Francisco were arrested on suspicion of auto theft and sent to Marin County Juvenile Hall.

Rec Activities Scheduled In May

The Terra Linda Recreation Center has announced its activities schedule for May.

Couple Arrested In Lot Collision

A minor auto accident Friday in the Safeway parking lot at 555 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, resulted in an arrest of a Bay Area couple on suspicion of being under the influence of drugs.

Booked into county jail with bail set at $35 each were James C. Baker, 20, of San Francisco, and Alice Strogh, 20, of San Mateo.

Police said the couple was arrested at 4 p.m. after Baker's car was involved in a minor crash. They were to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Driver Injured

Morgan Dengra, 38, of 6 Council Crest Drive, Corte Madera, was treated at Marin General Hospital for fractured ribs suffered when his car struck a utility pole at 10:30 p.m. Friday in front of 34 Madera Boulevard, Corte Madera, police said.

DEEP STEAM wall-to-wall carpet cleaning offers you :
GENTLE CLEANING ACTION . . . no brushes or scrubbing action is used to wear or distort the carpet pile.
LIKE-NEW RESTORATION of original color, texture, and matted pile without use of chemicals.
MOISTURE CONTROL which insures fast drying and avoids carpet shrinkage.
SAFE PROCESS . . . guaranteed to be completely safe for all fabrics, and under any condition.
GREATER ECONOMY because the Deep Steam cleaning process Soil Retards and Mothproofs your carpet. This minimizes the need for frequent professional cleaning.
LONGER CARPET LIFE since deeply imbedded soil is safely extracted from both the pile and back of your carpet.

HOW DEEP STEAM SOIL EXTRACTION WORKS
Deep Steam Soil Extraction equipment applies wet steam with a professional formula and soil retardant under pressure deep into the carpet fibers. The two cleaning agents combine to break down soil and the static electric charge, which holds the soil deep in the pile of the carpet, and brings this soil into suspension. Then, instantly, the moisture and soil are removed by the powerful continuous extraction process into a separate stainless steel container. During this cleaning operation every fiber is coated with SOIL RETARDANT and MOTHPROOFING to keep your carpet cleaner and protected longer.
The Old Method

The conventional shampoo scrubbing method uses preliminary vacuuming to remove some loose soil. The shampoo equipment, with harsh brushes, utilizing different types of liquid detergents or powders, scrubs the remaining soil DEEPER into the carpet . . . and even with the help of a wet vacuum fails to remove most of the soil or residue. This residue which is left in the carpet then works its way to the surface and attracts more soil. Soon your carpet may appear more soiled than before!

MYSTERY APE TOURS SAN RAFAEL

An "ape" mounted on a motorcycle turns the heads of San Rafael pedestrians and motorists as he pauses at a stoplight at Cijos and Fourth streets. Cruising up and down Fourth Street, the hairy creature was last seen heading east, leaving citizens to wonder who it was, what he was doing and where he was going.

Marin City's Future Explored

By PAT ANGLE

Representatives of the Marin City Council and Marin City Community Services District met together Saturday to plant the seeds of a general plan which, if put into action, could provide growth and economic development for the Southern Marin community.

The proposal, presented by Harold Brooks, interim director of the services district, includes plans for new commercial, recreational, educational, medical, personal safety and transportation facilities.

"It is necessary for the community to start to determine what we want, how we propose to get it and whether what we want is feasible," Brooks said to explain the purpose of the embryonic program.

Central to the plan is a Marin City location for a $1.6 million county tennis and swimming center being planned by the Marin County Parks and Recreation Department on a site not yet chosen. Both the council and the services district plan to ask the county to locate the center in Marin City.

Brooks added the southern Marin site is the most feasible one from the standpoint of funding. "We are in the best position to obtain federal funds for such a center, because we are an impacted area," Brooks said, adding the center could provide the nucleus for "tremendous economic growth in our area," because it would bring people and money into Marin City.

Both bodies are planning a campaign to convince the county that Marin City is the ideal location for the center, beginning with letters which will be sent to county administrators this week.

"We know that Marin County wants Marin City to progress," Rev. Samual L. Banks Jr., chairman of the council said, "and we feel sure they are going to support us in this."

Brooks conceded that county officials may be "concerned about black power" and ask if people from throughout the county could use the facility without being molested."

"The great part of the population of Marin City, the silent majority, wants progress," Brooks said, "and already they are saying to the small group of dissidents, 'We are going to have a decent community here, with or without you.' "

The interim director also discussed the need for an all-purpose athletic field, complete with bleachers, commercial facilities like a shopping center and turning Manzanita into a "Montessori type of demonstration school."

"Our school should be more than a nursery, a place where parents can put their children," he said, "it should be a place where our children begin learning at an early age, like about two, so they can get a real head start."

Brooks also suggested that adult education could be provided at the school. "A number of colleges would be willing to conduct classes here," he explained.

"We were promised a shopping center a long time ago, but it hasn't happened," Brooks continued. "The people with the funds don't believe enough money is generated here to build the kind of center the community is seeking."

He pointed out the tennis-swimming center could draw the money, needed to support a shopping center, to Marin City.

Brooks said the county has indicated its willingness to include "a first class first aid station" in a fire-police station being planned for Marin City. He also revealed the community services district is working out arrangements for assuming complete control and operation of the fire station when it is built.

While the county will staff the station in the beginning, Brooks said the district is working toward "a gradual transition of staff, so that eventually most staff members will be Marin City residents."

He said the district is also working with the sheriff's office "to develop a practical and feasible way of transferring police functions to the district's control," a plan which he said would take from three to five years.

Wallace Shepherd of the Marin County Housing Authority said the authority is presently seeking designs for a television antenna service for residents in the public housing project and indicated the service could eventually be expanded to serve all of Marin City. Plans are also under way for a closed-circuit television station to serve the area, Shepherd said.

While stressing the plans for development are only a beginning, Brooks said the council and services district wants "to be able to present the community with some kind of skeleton - it's up to the community to hang the meat.

"In all of this we will need every single individual in Marin City to be involved," Brooks said. "There is a tremendous amount of work to be done," he added.

Peace Move Delays Test On Pollution

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A last minute peace move by San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto today postponed a legal test of the state's tough new water pollution law.

Alioto started the legal fight earlier this month when he got a superior court order temporarily lifting the state's ban on new construction in San Francisco.

A hearing on the ban was to have been held this morning but Alioto yesterday telephoned the chairman of the regional water quality control board with a plea that they meet first.

The chairman, William C. Weber of San Mateo, told the Independent-Journal that Alioto indicated that a compromise might be worked out, thus forestalling the court test of the state's power to impose such a ban.

Superior Court Judge Clayton W. Horn, acceding to a request from the mayor's office for a postponement reset the hearing for 10 a.m. tomorrow. Horn said, "I'm all for clearing the air."

Attending the meeting behind closed doors in the mayor's office late this morning were Weber, Kerry Mulligan, chairman of the state water resources control board, two deputy attorney generals and staff members of the regional board and city departments.

A spokesman for the mayor's office told newsmen the closed meeting "was a settlement conversation".

San Francisco, acting under the superior court order temporarily lifting the ban, has issued sewer permits on some $60 million in new construction that was barred by the regional board's order.

Sonoma State Drug Clinic Called For By Professor

A Sonoma State College psychology professor has called for establishment of a drug clinic, saying that, while the drug use situation is not critical, there is a large number of students needing help.

At the same time, Dr. George McCabe, releasing a report based on a research seminar he conducted last summer, said that fears of an extensive drug culture at the college seem not be substantiated.

McCabe reported it was found that a third of the students regularly use marijuana. Less than half of those who have tried other drugs are still using them.

McCabe said 13 per cent of the student body are current users of LSD and amphetamine and 5 per cent are users of barbiturates.

"The data do not seem to bear out the fear expressed by some that there is an extensive drug culture at the college," he said. "The data regarding Sonoma students suggests less usage than has been reported for some high schools in the Bay Area and Marin.

"One interesting aspect of the study is that there is no relationship between the period of time students have been at the college and the extent of their drug usage. Whatever habits they have, they seem, in general, to have brought here with them," McCabe said.

Saying the situation with dangerous drugs is not critical, McCabe said that there is still a large number of students in need of help.

The psychology professor said the community should work with the college in setting up a clinic to provide crisis intervention assistance, counseling and a drug education program.

Injuries Minor To Bike Rider

A 7-year-old Point Reyes boy suffered minor injuries in a car-bicycle collision Saturday morning at Third and B streets, Point Reyes Station, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said a car driven by Carol Jean Ingwersen, 29, of 5 Baltus Lane, Sleepy Hollow, southbound on Third Street, collided with a bicycle ridden by Ernest Edward Burdon of P.O. Box 128, which was traveling west on B Street at 11:45 a.m.

She told officers she had started to cross the intersection when the boy drove in front of her car. Ernest, who suffered a cut lip and a bump on his forehead, was treated by Dr. William E. Kaye.

Shone Hits BCDC Over Bay Policy

Raymond H. Shone of Nicasio, candidate for the Republican nomination for state Senate, has attacked San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission's staff for "thwarting the will of the people" by recommending rejection of Marin County's development plan for Richardson Bay.

"Richardson Bay has been a cess pool entrance to Marin County for years, and the development plan represented the best thinking" of the county planning staff, planning commission and board of supervisors, Shone said.

Speaking at a breakfast of real estate salesmen Thursday at Peacock Gap Country Club, Shone said that "it is all very well to dream great dreams, but when the time for action comes, it must come as the outgrowth of economic reality.

"If the BCDC felt changes were indicated, this should have been suggested by the staff of BCDC instead of damning the plan and thwarting the will of the people," Shone said.

The staff's recommendation for rejection will be voted upon by the commission on May 7.

Small Blaze Forces Tamalpais Evacuation

A small kitchen fire in the Tamalpais retirement residence in Larkspur yesterday caused the precautionary evacuation of about 250 elderly residents, according to Larkspur Fire Chief William C. Shurtz.

The fire broke out at 10:15 a.m. in fifth floor apartment of Lora Treat at the retirement residence, 501 Via Casitas.

Approximatly 250 of the 300 residents of the seven-story building were evacuated in case the fire or smoke spread, Shurtz said. All residents of the building are 62 years or older.

A paper sack of garbage left on the stove caught fire and did minor damage to the kitchen. However, it spread smoke throughout the fifth floor of the structure.

A total of 23 firemen responded with assistance from the Kentfield Fire Department.

Shurtz said only the lobby and the first floor were not evacuated.

Suspect In $20,000 Bond Selling Swindle Arrested

A man sought in connection with a $20,000 swindle of two elderly Petaluma brothers has been arrested in San Francisco and was scheduled for arraignment this afternoon in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Robert Sessions, believed to be using an alias, was arrested Saturday by the Secret Service. He had been wanted for questioning in the sale of phony tax free treasury bonds which had been offered to senior citizens at high interest rates.

William J. Guglielmetti, 92, of 907 C Street and Robert P. Guglielmetti, 89, of 415 A Street, had each purchased $10,000 in bonds from a man masquerading as a treasury agent.

Petaluma police said the San Francisco Police Department was investigating similar fraud cases that may involve Sessions. Two other Petalumans were reportedly contacted, but did not complete purchase.

Passerby Foils Leap From Span

A 55-year-old San Francisco man was taken to San Francisco General Hospital yesterday for observation after he climbed over a railing of the Golden Gate Bridge and threatened to jump.

Jack Schneider was seen on the bay side of the rail about 10:50 a.m. by a passerby, John W. Kennedy of Sebastopol, who persuaded him to come back onto the bridge.

Schneider told the California Highway Patrol he had attempted suicide before and told officers it was the only way he could get the attention of his sister, whom he refused to identify.

Guilty Verdict In Slaying Case

A Marin Superior Court Jury deliberated for almost 18 hours Friday and Saturday before convicting Robert Aaron Cosey, 36, of San Rafael, of the second degree murder of a 32-year-old woman friend.

The victim of the slaying which took place in Cosey's San Rafael apartment on Jan. 18 was Erma Clay Brown, a dietician who had been visiting relatives in Marin about four months.

She was fatally shot with a double-barreled shotgun after an argument ensued between her and Cosey following an evening of drinking.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson, who heard the case, set sentencing for May 15.

Cosey was prosecuted by Deputy Dist. Atty. Jerry R. Herman and defended by public defender Jerome Durham.

Novato School Bond Vote To Be Revived

The Novato Unified School District board will meet with its citizens committee at 8 p.m. today in the administration building to discuss another tax election and the preliminary budget for fiscal 1970-71.

An April 14 vote to increase the district tax limit by 85 cents for four years lost by a narrow margin, but the board may seek another vote in July.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Excessive Worry Can Cause Rapid, Alarming Hair Loss

C. K. writes: "My husband is a young executive who is under considerable tension to meet quotas. Two weeks ago, he began to lose his hair, and I mean just that! It began as an oval patch on the side of his head. Other patches followed, and now his scalp looks like a psychedelic figure. A dermatologist diagnosed the condition as alopecia areata and told him to get a toupee and not to worry. Please tell us more about this disorder."

The pattern of hair loss in alopecia areata differs entirely from that of hereditary baldness. In addition, there is no evidence of inflammation in that the denuded spots are clean. The cause is now known, however, this type of baldness has been known to follow periods of excessive worry or nervous tension. Most of the victims are in their 20s or 30s, and the outcome is unpredictable. Wearing a hairpiece while undergoing treatment is sound advice.

NOW AND THEN the eyelids, eyebrows, armpits, beard, and other areas are denuded. In at least 50 per cent, some regrowth can be expected. Usually the hair returns, first coming in gray or white and fine in texture. Eventually, the scalp returns to normal.

Treatments usually consist of chemical or mechanical stimulants. However, some of the products are so irritating that they produce blistering and peeling. Ultraviolet also is used. None of these measures is specific. Corticosteroids in tablet form or via scalp injections may lead to a new crop, but the results may be temporary unless the hormone is continued. Thyroid extract helps if low metabolism is causative.

MANY PHYSICIANS recommend tranquilizers and psychiatric care because of the possible relationship between the loss of hair and nervous shock. On the other hand, there is no proof that the emotional upheaval and severity of the alopecia areata are related in that baldness is unusual in people with definite psychoses and other mental problems.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

SLENDER

R. R. writes: Recently I had a physical examination and much to my surprise, the doctor found me in good condition, even though I weight only 148 pounds and am 6' 1" in height. Do you think my physician is right?

REPLY

Yes. A person con be in good health even though he does not meet the weight standards for age, height, and sex. Slenderness is said to encourage a long, healthy life.

SORE THROAT

D. P. writes: Could sinus drainage, over a period of three or four years, cause a constant sore throat?

REPLY

Yes. The sore throat may be part of an infection that involves the nose as well as the throat. The postnasal drip does not necessarily come from a sinus infection. It may originate in diseased adenoids, an ordinary nasal infection, or stem from the inhalation of air pollutants, including tobacco smoke.

NECK EXERCISES

Mrs. P. E. J. writes: My husband has a "squeaky neck" and he recalled that some time ago you mentioned a leaflet of exercises for this condition. Do you have such a leaflet?

REPLY

Yes, and it can be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Today's Health Hint—

Unresolved problems and decisions may cause tiredness.

Youth Reports Attack Attempt

A 15-year-old boy hitchhiker reported to sheriff's deputies Friday that a man who had given him a ride attempted to commit a lewd act.

The boy, a resident of San Rafael, said the man, 25 to 30, about 5 feet 10 inches, 145 pounds with blond hair, picked him up at the northbound ramp to Highway 101 near Tiburon Boulevard shortly before 1 p.m.

Then, instead of dropping him off in San Rafael, the driver went to the dead end of Leona Drive in Santa Venetia and made advances. Then the boy jumped out of the car and left the scene, deputies said.

No. 435 Apr. 24, 27, May 1, 1970

An echo of yesterday passes overhead.

FLY-IN!

They come from all points across the land: the Wacos, Stearmans, Ryans; the P-51 fighters of another era and the home-made models reflecting individual ideas. There might even be the big Ford Tri-Motor, available for flights lasting 15 minutes and providing a sky-high view of the 16th Annual "Fly-In" coming to Rockford, Ill.

The event, held the first week of August, is sponsored by the Experimental Aircraft Association, an organization founded in 1953 by Paul Poberezny, Milwaukee, Wis., and now boasting a membership near 40,000 representing all 50 states and 43 foreign countries.

The EAA, a non-profit organization, also sponsors an air-education museum and headquarters at Franklin, Wis., but one week per year it conducts the international convention of its members, regulating some 27,000 landings and take-offs of their unique aircraft.

Currently, some 2,000 amateur-built planes have been completed by members, while roughly 6,000 other members are currently busy constructing or refurbishing their own planes.

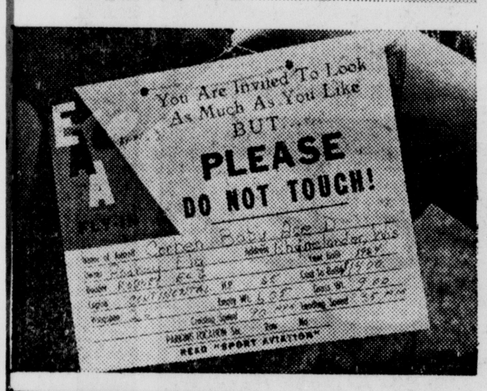

For the visitor and organizational members who come to the small town 90 miles northwest of Chicago, Ill., the EAA provides free parking space, food tents and viewing access to the over 160 airplanes lined in patterned rows across the field.

Each evening at 7:00 p.m., when wind turbulence is at a minimum, an air show provides spectators with upside-down flying, wing-walking, parachute jumping, precision flying and airplane acrobatics.

Scattered between tents and campers of those remaining more than one day are larger tents featuring the latest in factory planes and parts for the interested flying buff.

This year's event, with its brightly colored aircraft and the strange shape of things to come, perhaps, will bring more than 400,000 people to the Greater Rockford Airport, south of the city on U.S. Highway 51, to take part in the Experimental Aircraft Association's biggest, and best, "Fly-In."

Four years of work by Tracy Pilurs, Highland Park, Ill., finished this "Pretty Purple Puddy Tat" airplane.

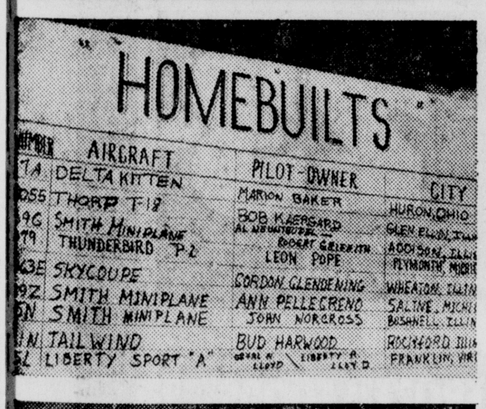

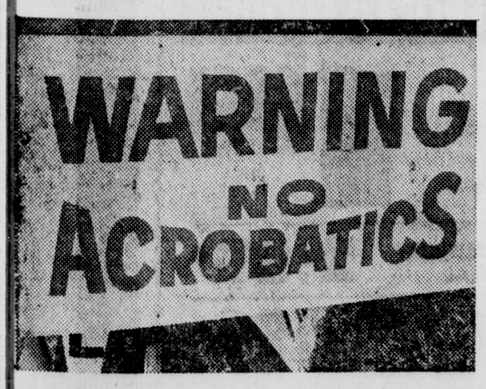

Wiping his "Pitts Special", built from scratch, is Howard Sevdy, Worthington, Minn.

Across the parking area they stretch wing to wing.

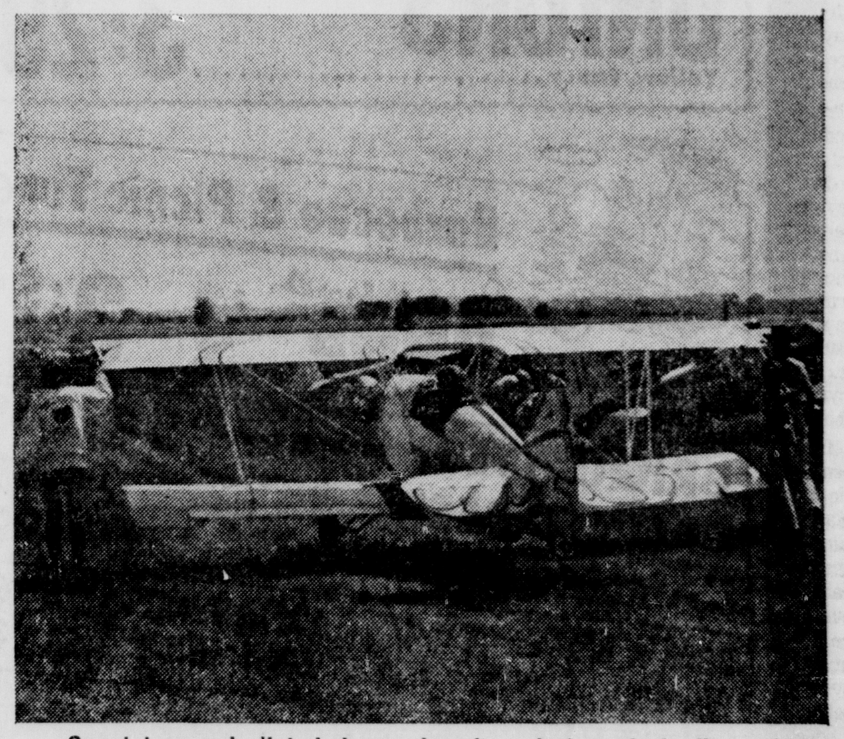

Spectator signs.

Founder and president of the EAA, Paul Poberezny, sits in a French-design Newport 24-B, talking with George Hardie, both from Milwaukee, Wis.

Mets In S.F. For Three-Game Series

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —The Montreal Expos matched their audacious youth with the San Francisco Giants' vaunted power and the result was a standoff in Sunday's doubleheader.

Grand slam homers by Willie McCovey and Dick Dietz supported Mike McCormick's three-hit pitching for an 11-1 romp in the opener. But rookie right-hander Carl Morton's first major league victory gave Montreal the nightcap 3-2.

SPLIT

The Expos, who doubled their 1969 victory total against the Giants with a 2-2 weekend split, open a three-game series in San Diego Monday night. San Francisco, idle Monday, hosts the New York Mets Tuesday night.

"McCovey's hitting was very encouraging," said Manager Clyde King after the slugger belted his 11th grand slam and added a solo homer in the opener. The output gave McCovey six homers and 17 runs batted in.

"I don't know how he does it," added King. "We had no batting practice because wet grounds made it necessary to cover the field. So Willie comes up in the first inning and hits the ball 450 feet on his first swing."

4-0 LEAD

The smash, following walks to Bobby Bonds and Willie Mays around a single by Ron Hunt, gave the Giants a 4-0 lead off Bill Stoneman, 1-3. Singles by Bonds and Mays added a run in the second.

McCovey homered off Stoneman leading off the fifth and Bonds belted his third homer off reliever Carroll Sembera in the seventh. Intentional Walks to McCovey and Ken Henderson set up Dietz' first career grand slam in the eighth.

McCormick, 1-1, didn't allow a hit until Ron Brand's leadoff single, pinch-batter Jack Hiatt's double and Jim Qualls' run-scoring grounder ruined the shutout bid in the sixth.

25 WALKS

McCovey walked twice in the opener, boosting his season total to 25, but the brash Morton pitched to the National League MVP and retired him three times in his first assignment against the Giants.

Mack Jones' triple and Rusty Staub's single gave the Expos Hiatt's single ,a ground out and a 1-0 lead off loser Rich Robertson, 0-2, in the first. Ex-Giant Marv Staehle's single made it 2-0 in the second.

Morton opened the fifth with a walk and scored what proved to be the winning run on Jones' one-out double. Morton, 1-0, also collected his first major league single in the sixth inning.

"My first win and my first hit in the majors on the same day—that's something," declared Morton while soaking his right elbow in a bowl of crushed ice. The 26-year-old righthander is a converted outfielder.

"I had pretty good power in the minors, but I had trouble with breaking pitches," he recalled. "Paul Richards decided I'd have a better chance to make it with the Braves as a pitcher, not as an outfielder.

"I pitched to McCovey," Morton explained, "because I figured somebody gets him out. I can't be afraid and pitch myself into a hole. I figured I'd better be aggressive against him, because he'd never faced me before either."

Bonds' single and Henderson's second homer of the season pulled the Giants to within 3-2

HOCKEY PLAYOFFS

Bruins Complete Sweep Of Hawks

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Bruins have kicked the Chicago Black Hawks into Never-Never Land . . . and crossed the threshold toward the Promised Land.

"We've opened the door and the next thing we have to do is go through it," said Boston's Eddie Westfall after the Bruins bounced the Black Hawks out of the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup Playoffs 5-4 Suday.

IN FOUR

The victory gave the Bruins a four-game sweep in the best-of-7 East Division finals and shot them into the championship series against the West Division winner.

Pittsburgh stopped St. Louis 2-1 Sunday to tie their best-of-7 West set at 2-2.

Westfall, who checked Chicago star Bobby Hull, summed up the feelings of his Boston teammates with this remark: "They've just opened the door in a bid for the club's first Stanley Cup championship in 29 years."

"We're going to meet the best in the other division," he added. "We're certainly the best in ours. We're going to be ready whether it's St. Louis or Pittsburgh."

Coach Harry Siden of Boston pointed out two items which helped the Bruins to their astounding sweep of the regular season East winners—the checking of Hull and Stan Mikita.

'DID IT'

"We had to stop Hull and we had to stop Mikita. . .and we did it, said Sinden.

Westfall, accepting congratulations after shutting out Hull, modestly pointed out: "It was not a nice job—it was a necessary evil.

"Now I hope we can participate in the offense a little more in the big series," he continued. "With a line like ours (center Derek Sanderson and Wayne Carleton) I hope that the Western Division champs have to worry about what we'll do."

While Westfall was doing his defensive job, John McKenzie was the ffensive stickout for the Bruins. His goal at 18:19 of the third period—when everybody in the Boston Garden was thinking overtime—was the winning margin.

REFUSED TO FOLD

Frustrated most of the way by Tony Esposito's brilliant goaltending, the Bruins refused to fold.

Brian Campbell had given Chicago a 4-3 lead with a goal at 4:10 of the final period. The Bruins buzzed around the Chicago net but were unable to crack Esposito's stout defending.

Ken Hodges finally broke the period of frustration with a tying goal at 13:19 and McKenzie then intercepted a Chicago pass just inside the blue line and shoveled in the clinching shot.

Walks And Singles Big As Home Runs

NEW YORK (AP) — Those home runs are impressive, but the singles, walks and errors can produce a devastating big inning, the Oakland Athletics learned.

The New York Yankees came up with four runs in the sixth inning with the biggest hit a single. They went on to defeat Oakland 8-3 yesterday for a weekend split.

BASES LOADED

Curt Blefary and Danny Carter singled to open the inning for New York. Tthen John Odom, seeking his third win, fumbled Thurman Munsons' sacrifice bunt, filling the bases with none out.

Gene Michael blooped a single that tied the game 3-3 and forced Odom to be replaced by Jim Roland. The new hurler immediately walked pinch hitter Ron Woods on four straight balls, putting New York ahead.

Then Jerry Kenney singled over infielders' heads, causing two runs to score.

THREE HITS

The Athletics were unable to keep an attack going. Sal Bando, who hurt his left hand the first week, was back in the lineup but was hitless during the weekend.

Rick Monday hit three for four, including a triple, and other hits were divided by three men, Felipe Alou with two, Don Mincher two for four including a homer, and Reggie Jackson, one for two, a double.

Although the Yankees took advantage of walks and singles in their big inning, they came up with two home runs, one by Kenney in the fifth, his first of the year. Bob Murcer hit his third for the Yanks.

CHAMP OF CHAMPS

Security Is Beard's Aim

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Frank Beard had just picked up a $30,000 check, the second largest of his sparkling career, and was talking about his long-range goals in golf.

"Financial security for my wife and my family — and me," the soft-spoken, thoughtful perfectionist said Sunday. "I don't know how much money that is, or when it will come."

Then he smiled.

MILLION DOLLARS

"Maybe it's a million dollars."

It's not as far-fetched as it sounds. Beard's impressive seven-stroke victory in the prestige laden — but troubled — tournament of Champions pushed his career earnings to more than $568,000. He now has more than $53,000 for the year and appears to be well on his way to his fourth consecutive $100,000 plus season.

And he's only 30.

Although he ranks seventh on the all-time leading money list, topped the money earnings last year and has won nine tour events, he's a relative unknown to the fans.

"That's the kind of guy I am," he said. "Maybe I'm too conservative."

NO COLOR

"That man's unbelievable," said British Open champion Tony Jacklin, one of three tied for second behind Beard.

Frank bolted out to a six-stroke lead at the turn, changed his strategy and coasted into a seven-stroke victory, the largest margin of the year on the tour. He had a final 71, one-under-par on the La Costa Country Club course, for 273, 15-under-par.

Jacklin, two strokes back going into the final round, failed to set his clock for the change from standard to daylight time, didn't have time to take a single practice swing and struggled through the gusty winds with a 76 for 280.

He was tied at that figure with South African Gary Player, 71, and Masters champion Billy Casper, 72. Arnold Palmer was next with a 70 for 281. Orville Moody and a 70 for 284 and Jack Nicklaus was one of three at 286.

While the players were fighting the winds, tournament officials battled reports that the 1971 edition of this tournament — matching tour winners of the previous 12 months — would be cancelled.

"The Tournament of Champions is 18 years old and as far as we are concerned it will go on for at least another 18 years," tournament chairman Allard Roen said.

"We have not been notified of any action to cancel our tournament by the tournament players division or its commissioner, Joe Dey."

PETITION

But a petition appeared in the players' locker room and was signed by more than two dozen players, including Palmer, Moody, Player and Lee Trevino, which said, in part:

"We, the undersigned, petition the committee to reconsider their decision regarding cancel-

Gals Among Stars At Track-Field Relays

WALNUT, Calif. (AP)—With due respects to Lee Evans and Randy Matson, the year 1970 could be remembered among other things as one when the gals outshone the guys at the Mt. San Antonio Relays.

Doris Brown, the schoolteacher from Seattle, scored a double by setting a meet record in the 880-yard run Saturday in two minutes and eight seconds, then set an American record in the 3,000-meter run Sunday.

Her time for the latter, 9:44.6 shattered the mark of 10:12.6 by Debbie Heald of Phoenix, Ariz., earlier this year.

Miss Cheng won the 100-meter hurdles at 13.3 seconds and the 220-yard dash in 23.2 Saturday, both times bettering the American records.

Then on Sunday, she captured the 100-yard dash in 10.6 and the 100-yard hurdles in 13.5.

Evans scored a men's double with victories in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles and 440 — yard dash, while world record holder Matson won the shotput with a toss of 66 feet, 11½ inches.

Evans set the world record and took an Olympic gold medal that year in the 400-meter dash.

This time he used his speed to offset some faulty timing in the hurdles to win the 50.5 and came back less than an hour later to out sprint former UCLA quarter-miler Len VanHofwegen in the 440, clocked at 46.7 seconds.

He beat his chief foe by less than a yard.

Evans won the press box vote as the outstanding track athlete in the meet, and Matson took honors as best of the field crew.

There were no special awards for the gals at this meet at the Mt. San Antonio College stadium.

Meet records fell in the men's high hurdles and the highjump.

Veteran Willie Davenport won the 120-yard hurdles in 13.7, clipping a tenth of a second off the record he shared with Don Shy.

Marin Nine Triumphs, 2-1

Jim Peters tossed a four hitter and catcher Gary Welch accounted for both runs as College of Marin defeated Contra Consta, 2-1 Saturday at Contra Costa.

The Tars wrapped it up in the third when Welch blasted a double to score Roger Offenbach, and then came home when Ken Lazzarini's ground ball was mishandled.

Peters struck out eight and walked none. The only Contra Costa run came on a ninth inning homer by John Lancaster.

Dramatic Rally Wins For Harold Henning

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — South African Harold Henning staged a startling rally to "come from the darkness' and capture the $50,000 Tallahassee Open Golf Tournament on the final hole Sunday over Rives McBee.

In a dramatic finish, Henning —who led by one shot before the final round—charged from two behind with a stunning eagle and a birdie on the final two holes.

The 35-year-old Henning had jumped into the lead after a record-tying 64 Saturday. He had to cramble desperately over the wind-blown Killearn Country Club course.

Coming off the 16th green where he had just dropped a birdie putt, Henning heard that McBee was just two strokes ahead. That's when he "came out of the darkness, after thinking there was no chance a few holes before."

Henning smashed his second shot on the par-five 17th to within 12 feet of the hole. He sank the putt for an eagle and was suddenly tied with McBee.

McBee watched from the 18th as Henning drove into a fairway bunker. Undaunted, the tanned old pro blasted to within 12 feet on the finishing hole, and then canned the putt for a 2-under-par 70 and a tournament clinching 277 total.

Miss Walsh Wins Doubles, Loses Singles

Eighteen-year-old Sharon Walsh returned to classes at San Rafael High School today with mixed emotions as the result of her weekend participation in the 71st annual Ojai Valley Tennis Championships at Ojai, Ventura County.

Miss Walsh, the 1969 national girls' 18 champion, teamed with Gail Hansen of Palo Alto to win the open women's doubles crown but lost in the women's singles title to Janet Newberry of La Jolla.

Misses Walsh and Hansen downed Miss Newberry and Eliza Pande of Los Altos, 6-0, 4-6, 6-3 for the doubles trophy, but Miss Newberry rallied to beat the San Rafael High senior in the hard-fought singles match, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Butterfly Back In Knuckleball

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The butterfly that lives in Phil Niekro's knuckleball is back in business after taking an exasperating two-week vacation.

Niekro's knuckler, normally one of the most puzzling pitches National League batters must face, was no mystery until Sunday when the Atlanta ace mowed down Pittsburgh 2-0 on a two-hitter.

In his first four starts, Niekro and his flutterless flutterball had been racked for 30 hits, 11 home runs, a 7.78 earned run average and four straight losses. The butterfly, obviously, was out of town.

NEAR-PERFECT

But everything fell in place for Niekro Sunday. He pitched hitless ball for 6 2-3 innings and completely dazzled the powerful Pirates with his rested and rejuvenated knuckler dancing all over the place.

Elsewhere Sunday, New York topped Los Angeles 3-1, St. Louis dropped Cincinnati 4-1, Chicago whipped Houston 6-3, Philadelphia edged San Diego 3-2 and San Francisco split a doubleheader with Montreal, winning 11-1 before losing 3-2.

Although it had no trouble with the Pirates, Niekro's returning butterfly couldn't solve the Forbes Field no-hit jinx. No pitcher has ever achieved a hitless game in the 61-year history of the park which the Pirates will vacate next month for their new Riverfront Stadium. Niekro defied the jinx until a two-out error in the seventh gave Manny Sanguillen a swing and the catcher's single broke up the no-hit bid.

FOUR HITS

Tommie Aaron cracked four straight hits including a homer and double which accounted for both Brave runs.

Niekro missed his no-hitter but New York's Tom Seaver got his—a perfect one too—if you don't mind your classics spread over two games.

Seaver, who had retired the last 16 batters in order—a record-breaking 10 on strikes-against San Diego last Wednesday, knocked off the first 11 Dodgers Sunday. That gave him 27 consecutive batters retired, the equivalent of a perfecto.

The Met ace settled for a six-hitter with home runs by Donn Clendenon and Mike Jorgensen pacing the attack. Bud Harrelson stole three bases including home for the Mets, who ended a 30-inning runless streak.

STREAK

The victory was the 14th straight over two seasons for Seaver.

Bob Gibson throttled Cincinnati on five hits, striking out 15 for his strongest performance of the season as the Cards beat the Reds.

Gibson, knocked out in each of his first two starts, fanned six Reds in order over one stretch and Lou Brock's three singles led the St. Louis offense.

in the sixth. Morton was lifted for a pinch-batter in the ninth and McCovey led off the bottom of the inning with a single.

'HAD CHANCE'

"We had our chances in the ninth with Mays and Dietz up," said King, who named Gaylord Perry, Juan Marichal and Mike McCormick as his tentative starters against the Mets. Marichal hurled five scoreless innings in Saturday's 7-3 loss.

Hiatt smashed a hit in each game of the twin bill to lift his average to .409 for the Expos.

By DON CARTER

When confronted with a 5-7 split, it is best to move your starting position to the left by five boards (the distance between the dots on the approach). Then aim at the same spot you selected for your strike ball. And remember to roll the ball the same way. If you follow these suggestions successful conversions should be frequent.

Thrilling Game In San Rafael Rec Softball

Whoever coined the phrase, "The ball game's never over until the last out" must have had the 666th Eagles of the San Rafael Softball League in mind.

The Eagles rallied for eight runs in the last inning last night to defeat Marin Supply Co., 11-8 in a thrilling game that also saw Marin Supply execute a triple play in the fifth inning.

Leading the Eagles in their big rally were Doyle Clossan and Doug Corbett with home runs and pitcher Bert Adkins with two hits in the last inning. Tony Selmo of the Eagles was the busiest defensive man in the league as he made 10 putouts in left field, nearly half of the total for a seven-inning game.

In other league games yesterday, Bergman Manufacturing Co. routed Patio Club 11-3 and the Scrappers outslugged Stan's for Sports, 13-9, as Bob Lemelet had three hits, including a home run, and Dan Herrera and Keith Stirling two hits apiece for the Scrappers.

AMERICAN LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Minnesota Air Works Wonders For Tiant

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The green, green grass of home did in Dean Chance and the Cleveland Indians Sunday but the Minnesota air seems to be working wonders for Luis Tiant.

Chance and Tiant were the key figures in a six-player swap between the Indians and Twins last winter. Both pitched well Sunday but came out on opposite ends of the won-lost spectrum.

Chance, 1-2, scattered nine hits in eight innings, walking two and striking out seven but the Indians lost to the Chicago White Sox 2-0, with the high grass at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium affecting two key infield hits.

Tiant, meanwhile, ran his record to 3-0—he was a dismal 9-10 a year ago—by shutting out the Detroit Tigers on three singles, 6-0. he also stroked a double and two singles, stole a base—third base, no less—and knocked in a run.

Elsewhere in the American League, Baltimore made it 14 straight over Kansas City 10-9, California shaded Washington 3-2, Milwaukee tripped Boston 5-3 and the New York Yankees drubbed Oakland 8-3 for Mel Stottlemyre's first victory.

The White Sox nicked Chance for single runs in the second and third innings. The first scored on Joe Horlen's slow bouncer down the third base line which was allowed to roll and stayed fair. In the third, Luis Aparicio bunted safely down the third base line, took third on a double by Carlos May and scored on Buddy Bradford's sacrifice fly.

FRUSTRATED

"There was nothing I could do about either one," said a disgruntled Graig Nettles, the Cleveland third baseman. "I was completely frustrated. I guess all I can do is play closer if they're going to keep the grass here as long as it is."

Head groundskeeper Harold Bossard admitted the grass is too long and the ground too soft, adding: "But what can I do? Our hands were tied. We couldn't do anything to the infield before this because it has been either too wet or we've had to put the tarpaulin down. But now, with the Indians on the road for 10 days, we'll get the grass cut."

Don Buford's three-run homer in the eighth inning carried Baltimore to victory and nullified Kansas City's comeback from a five-run first-inning deficit. The Royals haven't beaten the Orioles since taking a 4-2 decision last May 9 in the first meeting of the teams.

Brooks Robinson drove in four runs for the Birds and Dave Johnson hit a two-run homer. Ed Kirkpatrick and Bob Oliver connected for Kansas City, the latter with two on.

Nets Triumph; L.A. Wins Western Series

The Nets, rebounding from their worst home loss ever, knocked off Kentucky 127-112 at Louisville Sunday in the American Basketball Association playoffs.

New York now leads 3-2 the best-of-7 Eastern Division semifinals that resume in Louisville Tuesday.

Kentucky led only once in the game, then for just a brief time in the second period. Kentucky went ahead 31-30 in the second stanza on a 12-foot shot by Louie Dampier, but then New York went out in front again on two free throws by Melchionni.

Then Billy The Kid combined with teammate Walt Simon for 22 points to give the Nets an unsourmountable 80-64 lead. Simon scored 31 points in the game.

Raymond's clutch basket pulled the Stars through in a game that produced 27 changes of lead and 17 ties, the last when Mack Calvin hit a free throw with 1:07 to play to knot it at 122.

After Dallas missed several opportunities to take the lead on misfired field goals, Raymond nudged in Merv Jackson's 20-foot toss for the winning shot.

Powell sank a free throw seconds later, but missed a five-footer when Raymond deflected the ball and grabbed it as time ran out.

V.D. can be prevented

An epidemic is ravaging America—needlessly. The U.S. Public Health Service estimates there were almost 1.8 million new cases of venereal disease last year, well exceeding the medical definition of an epidemic. More Americans caught gonorrhea last year than caught the measles. And half of all new V.D. cases are in the 15 to 24 year old age group. Tragically, V.D.'s strongest ally is simple ignorance. A few basic methods of prevention will effectively combat both syphilis and gonorrhea. The necessary information is available from physicians, clinics and public health groups. And your local Pharmacist is a professional source for medically recognized products to aid in the prevention of V.D.

AWARD WINNING DESIGN

Architects A. Robert Fisher of Belvedere, Rodney F. Friedman of Tiburon and Robert J. Geering of Mill Valley share honors in the 1970 Award of Excellence from Architectural Record for this garden apartment design. Although it appears to be a Marin County type of development it is actually a 114-unit complex at Newport Beach. The three men are members of the San Francisco architectural firm, Fisher-Friedman Associates. Peter Walker of Tiburon, who heads Sasaki-Walker Associates of Sausalito, was the landscape architect.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Offering By American Telephone Is Good Buy

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We have shares of American Telephone & Telegraph at $70. I would like to use savings to buy more; my wife says no. Who is right? — A.L.

A. The opportunity now afforded to Telephone shareholders to purchase 8¾ per cent debentures would seem to me to offer a fine compromise for you. Holders of 35 shares have the right to purchase at par this $100 principal amount debenture together with a warrant to purchase two shares of common. The debenture offers generous return with a high degree of safety. The warrants, whether exercised or solid, offer the potential of capital appreciation. All told, this is a highly attractive package that shareholders should accept if possible.

Q. Please give me your candid opinion of Susequehanna Corp. I have taken a rather large position in the stock at $9. Is this a turnaround situation? — H.S.

A. No stock position—large or small — should be taken unless you personally or your broker can keep in close touch with developments. This is true of any investment but is vital in a speculative situation.

Susquehanna is a complex organization covering four rather broad fields: technology, building materias, industrial and natural resources. Sales for 1969 dropped 8 per cent to $130 million, and earnings of 73 cents a share were substantially lower than the $2.20 reported in 1968. Results included tax-loss carryforward credits and gains on the sale of property equal to 42 cents and 95 cents a share in 1969 and 1968 respectively.

A late 1968 tender offer for Pan American Sulphur shares resulted in litigation which was finally settled this March. Additional shares acquired recently give Susquehanna control of more than 50 per cent of Pan Am Sulphur's shares.

The IRS has recently proposed additional tax assessments for years 1955 to 1965 and has questioned $4.8 million of claimed tax-loss carryforward.

Wall Street Continues In Steep Decline

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at 2 p.m. was off 9.50 at 737.79. This is below last Jan. 30, when the average closed at 744.06, a six year low.

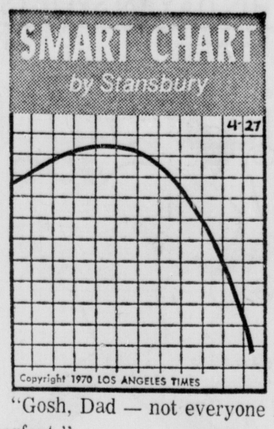

Analysts say there simply has been no support at the supposed test levels of the Dow Jones average, pointing out that pessimism dominates investor thinking. Although the market is oversold, they say, there is no investor interest in taking advantage of it.

Prices changes among the key issues were mostly fractional, with several ranging between 1 and 2 points. IBM was the exception, down 4⅞ to 304⅛ after announcing that second-quarter earnings were at about the same rate as those for the first quarter, with sales still substantially off from year ago levels.

Texaco was the volume leader, off ⅛ at 25¼.

On the American Stock Exchange, the volume leader was Ling-Temco-Vought warrants, off 1⅛ to 3⅜. Other late Amex prices included Digital Equipment, down 2⅛ to 82½; Simkins Industries, down 1⅛ to 6¼; McCulloch Oil, off 1⅛ to 25½.

"Gosh, Dad — not everyone is perfect."

Court Will Make Kopechne Records Public Wednesday

BOSTON (AP)—The office of the chief justice of the Massachusetts Supreme Court said today he plans to make public Wednesday the transcript and judge's report on the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne.

The statement by a spokesman in the office of Chief Justice G. Joseph Tauro came after Tauro ordered and received custody of all the inquest documents.

Miss Kopechne died last July 18 in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car which had gone off a bridge into a tidal pond on Chappaquiddick Island.

Sen. Kennedy, who did not report the accident until about 10 hours after it occurred, said he was driving the girl to the ferry and lost his way.

Kennedy later pleaded guilty to a charge of leaving the scene of an accident and was sentenced to a suspended term of two months in jail.

The inquest, by ruling of the state's highest court, was held in secret last January and the documents impounded until all possibility of criminal action had passed.

The papers were scheduled to be made public April 15, but release was held up by litigation filed by Sidney R. Lipman, Boston court stenographer, who took the notes and typed the transcript of testimony at the inquest last January.

Lipman claimed to have sole right to reproduce the document and had offered to sell copies to news media for about $800 each. Keating offered to distribute copies at cost--$75.

Lipman's case is pending before the First U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, and the documents have remained impounded.

Judge Wilfred J. Paquet of Superior Court ordered the papers impounded and said he could not lift the order until the federal court suit by Lipman was decided.

Lake Ranch Land Reportedly Sold For Seven Times Value

Portions of the Lake Ranch in the heart of Point Reyes National Seashore are being sold for prices four to seven times the market value set by the Marin County assessor.

Attorney Lawrence Kuechler, representing ranch owner A. W. Sweet of Coos Bay, Ore., acknowledged that about 260 acres have already been sold and there are prospective buyers for another 160 acres.

All of the buyers so far have been "acquaintances of Mr. Sweet," said Kuechler. One of the purchasers is Donald H. Sweet, a brother.

"We have offered the parcels for sale for any purpose the buyer wants," said Kuechler. "There are no restrictions on it."

Phillip Stewart, chief of the National Park Service's division of land acquisition, said today his office is "looking into" the sales.

He said that the sale of the land now at high prices does not mean the government will have to pay similar prices when it moves to acquire the land for the seashore.

The division's appraisers, as well as the juries in land condemnation proceedings, are instructed to ignore any sales "suspect of being rigged," he told the Independent-Journal by telephone from Washington, D.C.

"We're not accusing Mr. Sweet of rigging sales," Stewart said, adding that the sales "probably were made trying to establish a higher market value for the rest of his land."

Stewart said that when funds are appropriated by Congress for purchase of the land by the government, his office will try to negotiate a deal with Sweet. "Failing that, we'll file a condemnation suit," he said.

Kuechler declared that $2,000 to $3,500 per acre is the market value of the property.

When asked whether the sales were an attempt to jack up the prices, Kuechler replied: "Absolutely not. Any large parcel of 2,500 acres, is sold in one large lump does not bring nearly the same price that 2,500 lots of an acre apiece would bring."

If anything, said Kuechler, the prices are depressed. "Our opinion is, and we can tell this by people who have evidenced interest in buying, that the threat of conemnation has depressed the value. I know of several people who wanted to buy at our prices but who hesitated because of the threat of condemnation."

A. W. Sweet said the ranch is being sold at prices below similar property south of San Francisco and north of Marin. "The fact that the seashore is there has prevented sale at higher prices," said Sweet. "Even north of Santa Rosa, the sales are much higher than that."

Two of the purchasers have been identified as operators of an Oregon logging firm. Mrs. M. T. Harrington of Bandon, Ore., whose husband has purchased 41.7 acres for $80,000 told the I-J by telephone that she did not realize the purchase price was so much above the appraised value of the land.

When asked if the purchasers intended to log the land,

Shipbuilders Halt Maine Foundry Work

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Production is at a halt today at the Bath Iron Works, Bath, Maine, due to a shipbuilders strike. A strike against the Butte, Mont., public schools has been called and in New York negotiators remained at odds in contract talks between printers and four daily newspapers and between broadcast engineers and NBC.

Some 2,000 shipbuilders walked off the job in Bath when their contract expired at midnight Sunday. Two months of talks, aided in the final week by federal mediators, failed to bring a settlement.

The union rejected a proposal for a two-week extension which management said it needed to await Navy decision on the company's bid for a $3-billion destroyer contract.

Operating engineers in Butte said they would strike this morning, creating the second major school strike in Butte in three weeks. A teachers' union spokesman said the 450 instructors in the system would honor the picket lines.

Last week the engineers rejected a school board offer of a five per cent wage raise, a $5 addition to health insurance contributions, and a four-hour cut in the current 40-hour work week.

A union spokesman said the offer does not keep pace with increased living costs, but would not disclose the engineers' demands.

The National Association of Broadcast Employes and Technicians rejected Sunday the latest contract offer from NBC, a $55 weekly wage increase over three years. The contract expired March 31. The union said it hoped to resume talks with the network. Current top scale is $260.

Talks between printers' unions and the four daily New York papers were scheduled to resume today.

Wildcat walkouts in the trucking industry continued in Los Angeles, St. Louis, Cleveland and Akron, Ohio, despite a tentative national Teamsters Union settlement calling for $1.10 an hour wage increase in a three-year contract.

In Chicago Sunday, several thousand striking truck drivers reaffirmed their demands for a $1.65 an hour pay hike already approved by some 2,000 employers in the Chicago area.

In Los Angeles, negoiations between striking teachers and school officials were ordered resumed today for the first time since the walkout began April 13.

FACT BULLETIN #5 (The Strike)

Case of the "Fired" Union Officer

In his circular to Marin residents the president of S.F. Typographical Union #21 states that John DeMartini, a union officer, was fired by the I-J "for being absent on union business." When an outright falsehood is perpetrated upon the public it is time to call it that and expose it. What are the facts? First, the I-J has never discharged anyone for union activities. Second, when absent, a printer is required to report the fact and "cover" his job with a replacement. This is a precedent of long standing, known to everyone in the trade. And also a requirement of the printer's union. (It must be presumed that a union officer knows his own union's rules). Mr. DeMartini was not discharged for being away on union business. He was discharged solely for failing to report his absence and failing to send a replacement as required. Management waited until 3 p.m. of the work day — the end of the shift — but still received no notification whatsoever. Only then was this employee terminated . . . because of a clear violation by him. Marin residents may wish to carefully consider these facts in the light of the union president's statement.

Soviets Launch 8-In-1 Cosmos

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today announced the launching of eight unmanned satellites on a single carrier rocket — the largest experiment reported in the Cosmos program.

An official announcement gave no clue to the purpose of the complex space shot.

The spacecraft, numbered Cosmos 336 through Cosmos 343, were launched Saturday and were "equipped with scientific apparatus designated for space research" the announcement said.

"The equipment aboard the satellites is functioning normally," it added.

There was no indication whether further information would be released on the experiment. Normally launchings in the Cosmos program are announced only in the most general terms, and no details of their work is revealed.

The Soviet shot came just one day after Communist China put up its first satellite, but there was no indication that the new Soviet shot was intended to interfere with the Chinese experiment.

Ousted Cambodian Chief Calls For U.S. Defeat

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the deposed leader of Cambodia, appeared today to be starting moves toward a comeback.

Asian dispatches reported he had returned to Indochinese soil from exile in Peking for a conference of leaders of North Vietnam, the Pathet Lao of Laos and the Viet Cong to issue a call for the defeat of the United States and the governments of Cambodia, South Vietnam and Laos.

The conference on the Vietnamese-Laotian-Chinese border is expected to be followed by the establishment of a provisional government by Sihanouk in northeast Cambodian territory controlled by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese, according to Western diplomats in Vientiane, the Laotian capital.

ASIAN MEETING

Diplomatic efforts aimed at neutralizing Cambodia's involvement in the Indochina conflict, meanwhile, moved forward, with Indonesian Foreign Minister Adam Malik declaring today that an Asian meeting will be held despite Hanoi's refusal to attend.

Malik, who wants a conference early next month, said in Jakarta: "We will go ahead with the meeting because we are seeking peace. The aim of the meeting is to maintain Cabodia's neutrality."

Meanwhile in Washington, the Senate's No. 2 Republican leader, Michigan's Robert P. Griffin, has called for limited U. S. arms shipments to the beleaguered Cambodian government as a way to help shorten the war in Vietnam.

ANOTHER CONFLICT

However, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said shipments of arms to help the poorly-equipped Cambodian army fight Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops would only result in America getting "sucked in" another Vietnam-style conflict.

Both senators made their remarks Sunday, the day after Secretary of State William P. Rogers urged other nations to consider action against North Vietnam for violating internation accords by escalating the level of fighting in Cambodia. Rogers said the Cambodian fighting is not a civil war but the result of a foreign invasion.

"There are 40,000 aggressors in Cambodia and they're the same people we're fighting in South Vietnam," Griffin said. Shipments of small arms to Cambodia, he said would help that nation's small army defend themselves against the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces.

WORLD CRISIS

Australian Foreign Minister William McMahon said in Canberra that Communist command attacks in Cambodia had produced a crisis concerning the whole world. McMahon added that his government felt that conference discussion should be limited to the independence and neutralizationof Cambodia, nonintervention and the reactivation of the International Control Commission.

U.S. Aim: A Neutral Cambodia

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The White House said today the United States has "an overriding interest" in preserving the Cambodian neutrality because of the effects a Communist takeover would have on the U.S. war effort in South Vietnam.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said: "The president is deeply concerned about the course of events in Cambodia and is closely following developments."

He said Nixon wanted to preserve the territorial integrity of Cambodia and viewed with concern violations of Cambodian territory by North Vietnamese troops in "blatant disregard" of the 1954 Geneva Accords.

Nixon is considering a request from Gen. Lon Nol, premier of the embattled Cambodian regime, for arms beyond a shipment of captured Soviet type weapons turned over to the Phnom Penh governments's forces.

Ziegler could give no indication of when a decision would be made by Nixon.

He called off for a third time today a scheduled meeting of the National Security Council, but Zielger said the session was not intended to deal with the Cambodian situation. He instead set a session with his economic advisers.

Ziegler said Nixon met both Sunday and today with top diplomatic and defense advisers to assess implications of North Vietnam's actions in Cambodia. The United States says there are 40,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops in Camobdia.

Ziegler said the President

Israelis, Cairo Argue Over Raids

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Egyptian commandos made two raids across the Suez Canal Sunday, but as usual Egypt and Israel disputed the results.

Cairo said 200 troops made the first attack before dawn, and it was the largest Egyptian raid across the canal in nearly five months. Egypt claimed the raiders stormed El Shat and took the Israeli defenders "by complete surprise," overrunning their positions, killing or wounding 35 troops, and destroying four antiaircraft guns, two tanks, two halftracks, two trucks and two bulldozers. Cairo reported three Egyptian soldiers killed.

Israel said there were no Israeli casualties, five Egyptians were killed, and the Egyptian report was "a fable out of 'A Thousand and One Nights.'"

Later Sunday, Cairo reported, more Egyptian commandos crossed the canal, attacked two Israeli patrols and destroyed three halftracks and two tanks. A spokesman said one Egyptian and the members of an Israeli tank crew were killed.

Israel said the Egyptians ambushed a motorized patrol north of El Qantara. It claimed that its soldiers rushed the attackers, drove them back to the canal, and sank a boat carrying eight soldiers. Tel Aviv said five Israelis and nine Egyptians were wounded but that all the commandoes escaped to the Egyptian side of the canal.

Peking Beats Drums On Satellite Launch

TOKYO (AP) —Communist China said today that its first earth satellite has "greatly strengthened the militancy of the Chinese people and the revolutionary people of the world."

It said Peking's first achievement in outer space also had "deflated the arrogance of imperialism, modern revisionism and all reaction"—meaning the United States, the Soviet Union and others who don't agree with Red China's leaders.

North Vietnam, North Korea and Albania hailed Friday's launching in much the same language. The Soviet Union and its Communist allies remained silent.

The Japanese government expressed hope that the 381-pound space package would not be used for military purposes. But the conviction grew both here and in the West that the satellite was sending back information which would advance Peking's program to develop intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Radio Peking said the satellite was orbiting the earth normally. It reported that it could be seen with the naked eye today—weather permitting—from Peking; Shanghai; Taipei, the capital of Nationalist China; Urumchi, in northwest China, and Lhasa, Tibet.

The New China News Agency said that all day Saturday and Sunday "thousands upon thousands of people, carrying huge portraits of our great leader Chairman Mao and singing and dancing, streamed into streets and public squares from all directions for meetings and parades."

Protect Lord

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret's 8-year-old son Lord Linley was under Scotland Yard guard today after an informer's warning that there was a plot to kidnap him.

The tip was telephoned to newspapers by an anonymous caller who said the plan was to trade the young nobleman for the liberty of two gangsters who are in prison.

Linley shares a dormitory with four boys at Ashdown House, a school outside London. A school official confirmed that detectives were investigating a kidnap plot.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Rock Festival

POYNETTE, Wis. (AP) — Some of the girls and boys stripped naked and waded in a creek. A vacant farm house burned down. More than 150 persons were treated for minor injuries or misuse of drugs. But, said Sheriff Vernon Golz, "For the most part they've been very good."

Weekend attendance at the Poynette rock music festival was estimated at 20,000 Saturday and more than 20,000 Sunday. The crowd paid up to $12 a head for the camping, picnics, sunbathing and amplified music by about 40 rock groups.

Golz said the fire which burned the empty house apparently broke out accidentally in a festival patron's parked car. He added that there were fewer arrests than expected — "we took only about 15 into custody."

Golz said cooperation between patrons, festival sponsors and law enforcement patrols was excellent, partly because police stayed in the background as much as possible.

Sen. Scott's Vow

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott says he'll never again promise his vote to President Nixon for a nominee to the U. S. Supreme Court.

He said he voted for Judge G. Harrold Carswell because he had given his word to the President. "But I'll never give it again," the Pennslyvanian said Sunday.

Scott told the annual Black Political Forum dinner that he was reserving his attitude toward Nixon's latest nominee, Judge Harry A. Blackmun of Minnesota — "I'm going to see that FBI report on Blackmun if any senator sees it."

Scott told the audience of 1,200, some of whom jeered and heckled, that "without Hugh Scott in the Senate I don't know who will hold the line against the Southern strategy."

Lindy At Fair

TOKYO (SP) — Charles A. Lindbergh and his son Jon flew in Sunday night for a visit to Expo '70, which has on exhibition the single-engined seaplane "Sirius" which the elder Lindbergh and his wife flew to Japan in 1931.

Lindbergh, 67, and Jon, 37, were met at Haneda International Airport by Mrs. Lindbergh, who had arrived by air from Honolulu several hours earlier.

Portugal Bows

PORTUGAL (AP) -- The Portuguese government has decided, under British prodding to recall its consul-general in Salisbury.

The departure of Joao de Freitas Cruz, consul-general in Salisbury since 1964, will leave South Africa the only nation with full official representation in the Rhodesian capital.

But there was no indication that De Freitas' recall, prompted by British pressure after the Rhodesian government declared the territory a republic, would significantly alter the aid Portugal has given Rhodesia's ruling white minority. Portugal has facilitated the supply of oil and other items to Salisbury via Mozambique, the Portuguese colony between Rhodesia and the Indian Ocean.

Victim Freed

GUATEMALA (AP) — Kidnapers Sunday freed a rich Guatemalan businessman for whom they had demanded $250,000 ransom, an army spokesman disclosed.

The family of the kidnap victim, Rudy Weissenburg Martinez, had refused to talk to newsmen. But they were seen visiting banks in the town of Coatepeque, where Weissenburg was released, and were assumed to have gathered the ransom money.

Weissenburg, owner of coffee plantations, a textile plant and an exporting firm, was grabbed Thursday by men believed to be leftist revolutionaries.

Coatepeque is about 30 miles from the Mexican border.

Suffers Stroke

ATHENS (AP) — Deputy Premier Dimitrios Patilis suffered a stroke Sunday night and is in serious condition, the premier's office announced.

The 58-year-old retired general was a member of the military junta that seized power three years ago and was named second deputy premier for his part in thwarting King Constantine's counter-coup in December 1967.

Team Reports Sexual Hangup Cures

NEW YORK (UPI) — The sex study team of Masters and Johnson reported Sunday a high degree of success in curing sexual inadequacy in humans — specifically impotence in males and frigidity in women.

Dr. William H. Masters and Mrs. Virginia E. Johnson described the treatment in a new medical textbook, "Human Sexual Inadequacy" (Little, Brown and Co., $12.50). They said there was an urgent need for establishment of sex therapy training centers like theirs throughout the country because crippling sexual problems were widespread and destructive both of marriages and the overall social fabric.

The scientists based their new report on treatment of 448 men and 342 women during the past 11 years at their Reproductive Biology Research Foundation in St. Louis, Mo.

At the end of two weeks of "rapid therapy," they said, 80 per cent of the patients had overcome their problem — erecting failure or climactic prematurity among the males and nonorgasmic response or painful coitus among females.

Followups after five years, during which there was little if any additional treatment, revealed low "reversion rates" of zero to 11.1 per cent, depending on the type of sexual inadequacy.

This was in sharp contrast to results of psychoanalysis and related forms of psychotherapy generally prescribed, which take months, sometimes years, and have not achieved a high rate of success.

Masters and Mrs Johnson based their treatment on the findings reported in 1966 in their first book, "Human Sexual Response," which has sold more than 300,000 copies, detailed physiological measurements and other body data taken from couples engaged in sexual acts in their laboratory. Subjects for the two-week treatment were required to be "referred by an authority," such as a physician, psychologist, social worker or clergyman. Because a basic Masters-Johnson concept is that an inadequate sexual partner inevitably involves an adequate one in disturbing emotions, couples were treated as a "marital unit" with the healthy partner acting as a directed therapist.

The scientists also considered basic that each couple be treated by a male and female therapist because a woman can best interpret a female's sexuality and a man a male's sexuality.

On the first day the two therapists establish their subjects' "sexual value systems" through highly involved techniques of "history-taking." On day two there are exhaustive medical examinations to rule out organic and metabolic causes of sexual inadequacies.

On day three the "education" aimed at abolishing taboos and ignorance begins with a "round-table" discussion between the "marital" unit and therapists about flaws in their sexual value system.

Exercises in "sensate focus" are prescribed for the night.

Carried out in the nude and with ointments and perfume, they center on touch and feel and are only minimally sexual. Their purpose is to begin conditioning the "marital unit" into mutual responsibility for each other's pleasures and away from the "fear of failure" in sexual performance which causes failure.

On day four, they report to the therapists and, after discussion, modifications and additions to the exercises are prescribed for Night 4.

On day five the therapists begin prescribing entirely sexual exercises aimed at the specific inadequacies involved and this routine continues, with increasing specificity and intensity, except for every fourth day which is declared a holiday from physical sexual expression."

Masters and Johnson reported on 510 "marital units." They said in 287 of them only one of the partners — 171 husbands and 116 wives — was sexually inadequate.

Of the 448 inadequate males treated, 54 were unmarried, the scientists said. Thirteen provided their own "replacement partners" for therapy while the therapists supplied "partner surrogates" for the other 41.

Conceding that this ignored "the mores of society," the scientists offered the urgent therapeutic need of the patients as their justification.

Masters and Johnson said three of the women were motivated by "unresolved sexual tensions" of their own but most of the others had altruistic motivations.

Masters, 54, married and father of two, is professor of clinical obstetrics and gynecology at Washington University School of Medicine. Mrs. Johnson, 45, divorced and mother of two, was a candidate for a doctorate in the behaviorist school of psychology and Master's research assistant at the university, before becoming fulltime assistant director of the foundation at its establishment in 1964.

Snow Clogs Up Interstate 80

TRUCKEE (AP) — Interstate 80 was open today after a spring snow storm and accidents blocked traffic over the Sierra for 3½ hours Sunday.

More than 2,000 cars were backed up between 3:40 p.m. and 7 p.m. after winds gusting up to 80 m.p.h. and drifting snow caused many minor accidents.

Several semitrucks and trailers skidded and jacknifed across the main artery between Reno and San Francisco, delaying weekend skiers from returning home.

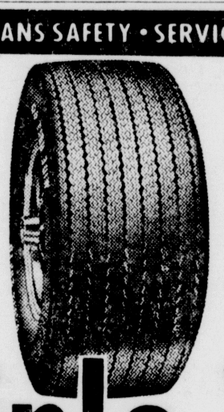

Chains were still required, and heavy snow showers were predicted today.

About 6 to 8 inches fell Sunday in the Truckee area, and 4 to 6 inches more was expected, with the snow level starting at 3,000 feet.

The Weather Bureau said driving problems should not be from snow depth but from poor visibility.

The Dominican Republic's capital, Santo Domingo, is the oldest European city in the Western Hemisphere. It was established in 1496 and its university, first in the Americas, was founded in 1538.

Queen Of Strippers, Gypsy Rose Lee, Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gypsy Rose Lee, the queen of burlesque who once said "bare flesh bores men," is dead of cancer at 56.

Miss Lee died Sunday at the University of California medical center, where she had been treated earlier this year. A spokesman said she was readmitted Sunday, but declined to give details.

A vaudeville performer from childhood and a tripper in her teens, she became a sensation in the Ziegfeld Follies of 1937, where she nightly tossed her garter belt into the orchestra pit.

GYPSY ROSE LEE

TEASE

Her stripping was more tease than strip, she said—"I never try to stir up the animal in 'em. Did you ever hold a piece of candy or a toy in front of a baby—just out of his reach? Notice how he laughs. That's your strip audience." She maintained the bare leg was less seductive than legs covered by black silk stockings.

She was born Rose Louise Hovick in Seattle, Wash., Jan. 9, 1914. At 3 she attended dancing school with her sister June, who took the name Havoc for stage and screen.

In recent years she had been busy in movies and television. In the late 60s she had a nationally syndicated television talk show.

The first of her several novels was "The G-string Murder Mystery," in which a stripper is strangled with her own G-string.

Gypsy was first married in 1937 in a water-taxi off Santa Monica, to Robert Mizzy, a dental-supply manufacturer. She had a son Eric by her second marriage, in 1942 to actor-producer Alexander Kirkland.

DIVORCE

Her third marriage, to artist Julia de Diego, ended in divorce in 1955. Gypsy declared, "No more husbands for me."

She explained: "I've nothing against men, but a woman like me, who's been in show business since she was 5, a breadwinner for 43 years, it's very difficult to put a husband and a home first in my scheme of things."

In 1965 Miss Lee had some glamorous pin-up photos made. She sent a set to son Eric, serving in Europe with the U.S. Army. He wrote her:

"Dear Mom: I pasted your new photos in my locker, but my commanding officer made me take them all down. . .I kept telling him, 'But, sir, these are pictures of my mother.' It did no good. I keep the pictures in my trunk."

Said Gypsy: "I could kiss that officer. I've never had such a compliment. And I'm old enough now to really appreciate it."

Film Veteran Anita Louise Dies At 55

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Anita Louise, an actress for 50 years and a noted partygiver in a town of partygivers, has died at 55.

She had a pre-Oscars party for 300 April 4 at her Holmby Hills house. Friends said she had complained of migraine headaches during the past week but hadn't seemed ill.

A doctor ordered sedation for a headache Saturday shortly before she died of a stroke, a family spokesman said.

In recent years Miss Louise, who retained a stately bearing and blonde good looks, had appeared on episodes of the "Mannix" and "Mod Squad" television series. She was a regular in the "My Friend Flicka" series of the 1950s.

She was born in New York and, as Anita Louise Fremault, became a professional model when she was 4. At 5 she made her first movie, "Sixth Commandment." She had leading roles by the age of 13.

Her 70-odd films included "Madame DuBarry," "The Firebird," "I Give My Love," "Midsummer Night's Dream," "Anthony Adverse," "The Story of Louis Pasteur," "Judge Priest" and "Marie Antoinette."

She was married for 20 years to Buddy Adler, production chief at 20th Century Fox Studios. Two years after his death in 1960 she married Henry Berger, a businessman.

Berger and two children, Melanie, 23, and Tony, 20, survive.

The funeral will be Tuesday at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale.

Tony Curtis Fined $120 On Marijuana

UXBRIDGE, England (AP) - American movie star Tony Curtis, who quit smoking tobaco several years ago, was fined $120 today for bringing marijuana into England.

The 44-year-old actor arrived at the Uxbridge Magistrate's Court in a maroon Bentley limousine, but his lawyer asked for time to raise the fine.

"You must not think that because Mr. Curtis is a leading international film star that he has plenty of money available," the lawyer told the court. "He like any other member of his profession has enormous taxes to pay which can create financial problems for him."

GIVEN A WEEK

The three magistrates gave Curtis a week to raise the money.

The fine was half the one levied by a British court in February against another movie headliner, Italian director Michelangelo Antonioni, on the same charge. The maximum penalty is 10 years in jail or a $2,400 fine, but British judges are usually lenient in marijuana cases.

A police source said Curtis had less than an ounce of marijuana on him. Antonioni had nine ounces.

Dressed in a neat gray business suit and yellow shirt, Curtis looked subdued as he pleaded guilty to the charge. His lawyer asked the magistrates to take into consideration "the tremendous strains and pressures" to which a star of Curtis' caliber was subjected. He also told the court the actor was a man of previous unimpeachable character.

BRIEF HEARING

Curtis was searched and arrested when he arrived with his wife at London Airport Sunday from New York to make a TV adventure series with Roger Moore, star of "The Saint." Curtis recently signed a $12 million contract for the program.

Jackie In U.S.

BOSTON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis says she and her children will divide the summer between Europe and the Kennedy compound at Hyannis Port on Cape Cod.

Mrs. Onassis arrived at Logan International Airport Sunday night to attend a meeting today of the John F. Kennedy Library Foundation.

She said she planned to fly to New York to meet her children after the library meeting and remain there with them until the school term ends in June.

Police Seek Clues In Capitol Explosion

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Police dogs sniffed the corridors of Louisiana's skyscraper Capitol today in search of clues to a bomber who blasted the marble Senate chamber into rubble with dynamite.

No one was injured.

Gov. John McKeithen called the Sunday night blast the work of a madman or a revolutionary.

Initial police searches of the building, its park-like grounds and interviews in neighboring homes turned up nothing.

Estimates of damage ranged from $50,000 by McKeithen to $500,000 by Senate Secretary William Roberts.

"It's just impossible to comprehend how anyone would want to damage a building like this," McKeithen said.

Police agreed that dynamite was the explosive agent. Fire Chief Edgar Lejeune ruled out failure of mechanical or electrical equipment. No fire was associated with the 9:36 p.m. explosion, he said.

Damage to the two-story chamber was general, but the main force was spent in the alcove occupied by the lieutenant governor and the Senate staff when the Senate is in session.

The blast demolished voting machines and data processing equipment. Gaping holes were blown in the thick marble-over-masonry wall in spots, and the marble was stripped off in other places.

The administration recently created a police force to guard the Captiol and its grounds.

McKeithen said the bombing would not delay the start May 11 of the 60-day legislative session.

If the Senate chamber is not repaired, senators could gather someplace else, he said.

The 34-story capitol was built while Huey Long was governor. It is open to tourists during the day and guides reported a heavy flow Sunday.

Radio Havana Says Exile Force Slain

MIAMI (AP) — Radio Havana said today that Cuba had destroyed a 13-man invasion force with every man killed or captured 10 days after the guerrillas landed.

The broadcast by Fidel Castro's official voice did not say how many of the guerrillas were killed and how many were still alive ,but reported: "Not one escaped and all the arms, the bullets and the equipment were seized."

None of the officials of Alpha 66, a militantly anti-Castro exile group in Miami which said last week it had landed a guerrilla force in Cuba, was available for comment.

Castro first announced April 19 that an invsaion force had landed on his island. In a communique over his own signature — an unusual move — the bearded prime minister said the landing party was composed of mercenaries who came to Cuba from the United States and were armed with guns of the "Yankee Army."

Alpha 66 countered that the guerrillas were Cuban peasants who had gone home to fight to liberate their homeland from communism.

The guerrillas put ashore April 17, Radio Havana said near Baracoa in Oriente Province on the eastern end of Cuba. Communist radio broadcasts, monitored in Miami, since then reported a seris of battles that trimmed the invasion force to only four men.

Major Port Of Trinidad Calm Again

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP) — Cricket players in pressed whites were in the city's parks. Sidewalk vendors sold green coconuts filled with sweet milk to strollers made thirsty by the warm sun. Men played darts and hoisted cold pints of beer in pubs during the "five o'clock swill."

Port of Spain was calm Sunday after a week of trouble.

A mutiny in the 720-man Trinidad-Tobago army collapsed Saturday. The rebel soldiers, holed up since Tuesday in the army's main base at Tetron Bay, handed over their arms.

The mutiny ended after negotiations between the rebels and the government of Prime Minister Eric Williams. Col. Jeffrey Serrette, a former commander of the army, was reappointed, and a special commission was established to investigate the circumstances of the mutiny.

The rebels released about 30 hostages they had held on the base since Tuesday.

The mutineers, who reportedly numbered around 50 officers and men, said they rebelled over leadership at the top. Col. Stanley Johnson, the army commander, resigned Friday while the negotiations were going on.

The soldiers attended a Requiem Mass on the base Sunday for the four persons killed since the crisis began last Tuesday with a Black Power riot through Port of Spain.

plomatic and political aid to Cambodia will be more effective than military aid in putting pressure on the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops to quit Cambodia territory.

In Phnom Penh, a South Vietnamese official announced Cambodia agreement to let South Vietnam extended assistance to Vietnamese nationals who want to return to Vietnam. A South Vietnamese repatriation mission will arrive in Phnom Penh shortly, the announcement said.

In the ground war, North Vietnamese troops have surrounded a mountaintop outpost north of the Plain of Jars in Laos, informed sources said Monday. They said the enemy was slowly drawing closer to the Bouam Long outpost, 40 miles north of the plain.

The garrison of several hundred Meo tribesmen and their families have been under siege for several weeks, receiving supplies by Air America parachute drops. The tribesmen are the backbone of the Laotian government forces.

There is no evidence, however, of a new North Vietnamese offensive against Sam Thong and Long Cheng bases, southeast of the enemy-held Plain of Jars.

The U. S. Command in Saigon reported the loss of a four-engine gunship over southern Laos — the first AC130 gunship shot down in the war. The AC130 is the gunship version of the C130 cargo plane used to haul troops and war materiels.

A U. S. Army helicopter also was lost near the besieged Dak Seang Special Forces camp, seven miles from the Laotian border in South Vietnam. Ten Americans were killed, four are missing and one was rescued.

U. S. headquarters also said 17 enemy rocket and mortar attacks occurred in the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. Monday. Two Americans were killed and 14 wounded.

In ground action, four men from the 25th Infantry Division were killed and 12 wounded when North Vietnamese sappers blasted their way into an American artillery base 45 miles northwest of Saigon. The 10 to 15 enemy troops fired rocket grenades and hurled dynamite bombs as they entered the base under cover of a mortar barrage. One of the enemy sappers was reported killed.

South Vietnamese headquarters said one Vietnamese was killed and 51 wounded by three times bombs in Qui Nhon City, 263 miles northeast of Saigon. The bombs went off within minutes of each other in a theater, a beverage shop and a guard post.

Girl's Marijuana Case Referred

The case of Mary Kathryn Curtis, 19, of Fairfax, has been referred to probation officers to determine whether it will be accepted by Marin Juvenile Court. She is accused of possessing and cultivating marijuana at her home Monday.

The case of her brother, George Francis Curtis, 22, was continued to Friday for entry of plea in municipal court. He is accused of the same felony offenses.

Miss Curtis is to return to court May 8.

Fairfax Fireman Hurt In Wreck

A Fairfax fireman was injured Saturday when his motorcycle collided with an auto driven by Julia Hobson, 61, of Rail-Road Flat, Calaveras County, at the intersection of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Oak Manor Drive, Fairfax, police reported today.

Herbert A. Lando, 23, was treated at Marin General Hospital for painful knees and elbows.

Mrs. Hobson was cited by police for failing to yield the right-of-way to Lando when she turned left onto Drake from Oak Manor Drive.

she said, "I really don't know."

Kuechler acknowledged that the buyers know the ranch is in the Seashore area. "But there is no assurance that the government will ever take it," added Kuechler. "The Sweets have been trying to dispose of it to the government since 1962, but until today, the government has not evidenced any concrete interest in its purchase."

Earlier this month, President Richard M. Nixon signed into law congressional authorization to spend another $38.3 million for land acquisition at the national seashore.

The original $19 million authorized has been expended and of the 54,000 acres originally designated for the seashore, almost 31,000 still remain in private ownership.

Nixon said he will ask for a $7.5 million appropriation to begin the additional acquisition this fiscal year.

Documents in the county recorder's office show the parcels are selling for $2,000 to $3,590 per acre, whereas the county assessor's market value appraisal for 1969-70 fiscal year averaged $470 per acre for the entire 2,467 acres of the Lake Ranch.

The Lake Ranch is within the county's agricultural preserve area, but it is not under contract as such and therefore not restricted to agricultural use.

Shoplifters Flee After Hitting Guard

A security guard at Macy's in San Rafael reported to San Rafael police she was struck and scratched Friday by two women shoplifters she tried to stop outside the store.

The guard, Chris Hatton, told police the women, aged 33 to 35 and well dressed, fled with $235 worth of merchandise in a white Mustang driven by an unidentified man who picked the pair up at the corner of Lootens Place and Fourth Avenue.

One of the women was observed by the guard in the store's dressing room at 4 p.m. wearing bloomers with a pocket, a type of garment usually worn by shoplifters, police said. The guard reported seeing the other woman place store articles in a paper sack.

When she tried to stop the women near Lootens Place, one of the women struck her in the mouth and the other scratched her arm, she told police.

Sausalito Store Hit By Burglars

Three men driving a white Mustang entered Gemini, a Sausalito clothing store at 14 Princess Street, about 7 a.m. today and escaped with much of the store's leather goods, including jackets and vests, according to Gemini co-owner Jean Sorf, who was unable to estimate the extent of loss.

Witnesses to the burglary said the men, all young, threw a rock through the store's glass Dutch door to gain entrance. Police were summoned and, in their hurry to flee, the men dropped many items into the street, witnesses said.

A Sausalito man, who was not identified, followed the car and obtained its license number, which was turned over to Sausalito police, who had no information available.

feels that the United States "has an overriding interest in how a possible Communist takeover of Cambodia would affect our troops in Vietnam and the Vietnamization program."

The White House statement followed one Friday by Ziegler characterizing the Communist force in Cambodia as a "foreign invasion."

Ziegler had no response when asked by reporters if the United States would support a return to power of Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the Cambodian leader who was ousted last month while he was on a visit to the Soviet Union.

Ziegler acknowledged that the United States had been in communication with several other governments which Cambodia also has asked for military assistance.

Ziegler said that among those participating in conferences with Nixon on Cambodia were Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's national security adviser.

ly were orbiting in a bunch, with a high point of 932 miles, a low point of 869 miles and an angle to the equator of 74 degrees.

The oval-shaped orbit of the Chinese satellite has a high point of 1,480 miles, a low of 273 miles and an angle to the equator of 68.5 degrees.

Some previous Cosmos launchings have carried two, three and five satellites on one rocket, but this was the first to carry eight. A total of 15 unmanned Cosmos satellites have been launched by the Russians this month — also a record.

The largest previous multiple launchings, with five satellites each, were made in July and September 1965. Altogether there were three such launchings, two of them in September. Dual and triple launchings had taken place during the preceding year.

There was no indication why multiple launching had been revived after a nearly five-year lapse. The purpose of the earlier multiple shots was never specified.

Kentfield Fire Team Is Fourth

The Kentfield Fire Department pumper-hookup team placed fourth among eight teams during the annual Rural Fire Association conference at San Diego Saturday.

Their time was 1:42, just 24 seconds off their best practice time and 34 seconds off the state record for laying out 450 feet of hose and getting the pumper started.

It was the first Marin County team to participate in the annual event and Kentfield's second try against statewide competition.

Members of the team were Robert Mariani, Robert Bettencourt, William Morris, William Zahn, and William Partridge.

Prison Ordered For Burglary

Morlin Smith, 22, of Marin City, who has a long criminal record, has been sentenced to state prison for a term of one to 15 years for second degree burglary.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court sent Smith to prison on the recommendation of probation department and officials at the State Medical Facility at Vacaville.

Smith had been convicted by a jury of burglarizing a Larkspur residence on Sept. 30. A co-defendant, Donald Ray Turner, 20, also of Marin City, was ordered to jail for 10 months, and another Marin City youth, Kenny Ray White, 18, was committed to the California Youth Authority.

A caravan loaded with garden cuttings and other debris slowly moves down Novato's Rowland Boulevard on the way to the county dump. More than 360 cubic yards of debris were collected over the weekend in the spring cleanup campaign conducted at Rowland and South Novato Boulevard. Next Saturday will be the last day in the campaign, according to committee chairman Gordon L. Lee. Court Will Hear Abortion Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to hear arguments on the constitutionality of the District of Columbia's abortion law.

The Justice Department had appealed to the high court when the law was nullified by a federal judge here. The review could seal the fate of abortion laws across the land.

The local law had prohibited abortions except when "necessary for the preservation of the mother's health."

The hearing will be held next fall.

Last November, U.S. Dist. Judge Gerhard A. Gesell said the law was invalid because the word "health" was not defined. That is, he reasoned, physicians could not know what they could do legally and what they were forbidden to do.

The Justice Department, in appealing, said the ruling freed all licensed physicians in the capital to perform abortions on pregnant women for any reason.

Thirty-six states have abortion laws but they are not all alike.

Several states are in the process of liberalizing their laws or have already done so.

In granting a hearing, the high court left itself room to decide afterward that it has no jurisdiction over abortion laws. It did this by postponing consideration of the question of jurisdiction until after the case is heard.

In other actions today, the court:

—Noted that Justice William O. Douglas, who is the target of an impeachment move in the House, had removed himself from two obscenity cases and a libel dispute, giving no reason for his action.

—Upheld an Oklahoma Indian's will that failed to name his illegitimate daughter in disposing of his $34,865 estate. The will had been voided by the Interior Department but the court reinstated it.

—Agreed to decide whether the three million federal workers may be required to swear that they would not strike.

Thriving Tiburon Marijuana Plot Found; Boy Held

A 14-year-old Tiburon youth with a green thumb was booked into juvenile hall Friday on suspicion of farming what one deputy sheriff called the biggest marijuana garden he had ever seen.

Kurt Allsman of 4071 Paradise Drive was arrested by deputy sheriff John Goff as the youth was busily tending his 300-plant patch located on a hill above his house.

Goff said it was the most "beautiful patch I've ever seen — also the biggest." Goff added that it took two sheriff's cars to haul away the weeds.

"We had been watching the patch for two days, after one of my informants tipped me to its location," Goff said. "He had fertilizer up there and was watering the plants from gallon cans."

Goff said the youth also had 15 marijuana cigarettes and a suspected packet of the weed in his possession.

Robert Mercer Taliaferro Hunter of Virginia, at 30, was the youngest man to become speaker of the House of Representatives.

Explorers Seek Waste Paper To Preserve Trees

In an effort to save trees from the lumberman's ax, a group of San Rafael Explorers is collecting newspapers to be reprocessed for reuse.

The drive, which will end May 15, is being conducted by the 18 members of Explorer Post 57, a group sponsored by the San Rafael Kiwanis Club.

Stephen F. Gifford said, "a ton of reprocessed newspaper saves 17 trees from being cut down."

Marin residents may bring old newspapers tied in 25-pound packets to the following locations during business hours: United Markets at Third Street and Grand Avenue, San Rafael, and 100 Redhill Road, San Anselmo; Ray's Office Machinery, 1209 Third Street; Poehlmann Pharmacy, 1430 Fourth Street, and San Rafael Animal Hospital, 419 Irwin Street, all in San Rafael, and Servi-Soft, 40 Paul Drive, Northgate Industrial Center.

Councilmen Face Novato Echoes

Two new members of the Novato City Council will have to hear appeals from their action while sitting on the planning commission when the council meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Novato Community House.

The new councilmen, F. Wayne Sartain and George C. Quesada, were on the planning commission when it denied a commercial rezoning on Highway 101 and De Long Avenue, off-site signing for the Bahia development by the Hofman Co. and removal of a tree in back of the Tower of Pizza.

Other items on the agenda include condemnation proceedings to extend Arthur Street to Indian Valley Road, a report on the downtown study, sharing animal control costs with Marin County and filling vacancies left by Sartain and Quesada on the planning commission and one on the beautification committee.

Soldiers Attack Piles Of Garbage

PARIS (UPI) — Army troops called in by the government during the weekend cleared away the worst of the piles of garbage left in a garbage collectors' strike.

"We are making progress in our talks with the garbagemen," a city official said. "Even if they don't go back to work right away the army will take care of it."

High Court Refuses To Halt Alioto Suit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court refused today to block a jury trial in the $12.5 million libel suit brought by San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto against Look magazine.

The U.S. 9th Circuit Court of Appeals on March 20 denied the petition of Cowles Communications, Inc., for a summary judgement in its favor. Cowles then appealed to the Supreme Court.

The trial began last Monday.

The magazine of Sept. 23, 1969 published an article that purported to detail links between Alioto and the Mafia. The mayor said the dispatch was false, scandalous, and defamatory libel, and that the publishers knew it.

Look, he contended, was under pressure from its bankers to improve its circulation, advertising income, and profits, and chose a reckless policy of sensationalism to accomplish this.

The magazine argued that the lower court's refusal to grant a summary judgement has had an adverse effect on the constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech and the press. Fear of the enormous expense involved in prolonged litigation could make publications hesitant to comment on the activities and associations of a public official, it said.

The Supreme Court has held that a public official cannot collect damages for statements made about his official conduct unless he can show malice. Look argued that the lower courts disregarded the principles established in that decision.

Panels To Eye Center's Use

Two committees have been appointed by the Bolinas Community Inc. board to study proposals for the future use of the Bolinas Community Center, Capt. David Edwards ,secretary of the group, reported.

Some members of the group have urged that the building be sold because of rising taxes, insurance and upkeep costs.

Various proposals were discussed at a meeting Friday, including one that the center be taken over by the Bolinas-Stinson School District .

One of the committees will study various proposals for the future use of the building by public bodies. The other will study the possibility of reorganizing Bolinas Community Inc. into a tax-exempt organization.

Discussion of the center will continue at the group's next meeting at 8 p.m. May 29.

Where Inflation's Rampant: State Government Spending

If you want to know where inflation really has run rampant, the answer is in a table of figures published by the California Taxpayers Association in the April issue of Cal-Tax News.

The budget for the biennium 1937-39 was just over $439 million. The actual spending for the two years was $528 million.

The last budget on the table is that for the single fiscal year of 1966, totaling $3.67 billion.

But Gov. Ronald Reagan's proposed budget for fiscal 1971 is almost twice that much. It calls for $6.48 billion.

OF COURSE, the population has grown tremendously in the same period. It was just under seven million in the 1940 census, and now is over 20 million. That means it has about tripled in 30 years. The budget for the 1939-41 biennium was $468 million, or $234 million a year. The $6.48 billion budget proposed for fiscal 1971 is about 30 times that.

In other words, the rate of increase in state government spending is about 10 times the rate of increase in population.

ONE THING has not changed over the years, though: The state usually spends more than is contained in the budget the governor approves.

Generally, it works like this: The legislature chops a few millions out of the budget submitted by the governor. Sometimes the legislature puts in some other money and the governor, in turn, cuts some of it out.

But then occurs what the California Taxpayers Association lists as "legislative and miscellaneous changes." These customarily raise the actual money authorized well above what the governor's budget was in the first place. And even though not all of it is spent, the state's spending in most cases exceeds the approved budget by many millions of dollars.

THIS TAKES PLACE largely because of a habit of legislators of introducing bills calling for new bureaus, new studies, etc., etc., which are not included in the budget.

Sometimes the bills call for a definite appropriation from a definite fund — but there may not be money for all the things that fund is to finance. Sometimes they call for a definite amount without specifying the source. Sometimes they just call for an unspecified appropriation.

Those in the last category usually wind up waiting at least a year to be funded. But many in the first two categories are passed and funded in blithe disregard of the budget. And once having been set up, they rarely go away, so the next year's budget must reflect them.

It's a charming habit of the legislature. And it helps explain why the costs of state government go up 10 times faster than the population.

The Monarchs' Secret

For years scientists have observed that Monarch butterflies are avoided by some birds as if they were poison. Numerous theories have been evolved to explain why. Two favorites were that monarchs tasted bitter (disproved by a fellow who tried one and said no, they taste like dry toast) or that the black and orange pattern of the monarch's wing was in some unexplained way repulsive to the birds.

Recent research has shown that monarchs store deadly amounts of heart poisons in their body tissues. These poisons are found in the milkweed sap or latex on which the monarch feeds during its caterpillar stage. These are carried in its tissues through the pupal stage to the adult and are strong enough to produce violent vomiting in crows and other bird predators. Once poisoned, the monarchs' bright colors and distinct scent remind these birds that monarch-eating is folly.

Birds avoid monarchs as though they were poison simply because they are.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Public Utilities Commission Revamped By Proposition 3

This is the third of a series of stories on the eight propi-of stories on the eight propositions to be voted on June 2, at the primary elections. Others will follow.)

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Proposition 3 is another of the proposed revisions of the state constitution, being submitted this year in a piecemeal fashion after the complete package was defeated by the electorate.

Proposition 3 deals primarily with the state Public Utilities Commission, the constitutional body responsible for regulating railroads and other forms of trasnportation, gas and electricity suppliers, water companies.

THE CONSTITUTION fixes membership on the commission at five, appointed by the governor and subject to approval by the state Senate.

The proposed revision would confer on the legislature the right to set the number of commissioners and to fix districts from which the appointments are made. In other words, if this authority is granted, there would be no prospect of one section of the state dominating the decisions of the commission.

Also, the new wording of the proposition gives the state legislature the power to confer on the commission any jurisdiction, legislative, executive and judicial power which is germane to the regulation of public utilities.

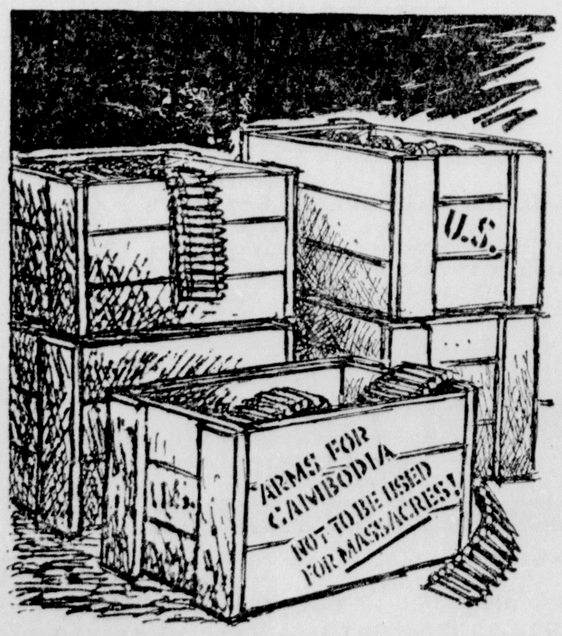

Arguments in favor of passage of Proposition 3 are presented by Assemblyman Robert E. Badham, R-Newport Beach, and Sen. George E. Danielson, D-Los Angeles. They point out also that it deletes the provisions of the constitution governing corporate organizations, because they are more effectively covered by statute.

ASSEMBLYMAN John J. Miller, D-Berkeley, gives the argument against the proposition. He says the change would "delete present grants of authority to the Public Utilities Commission to regulate rates of transportation companies, and delete powers of the commission to examine books and records of the companies they regulate."

Because there is now provision in the statutes, that in the constitution prohibiting transportation companies from granting free passes or ticket discounts to public officeholders and providing forfeiture of office for acceptance of such passes, would be deleted from the constitution under the new proposal.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Reader Proposes A List Of 'Dos'

As a fervent opponent of those who advocate "don't" for real or imaginary ills of the world, I am for a positive "do." The subject I am now concerned with is one that is near and dear to the heart of the Independent-Journal. Namely, the present strike.

Do use your paper to advise your readers of the present laws, and their ultimate effect on free enterprise. Become an old-fashioned pioneer type newspaper with a cause.

Do stress and not understate the lawlessness and destruction by the members of the union who are causing bodily injuries and property damages. All of this combined with the illegal practice of the use of the secondary boycott.

Do use your circulation for the advocation of new laws to protect pricate enterprise (yours and ours) against the now biased ones for the unions. The little knowledge I have on this subject pertains to the necessity of applying to the court for relief by the use of an injunction. This can mean attorney fees and a wait of several months. Relief is needed now (as of yesterday). When a union agreement is signed, employees should have the right to strike if their gripe is legitimate. But on the other side of the coin, the union must be held responsible both legally and financially for its members.

Do use the above mentioned ideas and you will find there are many free advocating people that will applaud your stand.

Column Misleading About Insurance

Your issue of April 13, contained an article under the heading "Smart Shopper", the contents of which prompts me to criticize your allowing it to be printed. This is the type of article which grossly misleads the American public of the reasons for, and the uses of, life insurance.

Granted there is the rare and unusual case, as in every business, of the life insurance agent who intentionally misleads or pressures a person into buying life insurance. It is also this rare and unusual agent who attempts to make a comparison of life insurance with other uses and forms of the consumer dollar, such as any type or form of "investment."

However, the average life insurance agent knows and never attempts to make comparisons as such, that life insurance is the best means of "making money"...

Mr. Arthur E. Rowse, the author of the article, is apparently woefully uninformed on life insurance...If he wanted to compare life insurance as an investment, where could a man find a better "investment" than life insurance if he makes one monthly premium payment of say $25, dies that night, and the next day his estate is richer by $100,000?...

Richardson Bay Plan A Precedent

The editorial "An Astonishing Criticism of Richardson Bay Plan" in the 20 April issue of the I-J misses the heart of the matter and could mislead the majority of your readers.

The important point is that the county plan would permit the filing of a part of San Francisco Bay by 40 per cent. The people of the Bay Area in their support of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission and the San Francisco Bay Plan have clearly indicated their opposition to the filling of any part of the bay except for certain specified purposes and where no alternative is available. The county plan includes more purposes than are specified and overlooks available alternatives. As you say, it needs modification.

An approval of the plan now before the commission would create a precedent having an erosive effect on the overall bay plan, and that is a result to be shunned.

Board Members Entitled To Credit

School board members at any time deserve the thanks of their fellow citizens for the energy and time they devote to public service. Special credit is due, I think, to members of the Reed Union District board who have had to conduct their business in a crossfire of hostile reaction to inherited problems.

The three new members, especially, have been subjected to repeated abuse from an irresponsible few who use the strategy of personal attack in place of cogent argument concerning educational issues. Gordon Wright, for daring to ask pertinent questions and for facing the facts implied in the answers, has come under particularly vicious attack, verging on attempted character assassination. Yet he continues to meet his responsibility with the courage, integrity and intelligence for which he was elected.

Contrary to the sinister image which some try to project, all of our board members are approachable and responsive to rational expressions of opinion. It is not necessary to agree with them on every count to recognize and appreciate the public service they perform as they attempt a difficult job in difficult times.

I am a member of the Redwood High School track team. I would like to ask the pickets who are picketing our home meets to please discontinue doing it. I dislike having a clean long hair cutting down the principles of the coaching staff. I for one would like to see the pickets drop their signs and take pen in hand and write or even talk to Mr. Robert Torrey or his replacement about student rights.

Having flag wavers and pickets at our meets are accomplishing nothing. Please stop degrading yourselves and the good members of my team.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A Wall Street sage points out that when a 3-year-old becomes uncontrollable, and destroys things, it's called a temper tantrum. But when an 18-year-old rebel does it, it's called "justified demonstration against the establishment."

Francis Golden tells about a conscientious doctor who tiptoed carefully through the children's ward of a hospital late one night, fearful of awakening any of his ailing young patients. On the bed of the lad nearest the wall on the far side of the ward he spotted an opened box of chocolates and impulsively helped himself to a couple.

The next afternoon the doctor had occasion to revisit the children's ward. No sooner had he appeared, than the voice of the youngster in that farthest bed rang through the room. "There he is, Mom!" cried the boy. "There's the doctor who swiped my candy!"

Nixon Sounds Too Confident In Report On Vietnam War

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — One thing President Nixon said in his Vietnam report took us aback.

It's not that things are going badly in Vietnam either for the United States or for the South Vietnamese. They are going quite well.

Our concern arises from the President's contributing to an exaggerated optimism that we are going to win the war and that a "just peace" is virtually certain.

These things may be true. They may be forthcoming. But since they cannot yet be proved to be true, it seems at best imprudent for Mr. Nixon to affirm them publicly. At worst such advance assurances of good things which may not come could begin to erode the President's credibility which to date is deservedly high.

HERE'S WHAT President Nixon said:

"The decision I have announced tonight (to withdraw 150,000 more U. S. troops in the next 12 months) means that we finally have in sight the just peace we are seeking. We can now say with confidence that pacification is succeeding. We can now say with confidence that the South Vietnamese can develop the capability for their own defense, and we can now say with confidence that all American combat forces can and will be withdrawn."

We welcome the confident tone of the President's address. But we shudder at what seems to us to be overconfident forecasts.

WE ARE NOT suggesting that there is no good basis for such optimism. There is a considerable basis for it. The findings of Mr. Nixon's own intelligence sources are supported by independent reports.

One of the most impressive is from the Institute of Strategic Studies in London, which the Washington Post recently reported as finding that "the North Vietnamese suffered such extensive losses that they have been obliged to abandon plans for victory through assault on the cities and to resign themselves to a policy of 'protracted war.' "

The institute report also said:

"The enormous losses incurred by the North Vietnamese units during their major offensives . . . destroyed the elite of North Vietnam's army. That army showed little sign of recovery during 1969."

Another independent judgment supporting the President's view comes from a just-completed fact-finding mission to Southeast Asia undertaken privately by representatives of the U. S. Citizens Committee for Peace with Freedom in Vietnam, whose organizing chairman is former Sen. Paul Douglas. They found that Vietnamization is going well, that pacification is making notable hearway, and that the morale of the South Vietnamese forces is high.

We cite this evidence to show that the President has a substantial basis for confidence.

BUT CAN ANYONE say with certainty that even these welcome developments mean that we finally have a "just peace in sight"? Or that the South Vietnamese can certainly defend themselves successfully after U. S. combat troops are withdrawn?

There is yet no conclusive evidence that "peace" is in sight, let alone a "just peace."

Is there any tangible evidence yet that Hanoi intends to negotiate any settlement, let alone a settlement we would consider "just"?

THE WITHDRAWAL of all U. S. combat troops could mean "peace" for the United States but it would not assure peace for South Vietnam if Hanoi remains committed to protracted war.

We believe President Nixon is handling Vietnam with skill and care and wisdom.

We also believe that there are still great uncertainties ahead and that the nation will be better prepared to support the President — as he deserves to be supported — by keeping these uncertainties in mind. Presidential confidence is good. Overconfident forecasts are not.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Drastic Pruning Foreseen For Foreign Aid Budget

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — There are strong indications that President Nixon's $2.2 billion foreign aid budget is headed for drastic pruning.

The House appropriations subcommittee considering this legislation is in the process of slashing it by as much as $1 billion — which would constitute a new record low. That's the avowed intent of Rep. Otto Passman, D-La., chairman, and he usually has his way.

For the current budget, the House and Senate finally agreed on $1.815 billion after months of wrangling. The House had voted $1.6 billion; the Senate slightly more than $2 billion. Outgoing President Johnson had asked for $2.7 billion.

THIS YEAR President Nixon, in the hope of placating steadily mounting congressional opposition to large-scale foreign aid spending, proposed a $2.2 billion budget. But from the backstage trend in Passman's subcommittee it would appear President Nixon's expectations aren't panning out.

The widespread clamor for economy, balancing the budget and the highly uncertain congressional elections are combining to make foreign aid spending more unpopular than ever — and it has been consistently losing public support for a long time.

PRINCIPAL BASE of Passman's drive to hack $1 billion from the foreign aid budget are three arguments:

1. That the actual overall total for "new requests for foreign assistance" for the fiscal year starting July 1 is a stupendous $12.133 billion — and not merely $2.2 billion. The latter is only one item in a long list of proposed foreign aid expenditures scattered through the President's full budget.

2. Approximately $20 billion "in accumulated unexpended funds voted by Congress in prior years" is piled up in the various government agencies engaged in foreign aid spending.

3. Some 50 per cent of the $375 billion national debt represents money borrowed by the Treasury to be dispersed abroad in grants and loans. Overall cost of foreign aid from 1946 through fiscal 1970 is in excess of $190 billion — including the interest on the borrowed funds.

MORE THAN $24 million in U.S. foreign aid has been given a foreign country whose ships have carried cargoes to North Vietnam and Cuba — despite explicit legal prohibition against that.

The country is Somalia, on the east coast of Africa, with a population of about 2.7 million.

In 1969 Somalia received $2.5 mission in U.S. aid. This year it is getting $2.5 million. And it is earmarked for another $2 million in the fiscal year starting July 1.

That's the charge of Sen. Harry Byrd Jr., D-Va. — and it's admitted by the State Department.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

That Political Sign Ordinance Looks Like Exercise In Futility

Pity the poor guy who has to enforce the county's new ordinance on political advertising.

The wording appears simple and straightforward enough: You are allowed "one sign not exceeding 12 square feet located by an individual on his own residence or place of business." The signs may be "displayed not more than 45 days before or more than 10 days after, the conclusion of the political campaign . . ."

The aim was simply to prevent huge signs from littering the hillsides and roadsides of the county.

BUT TRY ENFORCING the letter of the law, and you've got quite a slippery problem.

Suppose you find signs marring the pastoral hillside of a dairy ranch. You remind the owner the sign must be "on his residence or place of business," not out on the beautiful hillside.

The farmer calls for time to consult his lawyer, and in due time you are politely informed that the dairyman considers his entire hillside his "place of business."

YOU DECIDE to pick on another violator — the one with gaudy signs cluttering his front lawn. You inform the owner his signs must be "on his residence," not in front of or to the side of his residence.

Next time you return for a re-check, you find the man has pitched a tent on the front lawn, and has political signs plastered all over the tent. "That's my summer residence," he crows happily.

He's a clever customer all right, but you're determined to get the last laugh. So you lodge a protest with the county counsel, charging the homeowner with erecting a summer residence without a permit.

By the time you get all papers filed and send a cameraman to get evidence of the tent, you find the tent gone, and a treehouse built in the large oak out front. The tree house is plastered with political signs. Would a tree house be considered a residence?

All in all it's a losing battle. By the time you've located the responsible person, filed complaints in triplicate, got a dozen legal interpretations, and then got a court order to remove the sign, the election is long since over.

IT'S EVEN difficult to enforce that 45-day limitation on display of signs. Assume that 55 days before an election a candidate begins posting his signs. You order him to stop and read him the law: "Not more than 45 days before the conclusion of the political campaign."

"Well," says the candidate. "I'm starting early and will conclude my campaign in 45 days, 10 days before election day."

Forcing sign removal after an election is just plain impossible. You can't charge the candidate for every sign left standing. He can disclaim any responsibility for putting them up, and you can't prosecute him. If you could, then enemies of each candidate would have field day, putting up an opponent's sign 11 days after an election.

SO WHEN it comes to political signs, we'll probably have to accept them as temporary blights on the natural landscape. The only thing that has any change of regulation is the size restriction.

And all of this applies only in unincorporated areas. Each city has its own restrictions or non-restrictions on political signs.

Of course, there is the state law covering signs along highways.

We Meet Our Armageddon -And It's In The Nursery

As a doomsday prophet I'm a flop. Even at the crest of the nuclear war scare a few years ago, I couldn't rouse myself sufficiently to join the ranks of professional mourners who were gloomily forecasting the imminent destruction of this old, abused, misused and sadly unappreciated planet of ours and its passengers.

I tried. I tried but could never believe we would go the way of the brontosaurus and the saber-tooth tiger. I think our tenacity for survival compares favorably with that of the ant, the bacterium and the cockroach.

HISTORY DOESN'T have too much to tell us, but one bit of intelligence gleaned from its turbulent tale is that man seems to have a remarkable ability to survive in a hostile environment—even the awesome ones of his own making.

Any creature that can wriggle its way past such natural hazards as ice ages, earthquakes, floods and pestilence and still continue to multiply while snapping madly at its own sides should not be taken lightly.

Perhaps one reason I couldn't get too wrought up over the prospect of a possible nuclear holocaust is that I didn't rate it the primary problem of our times nor as frightening as the one that out-horrors all the other real and imagined devastations — people. More precisely, the people-plosion.

I'M A PEOPLE lover—little people. I've been guilty of surreptitiously bouncing babies on my knee when their mothers weren't looking. I admit my guilt, but I'd like to explain. You see, I feel for the little buggers. Knowing what they have to face, I wouldn't be in their diapers for the world—such as it is. So despite my penchant for tickling toddlers, I must say it like it is. We must begin limiting the kiddie crop.

Sounds simple, doesn't it? Well it isn't. Limiting births is as tangled a problem as to wade through as a tropical mangrove swamp. Any such suggestion sends shock waves into political and religious camps enough to make most people, politicians in particular, take up soft shoe dancing.

An Einsteinian intelligence isn't essential to recognize the problem, but it takes a high sense of responsibility to grapple with it. One of the paradoxes is that those intelligent enough to conduct their own affairs responsibly are overwhelmed by the barnyard breeders who most need birth control. This may be what moved one sage to say that civilizations breed from the bottom and die from the top.

I CONTEND that population growth has reached such proportions that it is the great central issue of this century. Whether we cope with it or not will determine if there's a future for man; how we cope with it will determine the course of that future.

The man who planted the first grain seeds had no concept of the monumental impact his simple act would have on mankind. Nor did the inventor of the compass realize the effect his rude instrument would have on the course of history. We, however, have a distinct advantage. We can, consciously and with keen awareness, approach the problem of birth control with full recognition that our decisions will change the world. And depending on the wisdom and courage applied, these decisions will dictate whether man will direct himself toward enlightenment and emancipation, or toward a maggot breeding bin which will reduce the toddlers of today, and those of the future, to slavish bits of pressing humanity stripped of freedom, dignity and humanness.

Comes now the Armageddon of the Nursery, and the truism of the philosophic Pogo rings out, "We have met the enemy and they is us!"

Narcotics Hearing Set For Hub Youth

A preliminary hearing has been set for Thursday in Marin Municipal Court for Michael Albert Jacinth, 21, of San Anselmo, charged with narcotics offenses stemming from a San Anselmo raid last Wednesday night.

Jacinth is accused of possessing marijuana, being under the influence of heroin and having a syringe.

Novato Planners Due Tract Map, Bank Permit

A tentative map of Rancho Village Unit 10 of 37 lots on 12 acres will be considered by the Novato Planning Commission at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

Crown Development Co. has submitted plans for the subdivision adjacent to Rancho School north of Arthur Street.

Eugene D. McGillicuddy applied for a use permit to construct a Bank of America branch at the northwest corner of Grant Avenue and Sixth Street. Although the property is in the commercial zone, the city is requiring use permits in the region until completion of the downtown study in July.

Other items to go before the commission include a use permit for Harry Simon to relocate Harry's Billiard Parlor from 1062 Machin Avenue to 850 Grant Avenue; an application for a variance by Richard E. Oliver for an attached patio cover within 13 feet of the rear property line where 25 feet is required, and a sign variance for David Young for a free standing sign for Young Brothers mobile home sales on Highway 101 north of Olive Avenue.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, April 27, the 117th day of 1970 with 248 to follow.

The moon is between its full stage and last quarter. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1850 the steamship "Atlantic" became the first American ship to challenge the British Trans-Atlantic passenger service.

In 1906 U.S. Steel Corp. began the construction of Gary, Ind.

A thought for the day: British novelist William Thackeray said, "Mother is the name for God in the lips and hearts of little children."

New System Of Lost Dog Data

A new lost animal information system has been started by the Marin County Humane Society in Novato.

Each day a tape recording will be made describing stray animals picked up the previous 24 hours. A person calling a special number of the humane society after 5 p.m. any day will be connected to the recording.

The society may pick up more than one dog fitting the same description, so a visit to the animal shelter should be made for positive identification. The telephone number may by obtained by calling the society.

JACK OF HEARTS

West led the jack of hearts, covered by the queen, king and ace. South then tried a finesse with the jack of clubs, losing to the queen.

Back came the eight of hearts, covered by the nine and won by the ten. West looked doubtfully at his 6-3 of hearts and switched to the queen of spades.

This was better than leading the treee of hearts but was still a fatal move. South won with the king of spades and led the ten of clubs. West, still fearful of the hearts, took the ace of clubs and got out safely with a club.

CAUGHT IN END PLAY

Declarer took dummy's clubs, discarding a diamond from his hadn. West likewise discarded a diamond since it was clearly dangerous to part with a spade or a heart. Reading the position, South took the top diamonds, cashed the seven of hearts and put West in with the six of hearts.

Poor West, reduced to the J-5 of spades had to yield a trick to dummy's ten of spades. That was game and rubber for South.

TANGLED MESS

West got himself into this complicated mess because he didn't know that a three is higher than a deuce. eWst should have returned the six of hearts after winning the third trick with the ten of hearts. South would win with the seven, but then West's last heart would be th ethree, and South's last heart would be the deuce.

On taking the ace of clubs, West would cash his three of hearts and get out safely. With four tricks in, the defenders could sit back and wait for a spad eor a diamond to defeat the contract.

Senior Citizens' Tax Forms Ready

Claim forms for 1970 senior citizens property tax assistance probably will be mailed Friday according to Martin Huff, executive officer of the state franchise tax board.

Last year, a total of 447 claimants in Marin County received a total of $79,854 in assistance, and 1,231 in Sonoma received $130,205, Huff said.

Claimants must be 65 or older, own and occupy their home, have paid the property taxes on the home, and have a total household income of less than $3,350.

Claims and requests for claim forms should be sent to Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance, P.O. Box 1588, Sacramento 95807.

Ensemble Class To Give Concerts

Cut down on expenses without cutting down on style.

The Toyota Corona Sedan. A beautiful hunk of car. At a beautiful price. Everything says style. Wall-to-wall nylon carpeting. Reclining bucket seats. Optional automatic transmission and air-conditioning. With great performance—0-to-60 in 16 seconds. A top speed of over 90 mph. All this with a minimum of maintenance. And the Corona is a miser on gas. So you can be extravagant on other things.

Bus System Costs Will Be Studied

If the Golden Gate Bridge District sets up a bus transit system between Marin and San Francisco, how much should Marin County's total contribution be in meeting the projected operating deficit.

This question will be discussed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors at its regular meeting tomorrow, starting at 9 a.m.

Supervisors will also appoint a successor to County Planning Commissioner Michael Praszker, who resigned last week because of pressure of his business.

Other items on the agenda include:

STINSON AMBULANCE — Stinson Beach Fire Protection District wants county financial aid in maintaining ambulance service because most of the patients are nonresident transients.

LIBRARY — Architect Neill Smith and Associates will present preliminary plans for the new Corte Madera library.

USE OF FAIRGROUNDS — County Administrator Alan Bruce will recommend setting a fee schedule for use of Civic Center grounds by local nonprofit organizations, and for some way to resolve conflicts in dates.

McNEARS BEACH — Pierre W. Joske, director of county parks and recreation, will report that a minimum of $16,700 is needed to open McNears Beach by June 15.

I-J STRIKE — The Rev. John J. O'Connor of Catholic Social Service of Marin will repeat his request for a fact-finding committee to study the issues in the San Francisco Typographical Union No. 21's strike against the San Rafael Independent-Journal.

AVIATION — A report from the aviation commission on possible joint use of Hamilton Air Force Base.

SYNANON — Acting Planning Director Werner Von Dundell will present a brief history of Synanon, located on Tomales Bay, its present status and future plans. A report was requested by Supervisor Louis H. Baar.

TIDAL WATERWAYS — The proposed tidal waterways ordinance to control filling and building on shorelines will get another public hearing.

PUC Slates Bekins Hearings

The California Public Utilities Commission will hold public hearings beginning May 12 in Los Angeles on charges that the Bekins Moving and Storage Company has willfully failed to comply with PUC rules on underestimating practices.

The scope of the investigation includes the period May 1 through July 1, 1969, and relates to possible violations in 17 of Bekins's 18 California offices, including 11 possible violations in San Rafael.

The investigation has been instituted to determine whether or not Bekins has violated a section of the Public Utilities Code by failing to file all the monthly underestimates, where customers had to pay more for their moving than Bekins's employees had represented at the time Bekins was hired to move their goods.

The investigation will determine whether the PUC should cancel, revoke, alter, amend or suspend the operating authority held by Bekins, or whether a fine should be imposed on the company.

Teen-Agers Held In Car Burglary

Arrested were Gary W. Hayes, 17, of 121 Oak Knoll Avenue, San Anselmo and Leslie R. Jewett, 18, no known address. They were caught at 4:45 a.m. running from the driveway of Raymond Tougeron of 200 The Alameda who told police he looked out his bedroom window and saw the youths in his auto, which had been locked.

Hayes was turned over to juvenile officers and Jewett was booked into the county jail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Deputies Sponsor Visit By Circus

The Marin County Deputy Sheriff's Association will present its third annual circus June 13 and 14 at the Marin Catholic High School field.

The Rudy Brothers Circus will be complete with jungle cats, clowns, elephants, trapeze and high wire acts.

Performances will begin at 11 a.m. and 3 and 8 p.m. on June 13 and at 1:30 and 5:30 p.m. on June 14.

Portions of the proceeds will go to local charities. In the last two years, more than $17,000 has been raised for charity by the circus.

The circus show office is open at 1108 Tamalpais Avenue, San Rafael.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

He Was Quiet Before Marriage But She Thought He Would Change

DEAR HELEN:

We've been married four years. My husband isn't a bad guy, but he just won't talk. I really believe he doesn't care about anything others have to say. He was quiet before marriage, but I thought he'd change.

It's not unusual for people meeting him the first time to wonder if he's sick or angry. Those who know him don't try to get him into a conversation. They just ignore him.

Recently he has started leaving notes at my place at the table, rather than talk to me. I have tried it his way, but we could go for weeks and if I didn't break the silence it might never be broken.

When we go out to dinner, we just sit and stare unless I can think of something to say, and I soon run down with no help. He dislikes going out.

I've told him how unhappy his wordlessness makes me, and he seems surprised because he likes things this way. Could you please tell him and others that without communication, love soon leaves? — UNWILLING SILENT WIFE

DEAR USW:

"He was this way before marriage but I thought he'd change." When will you gals ever learn that the pre-nuptial man is on his best behavior. Flaws apparent in him then are almost sure to worsen after the wedding.

And this works both ways. Perhaps your husband is wondering how he can quiet you down. If you don't reach some sort of compromise (via therapy or counseling) I see little hope for your marriage. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband John and I are in our late 60s, retired, after 50 years of marriage, and we don't have one single mutual interest.

He likes to hunt and fish. I detest both, but have gone along all these years. But now time is getting short. I'd like to do a few of the things I've always yearned to do: Travel a bit, go out to dinner with friends, be sociable. We can afford these "luxuries."

Throughout our lives, I've been the buffer. When John didn't want to do something, I took the blame, until even our children said, "Poor Daddy, he'd go, but Mother doesn't want to." I wanted to build Daddy up as perfect in their eyes, but I did it at my expense.

Last week our married children wanted to take us to a showplace 120 miles away for a night out. John said "Jane doesn't want to go." I protested, but they all assumed I was just being polite, so we didn't go.

If I want to visit friends, there's always some excuse, but when we see them next, it's "Well, you know, Jane is such a homebody."

I don't drink, but sometimes I'd like to get so drunk I could say all the things I've held back through the years. It's bad enough to do nothing, but taking the blame for it, too, is too much.

I've always been one who can manage her own problems, but this is getting too much. Is there a chance for a little living before I die? — JANE

DEAR JANE:

Why don't you bust loose, announce that you're going on an extended trip (to Europe, Mexico, Japan—whatever) and if John wants to come along, fine, but if he doesn't, you're still making reservations? (I'm sure you can find a woman friend willing to go in his place.) You're healthy, young enough, and long overdue for rebellion.

Abortions Should Be Permitted

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dr. Roger O. Egeberg, the nation's top health officer, says he favors laws permitting abortions anywhere in the United States.

Abortion legislation "is absolutely necessary if we are going to slow down population growth and deal successfully with the problems of the quality of life," Egeberg told a news conference Friday.

Egeberg, assistant secretary for health and scientific affairs in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, added: "The pill and other forms of contraception are the ideal way to get the population stabilized, but if that way fails, I think abortion should be available to women as a backstop."

Egeberg said he had not examined details of an abortion bill introduced Thursday by Sen. Robert W. Packwood, R-Ore. The measure would permit a woman to have an abortion anywhere in the United States if a licensed doctor performed the operation.

"It would be a very good thing if Packwood's bill paralleled a New York law enacted earlier this month," Egeberg said.

The New York statute will allow abortions anytime within the first six months of pregnancy.

Egeberg, a father of four, said the Nixon administration has taken no stand on the issue.

"But things change so fast, nobody can predict what will happen in three or four months," he added.

"Just look at the changes concerning abortions that have happened in recent days."

If You Win A Free Vacation Plan On Paying For The Food

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — Would you be thrilled if you won a free vacation for two for four nights and five days in your choice of "fabulous" fun spots including Miami Beach, Las Vegas or New Orleans?

Almost anyone would, of course. But let me tell you a secret. Anyone can win whatever is being awarded in some of these promotion schemes. I speak from experience. I won.

My son won, too. And so did perhaps everyone who filled out an entry blank at the contest booth in a recent auto show in this city.

But I am not thrilled, and neither was my son when we started to read between the lines of the printed letter we each received from Contest Headquarters for the "Fun, Sun, Sand and Sea Contest."

"Congratulations," it started, "We are pleased to inform you that although you have not won the grand prize of a seven-day, six-night Miami Beach or Las Vegas vacation for two, your entry in our recent vacations contest has been selected for a consolation prize: Your choice of a five-day, four-night Florida or four-day, three-night Las Vegas holiday vacation for two . . .

"Your accommodations are absolutely free in Florida anytime between April 20 and December 15 and in Las Vegas anytime between September 11 and May 31 . . . You will receive over $100 in free vacation discount certificates . . . your only obligation is to enjoy yourself."

All I needed to do, said the notice, was to pick up my vacation award the same week from a local auto dealer. I could choose from a "large choice of hotels" and I could make a reservation whenever I was ready to go within the prescribed time limits.

But wait. It's not quite that simple. "If you would like to take someone along with you on your vacation," said the letter, "there will be a charge of $3.00 per night."

Another line mentions a $15.00 registration fee "which is all you pay." According to the letter, "this covers the cost of certificate registration, reservation processing, transfer privilege, as well as continuing services to guarantee confirmed reservations."

I could see those huge surfers pounding on the clean white sand while I soak up the Florida sun as my family goes about the joys of daily living back home. Four nights plus registration fee for only $27. Where could you get a vacation for two that cheap?

But wait again. There's another line: "Since transportation is not included," it said, "you may travel any way you wish."

What about meals: Oh yes, meals. Well, nothing anywhere in the letter mentions this little incidental. So I called the local "contest telephone number" and asked. "No," the girl said, "meals are not included."

Those snowy white breakers were suddenly fading into the distance. My sneaking suspicions were right again. The fact is that neither I nor my 13-year-old son had won anything.

MUSIC REVIEW

Marin Symphony Shines In Finale

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Sandor Salgo and the Marin Symphony closed the orchestra's 18th season last night in the College of Marin gymnasium with a blazing rendition of Mahler's Ninth Symphony as the brilliant finale.

Other works, each having its own attractions, were Yoshio Irino's Sinfonietta in its American premiere and the overture to Mozart's opera "L'Impresario," but it was the Mahler symphony which created most of the excitement.

The full resources of the orchestra, augmented by some nine guest instrumentalists to nearly 90 players, were tested to the limit in expression of emotions ranging from the savagely primitive to the radiantly celestial. Yet, despite the intensity of its impact, it was unfailingly lyrical—almost operatic in its soaring Wagnerian melodies, whether they were sung by the full orchestra, by chamber-like groups or by solo instruments.

Only occasionally did the tonal quality of a few instruments become shrill and piercing in impassioned climaxes.

An exceedingly long symphony requiring about an hour and 20 minutes to perform, it was almost like hearing four individual works, for each of its four movements had a distinct character, even though they had the unifying element of the unmistakable Mahler style.

Salgo made the first andante comodo—allegro risoluto movement sing, though much of its content is based on the famed "death" and "sigh" motives. A tremendous rhythmic vitality was maintained in the second movement, a fantasy of peasant Landler dances and waltzes, which led to the third movement burlesque with its raging elemental forces.

It was the final adagio that was celestial, not of the serene kind but one of radiant splendor. I have never heard the orchestra's string choirs produce a more opulent, organ-like sound.

The brasses were fortunately capable of doing justice to the typical Mahler brilliance in handling of those instruments, and the woodwinds were notable in solo and chamber-like passages.

In comparison with many contemporary works, Irino's Sinfonietta, while written in serial or 12-tone form, was not atonal and not shocking to the conservative ear. It sounded merely contemporary, not Oriental, except in its use of flute and percussion. In fact, the general treatment of woodwinds was interesting.

Like most pieces in contemporary idioms, however, its complete understanding and appreciation would depend on intellectual comprehension, in this case of such things as "metric control of mixed time signatures" and "an attempt to control logically an irregular pattern." More study would be necessary to make this clear.

The concert opened with the overture to Mozart's 'L'Impresario," a pleasing beginning, since it was good Mozart well played with some particularly fine string sound.

Deputy Corners Nude Man In Bolinas Backyard

An off-duty deputy sheriff finally cornered a nude man in a Bolinas backyard yesterday about 12:45 p.m. after the man had run up to three young girls and tried to embrace them.

Booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of being under the influence of drugs, indecent exposure and possessing marijuana was John E. Hardcastle, 25, of Elm Road, Bolinas.

Deputy James Riddell said he started chasing Hardcastle on Overlook Road after the girls, ages 13 to 15, who were walking a horse, screamed when Hardcastle tried to put his arms around them. The man ran when ordered to stop, according to Riddell, but the officer finally cornered him in a backyard. The householder lent Riddell a blanket to cover the man.

Riddell said that Hardcastle had a marijuana cigarette wedged between his fingers.

Auto Burglary Hearing Set

A preliminary hearing on an auto burglary charge has been set for tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court for Gerald Arthur Beaudoin, 18, of Corte Madera.

The case of a co-defendant, Walter David Watson, 17, of San Rafael, has been continued to May 8 while it is determined whether he can be tried in juvenile court.

The youths were arrested Wednesday after a San Rafael grocery store clerk reported seeing them rifling his car.

Grad Student To Be Speaker

Gerald Labay, a graduate student at San Francisco State College, will be the featured speaker Wednesday at the meeting of the Northwestern California Archaeological Society.

Labay's topic will be "Chiles Valley, Napa County: Preliminary Report of Archaeological Investigations."

ROLF PERSINGER
Violist featured

Violist To Be Featured This Week

Rolf Persinger of Tiburon, principal violist with the San Francisco Symphony for seven years, will be featured in a Concerto for Viola and Orchestra by Roger Nixon to be performed in the orchestra's regular series this week.

The world premiere of the work, dedicated to Persinger, maestro Josef Krips and the orchestra, will take place during the 8:30 p.m. concert Wednesday at the War Memorial Opera House.

Nixon is a professor of music at San Francisco State College.

Persinger says the concerto, completed in 1969, is the only viola concerto written in America in the last 15 years.

The violist's musical activities include teaching viola and conducting at San Francisco State College and the San Francisco Conservatory of Music. He is also principal violist with the San Francisco Opera.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Company' Is First Winner Of Season

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Company" came to the Alvin Theater Sunday night, and it is the most welcome musical company of the whole Broadway season. Get out the red carpet and the best silver.

"Company" is a sarcastic, iconoclastic comment on marriage and life in New York City today. It has brittle sophistication honed to a fine edge. Although the targets are pinpointed, actually it is a comment on the whole human condition as to relationship between the sexes.

And it is funny, it is tuneful, it has fantastic direction by producer Harold Prince, with Michael Bennett staging the delightful musical numbers, the players are sensational and it has a scenic setup designed by the very veteran Bors Aronson that is almost awesome.

"Company" has a libretto by first-timer George Furth. It is sharply satirical and topical. It could do with a more subtle type of wit, and things do run down a bit in the second act, but this is carping. The man has done a fine job with the most ephemeral of story lines.

Stephen Sondheim, who did the lyrics for "West Side Story" and the lyrics and music for "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," again has supplied both tunes and words, and it is his best job to date. There is a blend of songs, story and movement that is rare.

Quite briefly, the story deals with a 35-year-old bachelor and his relationship with five married couples who would like to see him married, although their own alliances are less than ideal. And he has three girls in his life. It's really that simple.

The fascinating thing is what Furth and Sondheim do in dialogue and song in dissecting the married state and the miracle — or debacle — of living in New York City.

Miss Myers and Jones, who is a sort of "straight man", but a good one, for what goes on, have one number called "Another Hundred People" that, better than a fat volume, tells you what New York is all about. It is a scalpel set to music.

A scene between Jones and Miss Browning, who is a love, is absolutely delicious in its comedy.

There isn't room for all of the credits that should be given to individual numbers and their projectors. You'll be hearing a song entitled "Side by Side by Side" quite often. Miss Stritch delivers the acidulous "The Ladies Who Lunch" with sadistic relish. "Getting Married Today" is a number that sums up all of the qualms connected with all marriages ever with fantastic accuracy.

"Company" is an all-out delight.

What other press critics said: Douglas Watt, Daily News: "Let's hear it for 'Company,' the newest and slickest thing in town. As smooth as the steel-and-glass buildings of midtown Manhattan and as jumpy as an alley cat, it is Broadway's first musical treatment of nerve ends."

Clive Barnes, New York Times: "I was antagonized by the slickness, the obviousness of Company.' But I stress that I really believe a lot of people are going to love it. Don't let me put you off. Between ourselves, I had reservations about 'West Side Story.' "

Richard Watts Jr., New York Post: "At times witty, and occasionally tuneful. But I thought it was also surprisingly uningratiating."

Session Set On Juvenile Procedures

Supervisor John F. McInnis, claiming he is dissatisfied with handling of juvenile cases, has asked Marin County judges, juvenile authorities and law enforcement officials to meet Saturday at Civid Center to reappraise judicial procedures.

In a letter distributed Friday, McInnis said the county's approach to juvenile arrests, probation, and the operation of juvenile hall and its court all need reevaluation.

The meeting, which is set for 9 a.m. in the supervisors' chambers, will also attempt to establish a countywide set of records listing violations by juvenile offenders.

Supervisors have been under fire the last month from residents of Marinwood and Santa Venetia who are dissatisfied with the lack of security at juvenile hall, and the alledged lenient policies toward juvenile crime by the courts.

Climber Dies In Yosemite Fall

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK (UPI) - A mountain climber fell 600 feet to his death while attempting to scale the Washington Column on the north side of Yosemite Valley Saturday.

Park officials said the victim, William R. Smith, 20, Columbus, Ohio, was climbing with Bill Chadwick, 23, Billings, Mont.

The two men were using ropes and other climbing equipment in an attempt to reach the top of the granite column which towers 1,900 feet above the valley floor.

Smith's body was recovered by rangers and volunteer searchers.

Takes Only Five Minutes To Recover Car, Suspects

A California Highway Patrol sergeant yesterday morning recovered a stolen car in what must be record time.

Sgt. Richard V. Nutting, in his patrol car, at Dolan's Corner, Tamalpais Valley, received the report at 1:25 a.m., and five minutes later he had the car back and two suspects in custody.

The sergeant was taking the report from Richard Collins of 36 Magee Avenue, Mill Valley, who told him a car he had borrowed had been taken from the parking lot of a nearby self-service laundry.

While they were talking, one of Collins's acquaintances said "There it goes now," and Nutting gave chase.

Minutes later the car turned off Shoreline Highway onto Dolan Avenue, a deadend street, and the short chase was over.

The occupants, passenger Steven Albert Imberg, 17, and driver Jeff Al Blumenthal, 15, both of San Francisco were arrested on suspicion of auto theft and sent to Marin County Juvenile Hall.

Booked into county jail with bail set at $35 each were James C. Baker, 20, of San Francisco, and Alice Strogh, 20, of San Mateo.

Police said the couple was arrested at 4 p.m. after Baker's car was involved in a minor crash. They were to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

According to police, she was a passenger in an auto driven by Raymond Menjou, 23, of 805 D Street, San Rafael, which struck an auto driven by George Martinez of 45 Estates Drive, San Anselmo.

DEEP STEAM wall-to-wall carpet cleaning offers you :
GENTLE CLEANING ACTION . . . no brushes or scrubbing action is used to wear or distort the carpet pile.
LIKE-NEW RESTORATION of original color, texture, and matted pile without use of chemicals.
MOISTURE CONTROL which insures fast drying and avoids carpet shrinkage.
SAFE PROCESS . . . guaranteed to be completely safe for all fabrics, and under any condition.
GREATER ECONOMY because the Deep Steam cleaning process Soil Retards and Mothproofs your carpet. This minimizes the need for frequent professional cleaning.
LONGER CARPET LIFE since deeply imbedded soil is safely extracted from both the pile and back of your carpet.

The Old Method

The conventional shampoo scrubbing method uses preliminary vacuuming to remove some loose soil. The shampoo equipment, with harsh brushes, utilizing different types of liquid detergents or powders, scrubs the remaining soil DEEPER into the carpet . . . and even with the help of a wet vacuum fails to remove most of the soil or residue. This residue which is left in the carpet then works its way to the surface and attracts more soil. Soon your carpet may appear more soiled than before!
HOW DEEP STEAM SOIL EXTRACTION WORKS
Deep Steam Soil Extraction equipment applies wet steam with a professional formula and soil retardant under pressure deep into the carpet fibers. The two cleaning agents combine to break down soil and the static electric charge, which holds the soil deep in the pile of the carpet, and brings this soil into suspension. Then, instantly, the moisture and soil are removed by the powerful continuous extraction process into a separate stainless steel container. During this cleaning operation every fiber is coated with SOIL RETARDANT and MOTHPROOFING to keep your carpet cleaner and protected longer.

MYSTERY APE TOURS SAN RAFAEL

An "ape" mounted on a motorcycle turns the heads of San Rafael pedestrians and motorists as he pauses at a stoplight at Cijos and Fourth streets. Cruising up and down Fourth Street, the hairy creature was last seen heading east, leaving citizens to wonder who it was, what he was doing and where he was going.

Marin City's Future Explored

By PAT ANGLE

Representatives of the Marin City Council and Marin City Community Services District met together Saturday to plant the seeds of a general plan which, if put into action, could provide growth and economic development for the Southern Marin community.

The proposal, presented by Harold Brooks, interim director of the services district, includes plans for new commercial, recreational, educational, medical, personal safety and transportation facilities.

"It is necessary for the community to start to determine what we want, how we propose to get it and whether what we want is feasible," Brooks said to explain the purpose of the embryonic program.

Central to the plan is a Marin City location for a $1.6 million county tennis and swimming center being planned by the Marin County Parks and Recreation Department on a site not yet chosen. Both the council and the services district plan to ask the county to locate the center in Marin City.

Brooks added the southern Marin site is the most feasible one from the standpoint of funding. "We are in the best position to obtain federal funds for such a center, because we are an impacted area," Brooks said, adding the center could provide the nucleus for "tremendous economic growth in our area," because it would bring people and money into Marin City.

Both bodies are planning a campaign to convince the county that Marin City is the ideal location for the center, beginning with letters which will be sent to county administrators this week.

"We know that Marin County wants Marin City to progress," Rev. Samual L. Banks Jr., chairman of the council said, "and we feel sure they are going to support us in this."

Brooks conceded that county officials may be "concerned about black power" and ask if people from throughout the county could use the facility without being molested."

"The great part of the population of Marin City, the silent majority, wants progress," Brooks said, "and already they are saying to the small group of dissidents, 'We are going to have a decent community here, with or without you.' "

The interim director also discussed the need for an all-purpose athletic field, complete with bleachers, commercial facilities like a shopping center and turning Manzanita into a "Montessori type of demonstration school."

"Our school should be more than a nursery, a place where parents can put their children," he said, "it should be a place where our children begin learning at an early age, like about two, so they can get a real head start."

Brooks also suggested that adult education could be provided at the school. "A number of colleges would be willing to conduct classes here," he explained.

"We were promised a shopping center a long time ago, but it hasn't happened," Brooks continued. "The people with the funds don't believe enough money is generated here to build the kind of center the community is seeking."

Brooks said the county has indicated its willingness to include "a first class first aid station" in a fire-police station being planned for Marin City. He also revealed the community services district is working out arrangements for assuming complete control and operation of the fire station when it is built.

While the county will staff the station in the beginning, Brooks said the district is working toward "a gradual transition of staff, so that eventually most staff members will be Marin City residents."

He said the district is also working with the sheriff's office "to develop a practical and feasible way of transferring police functions to the district's control," a plan which he said would take from three to five years.

Wallace Shepherd of the Marin County Housing Authority said the authority is presently seeking designs for a television antenna service for residents in the public housing project and indicated the service could eventually be expanded to serve all of Marin City. Plans are also under way for a closed-circuit television station to serve the area, Shepherd said.

While stressing the plans for development are only a beginning, Brooks said the council and services district wants "to be able to present the community with some kind of skeleton - it's up to the community to hang the meat.

"In all of this we will need every single individual in Marin City to be involved," Brooks said. "There is a tremendous amount of work to be done," he added.

Peace Move Delays Test On Pollution

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A last minute peace move by San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto today postponed a legal test of the state's tough new water pollution law.

Alioto started the legal fight earlier this month when he got a superior court order temporarily lifting the state's ban on new construction in San Francisco.

A hearing on the ban was to have been held this morning but Alioto yesterday telephoned the chairman of the regional water quality control board with a plea that they meet first.

The chairman, William C. Weber of San Mateo, told the Independent-Journal that Alioto indicated that a compromise might be worked out, thus forestalling the court test of the state's power to impose such a ban.

Superior Court Judge Clayton W. Horn, acceding to a request from the mayor's office for a postponement reset the hearing for 10 a.m. tomorrow. Horn said, "I'm all for clearing the air."

Attending the meeting behind closed doors in the mayor's office late this morning were Weber, Kerry Mulligan, chairman of the state water resources control board, two deputy attorney generals and staff members of the regional board and city departments.

A spokesman for the mayor's office told newsmen the closed meeting "was a settlement conversation".

San Francisco, acting under the superior court order temporarily lifting the ban, has issued sewer permits on some $60 million in new construction that was barred by the regional board's order.

Sonoma State Drug Clinic Called For By Professor

A Sonoma State College psychology professor has called for establishment of a drug clinic, saying that, while the drug use situation is not critical, there is a large number of students needing help.

At the same time, Dr. George McCabe, releasing a report based on a research seminar he conducted last summer, said that fears of an extensive drug culture at the college seem not be substantiated.

McCabe reported it was found that a third of the students regularly use marijuana. Less than half of those who have tried other drugs are still using them.

McCabe said 13 per cent of the student body are current users of LSD and amphetamine and 5 per cent are users of barbiturates.

"The data do not seem to bear out the fear expressed by some that there is an extensive drug culture at the college," he said. "The data regarding Sonoma students suggests less usage than has been reported for some high schools in the Bay Area and Marin.

"One interesting aspect of the study is that there is no relationship between the period of time students have been at the college and the extent of their drug usage. Whatever habits they have, they seem, in general, to have brought here with them," McCabe said.

Saying the situation with dangerous drugs is not critical, McCabe said that there is still a large number of students in need of help.

The psychology professor said the community should work with the college in setting up a clinic to provide crisis intervention assistance, counseling and a drug education program.

Injuries Minor To Bike Rider

A 7-year-old Point Reyes boy suffered minor injuries in a car-bicycle collision Saturday morning at Third and B streets, Point Reyes Station, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said a car driven by Carol Jean Ingwersen, 29, of 5 Baltus Lane, Sleepy Hollow, southbound on Third Street, collided with a bicycle ridden by Ernest Edward Burdon of P.O. Box 128, which was traveling west on B Street at 11:45 a.m.

She told officers she had started to cross the intersection when the boy drove in front of her car. Ernest, who suffered a cut lip and a bump on his forehead, was treated by Dr. William E. Kaye.

Shone Hits BCDC Over Bay Policy

Raymond H. Shone of Nicasio, candidate for the Republican nomination for state Senate, has attacked San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission's staff for "thwarting the will of the people" by recommending rejection of Marin County's development plan for Richardson Bay.

"Richardson Bay has been a cess pool entrance to Marin County for years, and the development plan represented the best thinking" of the county planning staff, planning commission and board of supervisors, Shone said.

Speaking at a breakfast of real estate salesmen Thursday at Peacock Gap Country Club, Shone said that "it is all very well to dream great dreams, but when the time for action comes, it must come as the outgrowth of economic reality.

"If the BCDC felt changes were indicated, this should have been suggested by the staff of BCDC instead of damning the plan and thwarting the will of the people," Shone said.

The staff's recommendation for rejection will be voted upon by the commission on May 7.

Small Blaze Forces Tamalpais Evacuation

A small kitchen fire in the Tamalpais retirement residence in Larkspur yesterday caused the precautionary evacuation of about 250 elderly residents, according to Larkspur Fire Chief William C. Shurtz.

The fire broke out at 10:15 a.m. in fifth floor apartment of Lora Treat at the retirement residence, 501 Via Casitas.

Approximatly 250 of the 300 residents of the seven-story building were evacuated in case the fire or smoke spread, Shurtz said. All residents of the building are 62 years or older.

A paper sack of garbage left on the stove caught fire and did minor damage to the kitchen. However, it spread smoke throughout the fifth floor of the structure.

Shurtz said only the lobby and the first floor were not evacuated.

Suspect In $20,000 Bond Selling Swindle Arrested

A man sought in connection with a $20,000 swindle of two elderly Petaluma brothers has been arrested in San Francisco and was scheduled for arraignment this afternoon in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Robert Sessions, believed to be using an alias, was arrested Saturday by the Secret Service. He had been wanted for questioning in the sale of phony tax free treasury bonds which had been offered to senior citizens at high interest rates.

William J. Guglielmetti, 92, of 907 C Street and Robert P. Guglielmetti, 89, of 415 A Street, had each purchased $10,000 in bonds from a man masquerading as a treasury agent.

Petaluma police said the San Francisco Police Department was investigating similar fraud cases that may involve Sessions. Two other Petalumans were reportedly contacted, but did not complete purchase.

Passerby Foils Leap From Span

A 55-year-old San Francisco man was taken to San Francisco General Hospital yesterday for observation after he climbed over a railing of the Golden Gate Bridge and threatened to jump.

Jack Schneider was seen on the bay side of the rail about 10:50 a.m. by a passerby, John W. Kennedy of Sebastopol, who persuaded him to come back onto the bridge.

Schneider told the California Highway Patrol he had attempted suicide before and told officers it was the only way he could get the attention of his sister, whom he refused to identify.

Guilty Verdict In Slaying Case

A Marin Superior Court Jury deliberated for almost 18 hours Friday and Saturday before convicting Robert Aaron Cosey, 36, of San Rafael, of the second degree murder of a 32-year-old woman friend.

The victim of the slaying which took place in Cosey's San Rafael apartment on Jan. 18 was Erma Clay Brown, a dietician who had been visiting relatives in Marin about four months.

She was fatally shot with a double-barreled shotgun after an argument ensued between her and Cosey following an evening of drinking.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson, who heard the case, set sentencing for May 15.

Cosey was prosecuted by Deputy Dist. Atty. Jerry R. Herman and defended by public defender Jerome Durham.

Novato School Bond Vote To Be Revived

The Novato Unified School District board will meet with its citizens committee at 8 p.m. today in the administration building to discuss another tax election and the preliminary budget for fiscal 1970-71.

An April 14 vote to increase the district tax limit by 85 cents for four years lost by a narrow margin, but the board may seek another vote in July.

Correct Location

The Independent-Journal erred Thursday in reporting that the Kentfield Community Spring Festival of the Arts would be held at Wolfe Grade School May 17. The event will be at Adaline E. Kent School.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Excessive Worry Can Cause Rapid, Alarming Hair Loss

C. K. writes: "My husband is a young executive who is under considerable tension to meet quotas. Two weeks ago, he began to lose his hair, and I mean just that! It began as an oval patch on the side of his head. Other patches followed, and now his scalp looks like a psychedelic figure. A dermatologist diagnosed the condition as alopecia areata and told him to get a toupee and not to worry. Please tell us more about this disorder."

The pattern of hair loss in alopecia areata differs entirely from that of hereditary baldness. In addition, there is no evidence of inflammation in that the denuded spots are clean. The cause is now known, however, this type of baldness has been known to follow periods of excessive worry or nervous tension. Most of the victims are in their 20s or 30s, and the outcome is unpredictable. Wearing a hairpiece while undergoing treatment is sound advice.

NOW AND THEN the eyelids, eyebrows, armpits, beard, and other areas are denuded. In at least 50 per cent, some regrowth can be expected. Usually the hair returns, first coming in gray or white and fine in texture. Eventually, the scalp returns to normal.

Treatments usually consist of chemical or mechanical stimulants. However, some of the products are so irritating that they produce blistering and peeling. Ultraviolet also is used. None of these measures is specific. Corticosteroids in tablet form or via scalp injections may lead to a new crop, but the results may be temporary unless the hormone is continued. Thyroid extract helps if low metabolism is causative.

MANY PHYSICIANS recommend tranquilizers and psychiatric care because of the possible relationship between the loss of hair and nervous shock. On the other hand, there is no proof that the emotional upheaval and severity of the alopecia areata are related in that baldness is unusual in people with definite psychoses and other mental problems.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

SLENDER

R. R. writes: Recently I had a physical examination and much to my surprise, the doctor found me in good condition, even though I weight only 148 pounds and am 6' 1" in height. Do you think my physician is right?

REPLY

Yes. A person con be in good health even though he does not meet the weight standards for age, height, and sex. Slenderness is said to encourage a long, healthy life.

SORE THROAT

D. P. writes: Could sinus drainage, over a period of three or four years, cause a constant sore throat?

REPLY

Yes. The sore throat may be part of an infection that involves the nose as well as the throat. The postnasal drip does not necessarily come from a sinus infection. It may originate in diseased adenoids, an ordinary nasal infection, or stem from the inhalation of air pollutants, including tobacco smoke.

NECK EXERCISES

Mrs. P. E. J. writes: My husband has a "squeaky neck" and he recalled that some time ago you mentioned a leaflet of exercises for this condition. Do you have such a leaflet?

REPLY

Yes, and it can be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Today's Health Hint—

Unresolved problems and decisions may cause tiredness.

Youth Reports Attack Attempt

A 15-year-old boy hitchhiker reported to sheriff's deputies Friday that a man who had given him a ride attempted to commit a lewd act.

The boy, a resident of San Rafael, said the man, 25 to 30, about 5 feet 10 inches, 145 pounds with blond hair, picked him up at the northbound ramp to Highway 101 near Tiburon Boulevard shortly before 1 p.m.

Then, instead of dropping him off in San Rafael, the driver went to the dead end of Leona Drive in Santa Venetia and made advances. Then the boy jumped out of the car and left the scene, deputies said.

An echo of yesterday passes overhead.

FLY-IN!

They come from all points across the land: the Wacos, Stearmans, Ryans; the P-51 fighters of another era and the home-made models reflecting individual ideas. There might even be the big Ford Tri-Motor, available for flights lasting 15 minutes and providing a sky-high view of the 16th Annual "Fly-In" coming to Rockford, Ill.

The event, held the first week of August, is sponsored by the Experimental Aircraft Association, an organization founded in 1953 by Paul Poberezny, Milwaukee, Wis., and now boasting a membership near 40,000 representing all 50 states and 43 foreign countries.

The EAA, a non-profit organization, also sponsors an air-education museum and headquarters at Franklin, Wis., but one week per year it conducts the international convention of its members, regulating some 27,000 landings and take-offs of their unique aircraft.

Currently, some 2,000 amateur-built planes have been completed by members, while roughly 6,000 other members are currently busy constructing or refurbishing their own planes.

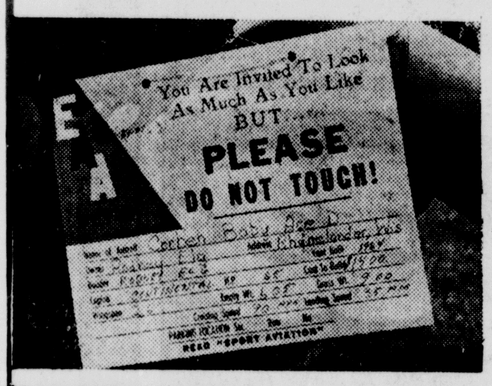

For the visitor and organizational members who come to the small town 90 miles northwest of Chicago, Ill., the EAA provides free parking space, food tents and viewing access to the over 160 airplanes lined in patterned rows across the field.

Each evening at 7:00 p.m., when wind turbulence is at a minimum, an air show provides spectators with upside-down flying, wing-walking, parachute jumping, precision flying and airplane acrobatics.

Scattered between tents and campers of those remaining more than one day are larger tents featuring the latest in factory planes and parts for the interested flying buff.

This year's event, with its brightly colored aircraft and the strange shape of things to come, perhaps, will bring more than 400,000 people to the Greater Rockford Airport, south of the city on U.S. Highway 51, to take part in the Experimental Aircraft Association's biggest, and best, "Fly-In."

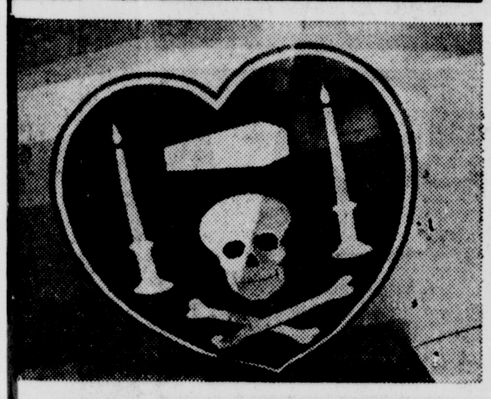

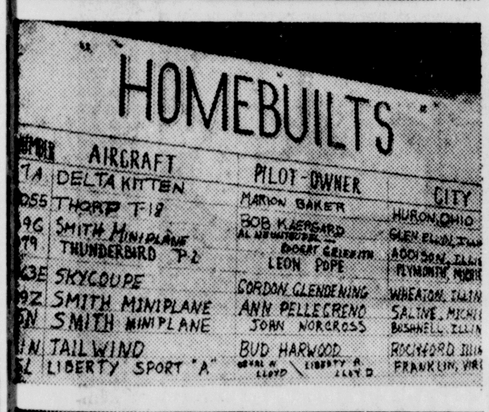

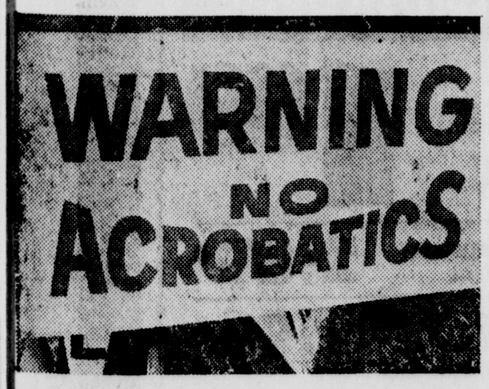

Owen Vandiver, Pitcher, Okla., checks over the craft built by Arman J. LaReau, Jr., Beaver Dam, Wis.

Spectator signs.

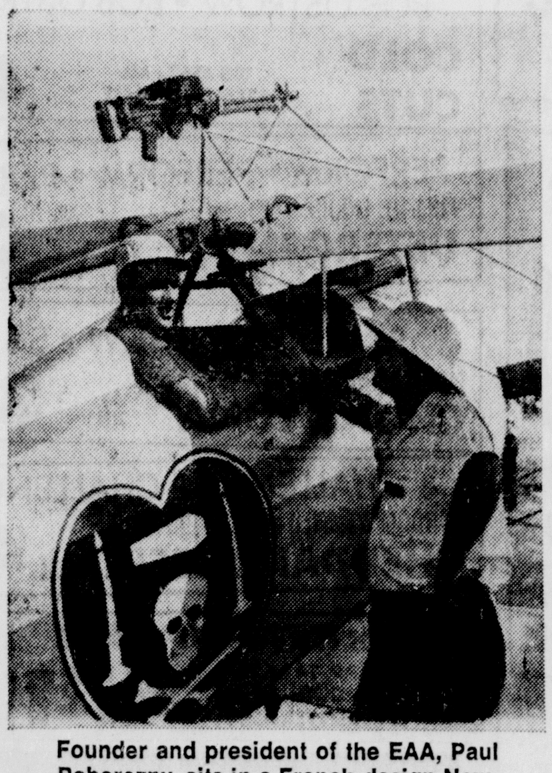

Wiping his "Pitts Special", built from scratch, is Howard Sevdy, Worthington, Minn.

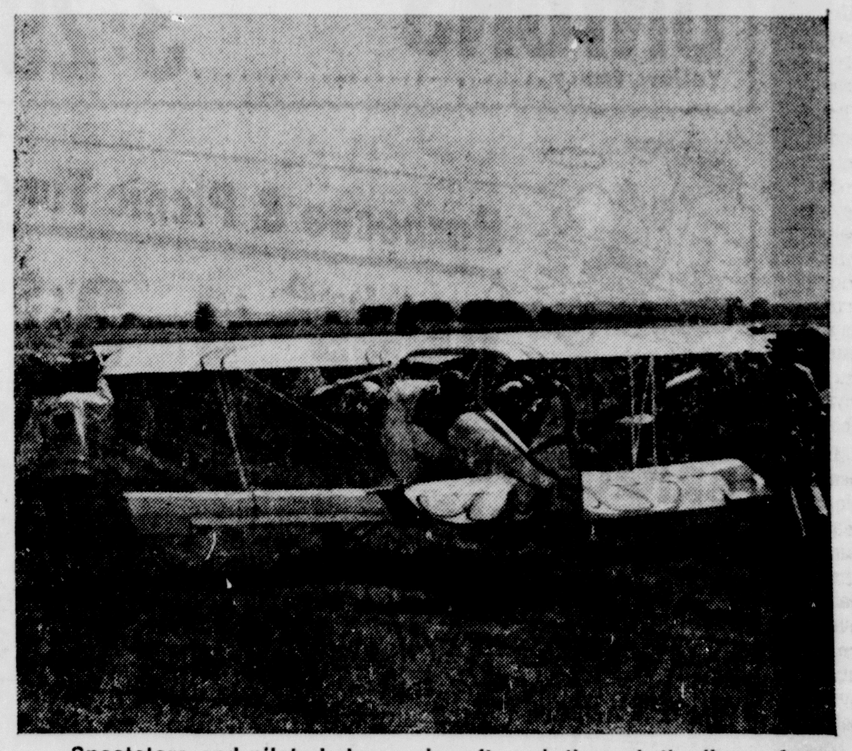

Across the parking area they stretch wing to wing.

Mets In S.F. For Three-Game Series

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —The Montreal Expos matched their audacious youth with the San Francisco Giants' vaunted power and the result was a standoff in Sunday's doubleheader.

Grand slam homers by Willie McCovey and Dick Dietz supported Mike McCormick's three-hit pitching for an 11-1 romp in the opener. But rookie right-hander Carl Morton's first major league victory gave Montreal the nightcap 3-2.

SPLIT

The Expos, who doubled their 1969 victory total against the Giants with a 2-2 weekend split, open a three-game series in San Diego Monday night. San Francisco, idle Monday, hosts the New York Mets Tuesday night.

"McCovey's hitting was very encouraging," said Manager Clyde King after the slugger belted his 11th grand slam and added a solo homer in the opener. The output gave McCovey six homers and 17 runs batted in.

"I don't know how he does it," added King. "We had no batting practice because wet grounds made it necessary to cover the field. So Willie comes up in the first inning and hits the ball 450 feet on his first swing."

4-0 LEAD

The smash, following walks to Bobby Bonds and Willie Mays around a single by Ron Hunt, gave the Giants a 4-0 lead off Bill Stoneman, 1-3. Singles by Bonds and Mays added a run in the second.

McCovey homered off Stoneman leading off the fifth and Bonds belted his third homer off reliever Carroll Sembera in the seventh. Intentional Walks to McCovey and Ken Henderson set up Dietz' first career grand slam in the eighth.

McCormick, 1-1, didn't allow a hit until Ron Brand's leadoff single, pinch-batter Jack Hiatt's double and Jim Qualls' run-scoring grounder ruined the shutout bid in the sixth.

25 WALKS

McCovey walked twice in the opener, boosting his season total to 25, but the brash Morton pitched to the National League MVP and retired him three times in his first assignment against the Giants.

Mack Jones' triple and Rusty Staub's single gave the Expos Hiatt's single ,a ground out and a 1-0 lead off loser Rich Robertson, 0-2, in the first. Ex-Giant Marv Staehle's single made it 2-0 in the second.

Morton opened the fifth with a walk and scored what proved to be the winning run on Jones' one-out double. Morton, 1-0, also collected his first major league single in the sixth inning.

"My first win and my first hit in the majors on the same day—that's something," declared Morton while soaking his right elbow in a bowl of crushed ice. The 26-year-old righthander is a converted outfielder.

"I had pretty good power in the minors, but I had trouble with breaking pitches," he recalled. "Paul Richards decided I'd have a better chance to make it with the Braves as a pitcher, not as an outfielder.

"I pitched to McCovey," Morton explained, "because I figured somebody gets him out. I can't be afraid and pitch myself into a hole. I figured I'd better be aggressive against him, because he'd never faced me before either."

Bonds' single and Henderson's second homer of the season pulled the Giants to within 3-2

HOCKEY PLAYOFFS

Bruins Complete Sweep Of Hawks

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Bruins have kicked the Chicago Black Hawks into Never-Never Land . . . and crossed the threshold toward the Promised Land.

"We've opened the door and the next thing we have to do is go through it," said Boston's Eddie Westfall after the Bruins bounced the Black Hawks out of the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup Playoffs 5-4 Suday.

IN FOUR

The victory gave the Bruins a four-game sweep in the best-of-7 East Division finals and shot them into the championship series against the West Division winner.

Pittsburgh stopped St. Louis 2-1 Sunday to tie their best-of-7 West set at 2-2.

Westfall, who checked Chicago star Bobby Hull, summed up the feelings of his Boston teammates with this remark: "They've just opened the door in a bid for the club's first Stanley Cup championship in 29 years."

"We're going to meet the best in the other division," he added. "We're certainly the best in ours. We're going to be ready whether it's St. Louis or Pittsburgh."

Coach Harry Siden of Boston pointed out two items which helped the Bruins to their astounding sweep of the regular season East winners—the checking of Hull and Stan Mikita.

'DID IT'

"We had to stop Hull and we had to stop Mikita. . .and we did it, said Sinden.

Westfall, accepting congratulations after shutting out Hull, modestly pointed out: "It was not a nice job—it was a necessary evil.

"Now I hope we can participate in the offense a little more in the big series," he continued. "With a line like ours (center Derek Sanderson and Wayne Carleton) I hope that the Western Division champs have to worry about what we'll do."

While Westfall was doing his defensive job, John McKenzie was the ffensive stickout for the Bruins. His goal at 18:19 of the third period—when everybody in the Boston Garden was thinking overtime—was the winning margin.

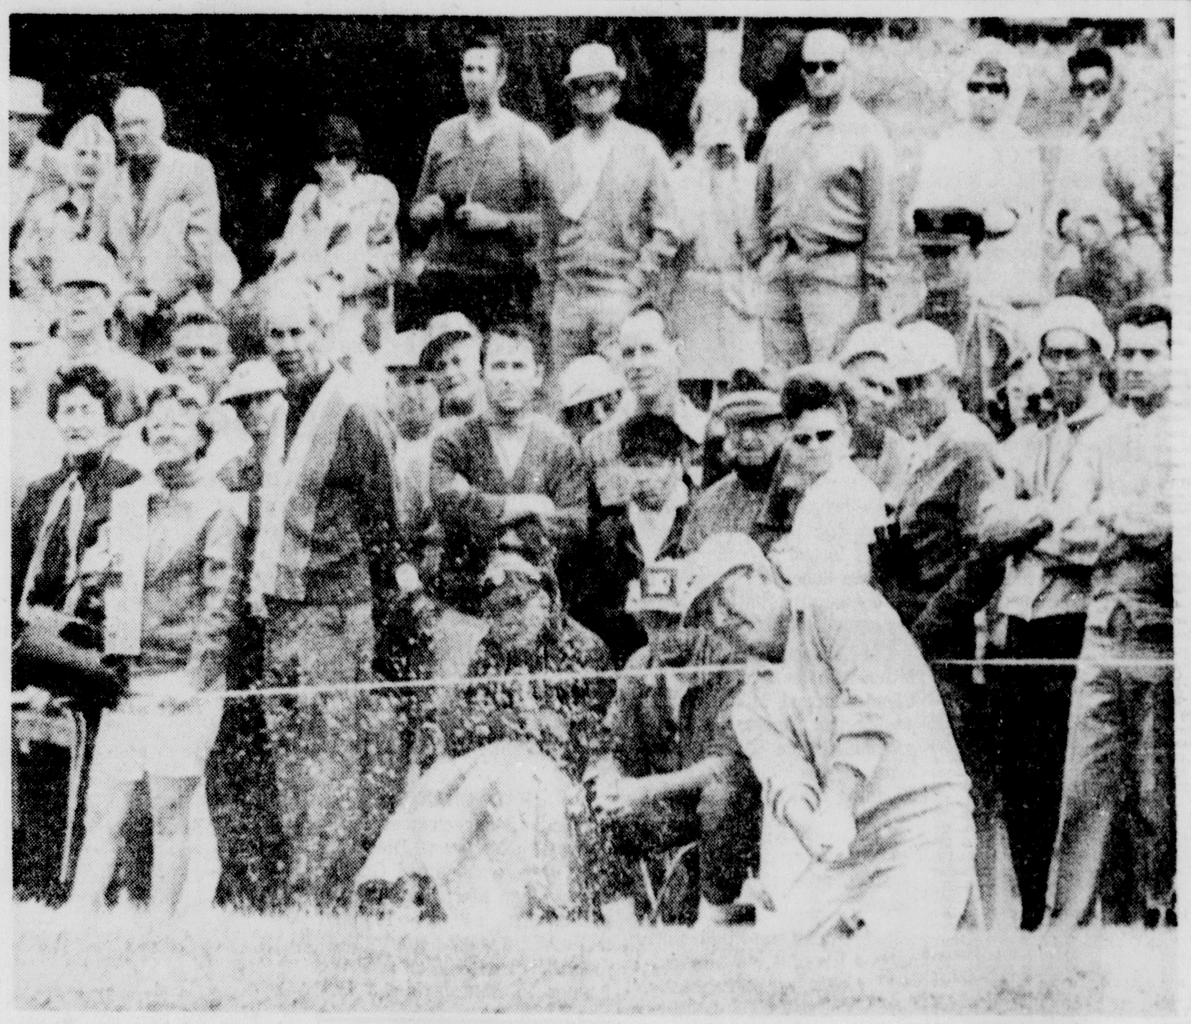

REFUSED TO FOLD

Frustrated most of the way by Tony Esposito's brilliant goaltending, the Bruins refused to fold.

Brian Campbell had given Chicago a 4-3 lead with a goal at 4:10 of the final period. The Bruins buzzed around the Chicago net but were unable to crack Esposito's stout defending.

Ken Hodges finally broke the period of frustration with a tying goal at 13:19 and McKenzie then intercepted a Chicago pass just inside the blue line and shoveled in the clinching shot.

Walks And Singles Big As Home Runs

NEW YORK (AP) — Those home runs are impressive, but the singles, walks and errors can produce a devastating big inning, the Oakland Athletics learned.

The New York Yankees came up with four runs in the sixth inning with the biggest hit a single. They went on to defeat Oakland 8-3 yesterday for a weekend split.

BASES LOADED

Curt Blefary and Danny Carter singled to open the inning for New York. Tthen John Odom, seeking his third win, fumbled Thurman Munsons' sacrifice bunt, filling the bases with none out.

Gene Michael blooped a single that tied the game 3-3 and forced Odom to be replaced by Jim Roland. The new hurler immediately walked pinch hitter Ron Woods on four straight balls, putting New York ahead.

Then Jerry Kenney singled over infielders' heads, causing two runs to score.

THREE HITS

The Athletics were unable to keep an attack going. Sal Bando, who hurt his left hand the first week, was back in the lineup but was hitless during the weekend.

Rick Monday hit three for four, including a triple, and other hits were divided by three men, Felipe Alou with two, Don Mincher two for four including a homer, and Reggie Jackson, one for two, a double.

Although the Yankees took advantage of walks and singles in their big inning, they came up with two home runs, one by Kenney in the fifth, his first of the year. Bob Murcer hit his third for the Yanks.

CHAMP OF CHAMPS

Security Is Beard's Aim

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Frank Beard had just picked up a $30,000 check, the second largest of his sparkling career, and was talking about his long-range goals in golf.

"Financial security for my wife and my family — and me," the soft-spoken, thoughtful perfectionist said Sunday. "I don't know how much money that is, or when it will come."

Then he smiled.

MILLION DOLLARS

"Maybe it's a million dollars."

It's not as far-fetched as it sounds. Beard's impressive seven-stroke victory in the prestige laden — but troubled — tournament of Champions pushed his career earnings to more than $568,000. He now has more than $53,000 for the year and appears to be well on his way to his fourth consecutive $100,000 plus season.

And he's only 30.

Although he ranks seventh on the all-time leading money list, topped the money earnings last year and has won nine tour events, he's a relative unknown to the fans.

"That's the kind of guy I am," he said. "Maybe I'm too conservative."

NO COLOR

He's quiet and relatively colorless — but one of the most feared competitors on the tour.

"That man's unbelievable," said British Open champion Tony Jacklin, one of three tied for second behind Beard.

Frank bolted out to a six-stroke lead at the turn, changed his strategy and coasted into a seven-stroke victory, the largest margin of the year on the tour. He had a final 71, one-under-par on the La Costa Country Club course, for 273, 15-under-par.

Jacklin, two strokes back going into the final round, failed to set his clock for the change from standard to daylight time, didn't have time to take a single practice swing and struggled through the gusty winds with a 76 for 280.

He was tied at that figure with South African Gary Player, 71, and Masters champion Billy Casper, 72. Arnold Palmer was next with a 70 for 281. Orville Moody and a 70 for 284 and Jack Nicklaus was one of three at 286.

While the players were fighting the winds, tournament officials battled reports that the 1971 edition of this tournament — matching tour winners of the previous 12 months — would be cancelled.

"The Tournament of Champions is 18 years old and as far as we are concerned it will go on for at least another 18 years," tournament chairman Allard Roen said.

"We have not been notified of any action to cancel our tournament by the tournament players division or its commissioner, Joe Dey."

PETITION

But a petition appeared in the players' locker room and was signed by more than two dozen players, including Palmer, Moody, Player and Lee Trevino, which said, in part:

"We, the undersigned, petition the committee to reconsider their decision regarding cancel-

Gals Among Stars At Track-Field Relays

WALNUT, Calif. (AP)—With due respects to Lee Evans and Randy Matson, the year 1970 could be remembered among other things as one when the gals outshone the guys at the Mt. San Antonio Relays.

Doris Brown, the schoolteacher from Seattle, scored a double by setting a meet record in the 880-yard run Saturday in two minutes and eight seconds, then set an American record in the 3,000-meter run Sunday.

Her time for the latter, 9:44.6 shattered the mark of 10:12.6 by Debbie Heald of Phoenix, Ariz., earlier this year.

Even more noteworthy was the double win by Formosa's Chi Cheng, a 26-year-old physical education junior at nearby California State Polytechnic College, Pomona.

Miss Cheng won the 100-meter hurdles at 13.3 seconds and the 220-yard dash in 23.2 Saturday, both times bettering the American records.

Then on Sunday, she captured the 100-yard dash in 10.6 and the 100-yard hurdles in 13.5.

Evans scored a men's double with victories in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles and 440 — yard dash, while world record holder Matson won the shotput with a toss of 66 feet, 11½ inches.

Evans set the world record and took an Olympic gold medal that year in the 400-meter dash.

This time he used his speed to offset some faulty timing in the hurdles to win the 50.5 and came back less than an hour later to out sprint former UCLA quarter-miler Len VanHofwegen in the 440, clocked at 46.7 seconds.

He beat his chief foe by less than a yard.

Evans won the press box vote as the outstanding track athlete in the meet, and Matson took honors as best of the field crew.

There were no special awards for the gals at this meet at the Mt. San Antonio College stadium.

Meet records fell in the men's high hurdles and the highjump.

Veteran Willie Davenport won the 120-yard hurdles in 13.7, clipping a tenth of a second off the record he shared with Don Shy.

Marin Nine Triumphs, 2-1

Jim Peters tossed a four hitter and catcher Gary Welch accounted for both runs as College of Marin defeated Contra Consta, 2-1 Saturday at Contra Costa.

The Tars wrapped it up in the third when Welch blasted a double to score Roger Offenbach, and then came home when Ken Lazzarini's ground ball was mishandled.

Peters struck out eight and walked none. The only Contra Costa run came on a ninth inning homer by John Lancaster.

Dramatic Rally Wins For Harold Henning

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — South African Harold Henning staged a startling rally to "come from the darkness' and capture the $50,000 Tallahassee Open Golf Tournament on the final hole Sunday over Rives McBee.

In a dramatic finish, Henning —who led by one shot before the final round—charged from two behind with a stunning eagle and a birdie on the final two holes.

The 35-year-old Henning had jumped into the lead after a record-tying 64 Saturday. He had to cramble desperately over the wind-blown Killearn Country Club course.

Coming off the 16th green where he had just dropped a birdie putt, Henning heard that McBee was just two strokes ahead. That's when he "came out of the darkness, after thinking there was no chance a few holes before."

Henning smashed his second shot on the par-five 17th to within 12 feet of the hole. He sank the putt for an eagle and was suddenly tied with McBee.

McBee watched from the 18th as Henning drove into a fairway bunker. Undaunted, the tanned old pro blasted to within 12 feet on the finishing hole, and then canned the putt for a 2-under-par 70 and a tournament clinching 277 total.

Miss Walsh Wins Doubles, Loses Singles

Eighteen-year-old Sharon Walsh returned to classes at San Rafael High School today with mixed emotions as the result of her weekend participation in the 71st annual Ojai Valley Tennis Championships at Ojai, Ventura County.

Miss Walsh, the 1969 national girls' 18 champion, teamed with Gail Hansen of Palo Alto to win the open women's doubles crown but lost in the women's singles title to Janet Newberry of La Jolla.

Misses Walsh and Hansen downed Miss Newberry and Eliza Pande of Los Altos, 6-0, 4-6, 6-3 for the doubles trophy, but Miss Newberry rallied to beat the San Rafael High senior in the hard-fought singles match, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Butterfly Back In Knuckleball

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The butterfly that lives in Phil Niekro's knuckleball is back in business after taking an exasperating two-week vacation.

Niekro's knuckler, normally one of the most puzzling pitches National League batters must face, was no mystery until Sunday when the Atlanta ace mowed down Pittsburgh 2-0 on a two-hitter.

In his first four starts, Niekro and his flutterless flutterball had been racked for 30 hits, 11 home runs, a 7.78 earned run average and four straight losses. The butterfly, obviously, was out of town.

NEAR-PERFECT

But everything fell in place for Niekro Sunday. He pitched hitless ball for 6 2-3 innings and completely dazzled the powerful Pirates with his rested and rejuvenated knuckler dancing all over the place.

Elsewhere Sunday, New York topped Los Angeles 3-1, St. Louis dropped Cincinnati 4-1, Chicago whipped Houston 6-3, Philadelphia edged San Diego 3-2 and San Francisco split a doubleheader with Montreal, winning 11-1 before losing 3-2.

Although it had no trouble with the Pirates, Niekro's returning butterfly couldn't solve the Forbes Field no-hit jinx. No pitcher has ever achieved a hitless game in the 61-year history of the park which the Pirates will vacate next month for their new Riverfront Stadium. Niekro defied the jinx until a two-out error in the seventh gave Manny Sanguillen a swing and the catcher's single broke up the no-hit bid.

FOUR HITS

Tommie Aaron cracked four straight hits including a homer and double which accounted for both Brave runs.

Niekro missed his no-hitter but New York's Tom Seaver got his—a perfect one too—if you don't mind your classics spread over two games.

Seaver, who had retired the last 16 batters in order—a record-breaking 10 on strikes-against San Diego last Wednesday, knocked off the first 11 Dodgers Sunday. That gave him 27 consecutive batters retired, the equivalent of a perfecto.

The Met ace settled for a six-hitter with home runs by Donn Clendenon and Mike Jorgensen pacing the attack. Bud Harrelson stole three bases including home for the Mets, who ended a 30-inning runless streak.

STREAK

The victory was the 14th straight over two seasons for Seaver.

Bob Gibson throttled Cincinnati on five hits, striking out 15 for his strongest performance of the season as the Cards beat the Reds.

Gibson, knocked out in each of his first two starts, fanned six Reds in order over one stretch and Lou Brock's three singles led the St. Louis offense.

in the sixth. Morton was lifted for a pinch-batter in the ninth and McCovey led off the bottom of the inning with a single.

'HAD CHANCE'

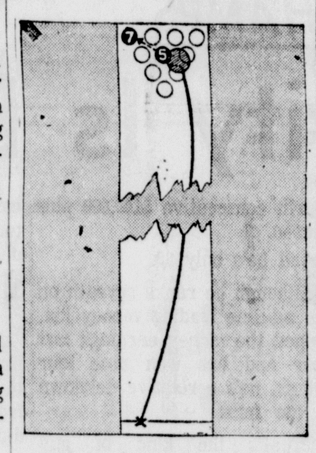

"We had our chances in the ninth with Mays and Dietz up," said King, who named Gaylord Perry, Juan Marichal and Mike McCormick as his tentative starters against the Mets. Marichal hurled five scoreless innings in Saturday's 7-3 loss.

Hiatt smashed a hit in each game of the twin bill to lift his average to .409 for the Expos.

By DON CARTER

When confronted with a 5-7 split, it is best to move your starting position to the left by five boards (the distance between the dots on the approach). Then aim at the same spot you selected for your strike ball. And remember to roll the ball the same way. If you follow these suggestions successful conversions should be frequent.

Nets Triumph; L.A. Wins Western Series

The Nets, rebounding from their worst home loss ever, knocked off Kentucky 127-112 at Louisville Sunday in the American Basketball Association playoffs.

New York now leads 3-2 the best-of-7 Eastern Division semifinals that resume in Louisville Tuesday.

Kentucky led only once in the game, then for just a brief time in the second period. Kentucky went ahead 31-30 in the second stanza on a 12-foot shot by Louie Dampier, but then New York went out in front again on two free throws by Melchionni.

Then Billy The Kid combined with teammate Walt Simon for 22 points to give the Nets an unsourmountable 80-64 lead. Simon scored 31 points in the game.

Raymond's clutch basket pulled the Stars through in a game that produced 27 changes of lead and 17 ties, the last when Mack Calvin hit a free throw with 1:07 to play to knot it at 122.

After Dallas missed several opportunities to take the lead on misfired field goals, Raymond nudged in Merv Jackson's 20-foot toss for the winning shot.

Powell sank a free throw seconds later, but missed a five-footer when Raymond deflected the ball and grabbed it as time ran out.

Thrilling Game In San Rafael Rec Softball

Whoever coined the phrase, "The ball game's never over until the last out" must have had the 666th Eagles of the San Rafael Softball League in mind.

The Eagles rallied for eight runs in the last inning last night to defeat Marin Supply Co., 11-8 in a thrilling game that also saw Marin Supply execute a triple play in the fifth inning.

Leading the Eagles in their big rally were Doyle Clossan and Doug Corbett with home runs and pitcher Bert Adkins with two hits in the last inning. Tony Selmo of the Eagles was the busiest defensive man in the league as he made 10 putouts in left field, nearly half of the total for a seven-inning game.

In other league games yesterday, Bergman Manufacturing Co. routed Patio Club 11-3 and the Scrappers outslugged Stan's for Sports, 13-9, as Bob Lemelet had three hits, including a home run, and Dan Herrera and Keith Stirling two hits apiece for the Scrappers.

V.D. can be prevented

An epidemic is ravaging America—needlessly. The U.S. Public Health Service estimates there were almost 1.8 million new cases of venereal disease last year, well exceeding the medical definition of an epidemic. More Americans caught gonorrhea last year than caught the measles. And half of all new V.D. cases are in the 15 to 24 year old age group. Tragically, V.D.'s strongest ally is simple ignorance. A few basic methods of prevention will effectively combat both syphilis and gonorrhea. The necessary information is available from physicians, clinics and public health groups. And your local Pharmacist is a professional source for medically recognized products to aid in the prevention of V.D.

Minnesota Air Works Wonders For Tiant

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The green, green grass of home did in Dean Chance and the Cleveland Indians Sunday but the Minnesota air seems to be working wonders for Luis Tiant.

Chance and Tiant were the key figures in a six-player swap between the Indians and Twins last winter. Both pitched well Sunday but came out on opposite ends of the won-lost spectrum.

Chance, 1-2, scattered nine hits in eight innings, walking two and striking out seven but the Indians lost to the Chicago White Sox 2-0, with the high grass at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium affecting two key infield hits.

Tiant, meanwhile, ran his record to 3-0—he was a dismal 9-10 a year ago—by shutting out the Detroit Tigers on three singles, 6-0. he also stroked a double and two singles, stole a base —third base, no less—and knocked in a run.

Elsewhere in the American League, Baltimore made it 14 straight over Kansas City 10-9, California shaded Washington 3-2, Milwaukee tripped Boston 5-3 and the New York Yankees drubbed Oakland 8-3 for Mel Stottlemyre's first victory.

The White Sox nicked Chance for single runs in the second and third innings. The first scored on Joe Horlen's slow bouncer down the third base line which was allowed to roll and stayed fair. In the third, Luis Aparicio bunted safely down the third base line, took third on a double by Carlos May and scored on Buddy Bradford's sacrifice fly.

FRUSTRATED

"There was nothing I could do about either one," said a disgruntled Graig Nettles, the Cleveland third baseman. "I was completely frustrated. I guess all I can do is play closer if they're going to keep the grass here as long as it is."

Head groundskeeper Harold Bossard admitted the grass is too long and the ground too soft, adding: "But what can I do? Our hands were tied. We couldn't do anything to the infield before this because it has been either too wet or we've had to put the tarpaulin down. But now, with the Indians on the road for 10 days, we'll get the grass cut."

Don Buford's three-run homer in the eighth inning carried Baltimore to victory and nullified Kansas City's comeback from a five-run first-inning deficit. The Royals haven't beaten the Orioles since taking a 4-2 decision last May 9 in the first meeting of the teams.

Brooks Robinson drove in four runs for the Birds and Dave Johnson hit a two-run homer. Ed Kirkpatrick and Bob Oliver connected for Kansas City, the latter with two on.

AWARD WINNING DESIGN

Architects A. Robert Fisher of Belvedere, Rodney F. Friedman of Tiburon and Robert J. Geering of Mill Valley share honors in the 1970 Award of Excellence from Architectural Record for this garden apartment design. Although it appears to be a Marin County type of development it is actually a 114-unit complex at Newport Beach. The three men are members of the San Francisco architectural firm, Fisher-Friedman Associates. Peter Walker of Tiburon, who heads Sasaki-Walker Associates of Sausalito, was the landscape architect.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We have shares of American Telephone & Telegraph at $70. I would like to use savings to buy more; my wife says no. Who is right? — A.L.

A. The opportunity now afforded to Telephone shareholders to purchase 8¾ per cent debentures would seem to me to offer a fine compromise for you. Holders of 35 shares have the right to purchase at par this $100 principal amount debenture together with a warrant to purchase two shares of common. The debenture offers generous return with a high degree of safety. The warrants, whether exercised or solid, offer the potential of capital appreciation. All told, this is a highly attractive package that shareholders should accept if possible.

Q. Please give me your candid opinion of Susquehanna Corp. I have taken a rather large position in the stock at $9. Is this a turnaround situation? — H.S.

A. No stock position—large or small — should be taken unless you personally or your broker can keep in close touch with developments. This is true of any investment but is vital in a speculative situation.

Susquehanna is a complex organization covering four rather broad fields: technology, building materias, industrial and natural resources. Sales for 1969 dropped 8 per cent to $130 million, and earnings of 73 cents a share were substantially lower than the $2.20 reported in 1968. Results included tax-loss carryforward credits and gains on the sale of property equal to 42 cents and 95 cents a share in 1969 and 1968 respectively.

A late 1968 tender offer for Pan American Sulphur shares resulted in litigation which was finally settled this March. Additional shares acquired recently give Susquehanna control of more than 50 per cent of Pan Am Sulphur's shares.

The IRS has recently proposed additional tax assessments for years 1955 to 1965 and has questioned $4.8 million of claimed tax-loss carryforward.

Wall Street Continues In Steep Decline

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at 2 p.m. was off 9.50 at 737.79. This is below last Jan. 30, when the average closed at 744.06, a six year low.

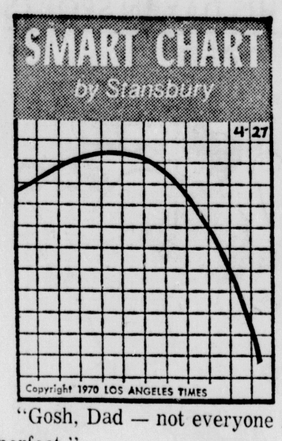

Analysts say there simply has been no support at the supposed test levels of the Dow Jones average, pointing out that pessimism dominates investor thinking. Although the market is oversold, they say, there is no investor interest in taking advantage of it.

Prices changes among the key issues were mostly fractional, with several ranging between 1 and 2 points. IBM was the exception, down 4⅞ to 304⅛ after announcing that second-quarter earnings were at about the same rate as those for the first quarter, with sales still substantially off from year ago levels.

On the American Stock Exchange, the volume leader was Ling-Temco-Vought warrants, off 1⅛ to 3⅜. Other late Amex prices included Digital Equipment, down 2⅛ to 82½; Simkins Industries, down 1⅛ to 6¼; McCulloch Oil, off 1⅛ to 25½.
